We had a lot of suggestions for what the topic of tonight's Q&A should be, and a lot of them centered around Galactics, energy and things like that, so the topic tonight will be a Galactic view of what's happening on the planet. And we had lots of questions come in.

Before we have a Q & A call or a clearing call, Franco and I always tune in both separately and together to see if the topics that we come up with are the ones that will assist humanity at that particular point in time to evolve. So we welcome any and all suggestions for topics so that we can address them and move on.

Franco

Yes. And just to expand a bit on the title for tonight's topic...when we're looking at a galactic view of what's happening on planet Earth and what's happening in the Galaxy and the Universe, it is somewhat of a (inaudible) because of a major turning point at this point. And the turning point is really a massive advancement in the experiential realm. And this experiential realm, of course, applies to planet Earth and all the other planets that are affiliated alongside of us.

So from a galactic view, it is not seen as something horrible, something serious, something that is broken, something that needs to be fixed or anything of that nature. It doesn't see all these levels that we label as corruption and all these other things that made life challenging and also any of the turmoil that's taking place at this time...and has been taking place for thousands and thousands of years...it's not seen as something horrible.

But, again, as I always say, the main presence is understanding that all of it is an experience, all of it is an opportunity for us to advance within it. It doesn't matter how much polarization has occurred, how much darkness may have prevailed. It doesn't look at the fact that there's one thing that's good and one thing that's bad. So it's not really taking any of that into consideration.

I know that sometimes it can be deceiving because there are a lot of channellings that take place and sometimes there are channellings that come from other beings that are coming from other planets and they are, of course, coming through some of the receiver channellers who are here on planet Earth. And, of course, they start talking about dark and light and they start talking about right and wrong and all the deceptions and all that stuff. We have to take all that with the view that a lot of times the channellings are coming from beings that are not more enlightened.

It's like this. Here we are as humans. As humans we have a variety of different stages of enlightenment with people. So you could have a conversation with some people and their conversation is very 3-D...meaning that basically their reference point is on the planet, i.e. what exists in the human form, about making money or whatever it is...very restrictive stuff. And they are not really open for anything spiritual, they are not really open to anything going on beyond the 3-D world.

Now you also have humans on the planet that are, of course, much more advanced and, in a sense, have a bigger and broader expansion of understanding and also share the content differently.

So if you are going to hear someone speak who is very 3-D their reference point is based on the human form...i.e. success, power, this right, this is wrong, this is good, this is bad, this is fair, this is greed, and all of that. So their information will come in around that because that's their level of access at that point. Of course you could go listen to somebody else you're going to get a much broader, expansive understanding of whatever.

It's the same thing when we're receiving channelling. As a channeller/receiver, if you are tuned in specifically to a desperation point or a point of seeing yourself as "less than," and then opening yourself up, then you never know what you're channelling. So you may channel a less-evolved being. Just because they are coming through does not mean that you're getting the highest level of consciousness available.

Now, I'm not saying that there's anything wrong with that...because it still gives you the opportunity to get something out of it...but, really, at the same time, to connect with your True Self and utilize your own discernment and your own guidance system to navigate through it.

So a lot of times when you are hearing things that are creating a lot of polarity or getting stuff from places where there's a hierarchy or anything of that nature, it is from a lower consciousness...even though it is coming from a different source, it is from a lower consciousness. And sometimes you may be able to access something that is purposefully there to create a polarized state.

But on a grander aspect, when we are looking at a galactic view...it's what I was saying earlier...it is a very light, playful experience and the transformation is something that is accepted and is brought in as a beautiful dance, a beautiful opportunity, at this point in time.

Now because we are all inter-connected, whatever happens on planet Earth, whatever happens on other planets and so forth, are in exchange, in assistance and so forth. They are never looking at it as, "Well, this planet is lower," ... Because right now there are a lot of things going on in the level of what we, on planet Earth, because of the frequency that we are still operating in and because we are still clearing off some of the denser energies, we also, in one way or another, have also allowed certain channelling. And when I'm talking about "channelling," I'm talking about channelling of consciousness and energy...not channelling of a message, per se, but a channelling of energies that can create a denser energy and a denser experience...not only to enhance the people who are here to finish off that polarized part, but also to clear up some of the stuff that in the galactic areas cannot because their planets may not be able to host that lower frequency, that lower consciousness. So when it's experienced on planet Earth then it is translated back to whatever planets, and that allows them to have their own level of completion taking place.

But their completion is also an advancement for us because, as we become stronger and all of that while going through this, we are also picking up their channelled energies of the higher realms, higher aspects of the enlightened state, which advances us even further. So, basically, we are doing the "dirty work," in a sense (I'm just using that as an analogy) and, when we do that, we also get the higher aspect of it to gain behind it...which is really assisting us with this experience.

Now, we have to understand that it doesn't matter what planet we are on or that any Soul is on, each planet is a playground, each planet is a schoolyard. So it's not looked at as one planet is better than another or more advanced than another. And we are here...the Souls that are participating on planet Earth...we are here because this one was the best suited for us at the time we chose to come here. We always have the choice to be somewhere else...again, there may have been some other things that may have played out that may have limited that for us for a period of time, but even that limitation was still serving.

So I just wanted to share that part before we got into the questions: to look at it as a huge observation from a galactic perspective that this transformation is of high servitude for everyone concerned (meaning us), are they very open to allowing that to take form.

Now any assistance that's going on back and forth...because we have some intervention from them just like some of our Souls here are doing some work on their planets in order to assist them...but, in essence, any interactions that are occurring, again, is always looked at from a huge galactic perspective, saying, "Whatever we do for them we are doing for ourselves and we are all in it together." I'm not saying every single Soul on different planets are on the same page, but, at the same time, a lot of them are saying, "Yes, we are in it together. Whatever we are doing we are assisting each other. And we see the big perspective of how all of that serves for the Whole.”

Because we are all here to do the same thing: we are all here...and everywhere else at the same time...to do what we came here to do...and that is to experience ourselves through all the different playgrounds, experience ourselves through the different physicalities, all the different programs that mandate the different physicalities, but also all the different levels of matrixes that are experienced on the planet. And in that is our purpose of achieving further and further enlightenment.

And any enlightenment that is achieved on any planet at this point is all put into the pool of consciousness so that our Souls will have access to higher and higher consciousness. So, in actual fact, our connection to Source...because we are an extension of Source and we are that spectrum of Light from Source...then our Essence actually continues to expand.

So we are all in the same beautiful dance...together.

Antonia

Yes. And, as Franco was saying, it's not just happening on planet Earth; it's happening throughout our existence, throughout the Galaxy and it's something that we are all going through. Every other planet is also going through the shift.

And there is no one "saving" anyone else. So any channellings of certain bodies of beings coming to save planet Earth or vice versa, that's not happening. And we've talked about this quite a few times. Humanity is on our journey and, yes, we do have some guidance, some assistance, but there is no one intervening to do "stuff" or to stop "stuff." We are in this together, we are doing it together. Its' part of our evolution.

It's like of like we're learning to ride a bicycle and all of a sudden they say, "Well, we're going to ride the bicycle for you and we'll just put you on at the very end." (laughs) We have to be on the bicycle, we have to peddle, we have to fall, we have to get up, and so on. So any of the channellings that tell you that that beings are coming to "save" or that they are going to press a button and everything's done...I'm sorry, but it's not happening that way.

So I hope that's a bit clearer.

Franco

Yes. We have to understand that whatever's happening and whatever's happened even in the very darkest state that we've had here...it's not really been taken as so densely serious or in a fearful, negative way or looked at as a horrible, negative experience. You have to understand: a lot of the stuff that's been shared from thousands of years ago that talk about all the different things that have played out on a universal level where we've had galactic wars and all that stuff...those were all times that we went through while we were going through an evolutionary, contrasting experience. We've never...and the interpretation at that time based on the consciousness was judgment that it was "good," "bad," or whatever it was or whatever horrible things were happening.

And even when we're talking about the different mutations or manipulations that were done to different physical forms on different planets, including Earth...that was just another opportunity to experience ourselves in a different form, with a different operating system, with a different physical reaction/response type of thing. It's still part and parcel...it never really went "off the plan."

Because I've heard people say, "Well, we're off God's plan," or whatever, but the only "plan" that exists is the fact that we are here to play, experience and learn and become more enlightened. And that's the same on all planets. But does that mean that the plan has to be done within a certain period of time, or look a certain way, and we cannot deviate from it or explore other intensities in one way or another? It's not that. So when I sometimes hear that, "We got off onto the wrong path," no. We ventured...we ventured onto another path that was streaming a whole different set of experiences that intensified and gave us the opportunity to really experience much more. And when you really look at it for what it is, it's that we get to a certain level and say, "You know..."

Because this is not like, Step 1, Step 2, Step 3, Step 4 type of thing. It's that we start and then it's always open, it's always Pure Potentiality. And the potentiality is usually governed by certain things.

Like a scientist who might be trying to come up with a formula or something and, while he's doing that, he might discover something else. And he says, "Oh, OK. Let me put my energies into something else. And if I mix this and that, I will get something else." And so it's going that route. And it might take then on another path for a period of time but it doesn't matter because there is no, "Well, this what you need to do and you have to follow this plan and be finished within a certain period of time. And if it deviates from this then something's wrong, something's broken and we need to go in and intervene and fix it and so forth."

In saying all of that, basically right now, with the changes that are being induced at this point in time, is that because of we off the plan? No. Because now it's come to the point where a repetitive cycle has been stretched to a point where, "OK. We don't need to continue doing it this way. We don't need to continue to go down this path because we now have tons of this experience. We have records and records of this type of experience and this level of consciousness. So now let's upgrade it so that we can increase it. So that we can now have a different experience and utilize more of the God Essence...or what we call Source Essence...within ourselves in our new creations and our new experiences in our physical form.

That's all it is. It's really just part of the upgrade.

And we've never been off-track. Even when we talk about modifications that occurred and whatever else...and there have been lots of modifications over hundreds and hundreds of thousands of years. Each time a new species was put there, somebody wanted to tweak it or something of that nature. But we can't turn around and say, "Well they are the evil ones and they did this and that," and so forth. They were the experimenters...just as we are...at one level or another.

So, here we are. We are at a point where we are shifting our experiential play here and the dynamics. But it's not only on planet Earth, like you were saying, Antonia...it's on a universal, galactic level. So we are all part and parcel of this.

So every single planet is experiencing it at one level or another. And each and every planet and each and every Soul that is incarnated on the planets are looking forward to change...looking forward to an upgrade, looking forward to new levels of experience.

As we are too! The only time we go into the fear state is when the ego mind is still heavily active...and that is still part of the process of us completing that part of it...where we see it as something horrible, where we see it as the world is falling apart and stuff like that.

But, in actual fact, it isn't falling apart. It has been brought to a certain level of experience which has maximized our separation and all the beautiful ensuing processes that unfolded from it. But now, here we are. We are now upgrading and adjusting so that we create something totally different.

And that's what we're doing. We're stepping into this new world.

Perfect. Now let's start with some questions that have come in, and here's the first one:

"About a month ago you (Antonia) asked that we start focusing on and sending love to the moon and, by doing so, we are neutralizing the energies from the moon that, in the past, have assisted in keeping Earth in that 3-D world. I would really appreciate it if you would explain the influence of our moon, its origins and its symbolism during the ages and now. As I understand from one of your posts, we are to re-define our vision about the moon."

And a related question:

"One topic that I would appreciate being covered is about the etheric satellites, the moon matrix and the synthetic matrix of Saturn. I know that you asked that we start sending love to the moon and satellites and so on, and much more should be said about them and their true influence. The control and domination and perceptions that we are experiencing seems to be coming mainly from there and, at the same time, we are becoming less influenced by them. However, I feel it is relevant to start exposing this...even more now because discernment is key in being able to know what is true for one's self is the next level of empowerment and experiences that we are in the process of creating."

So I will just clarify: About two months ago I sent out an e-mail request to our subscribers. I started to have some really, really strange feelings about the moon. I've never really felt a strong connection to the moon and I started to get a really odd energy. It just happened that Franco, Kimberly and I were getting together to prepare some stuff and I went in and said, "What is up with the moon?!!!" And Kimberly laughs and says, "Well, actually, we were just talking about the moon!" So we started a conversation about the moon. And that's why I asked everyone...especially for the month of October, with the lunar eclipse, Halloween and everything else...to spend some time sending love to the moon, to satellites, to cell towers, cell phones, smart meters, and all these frequencies that we have termed as "bad" energy or "dirty" energy. Because, once again, I find that we've become in a subordinate state to it; we're afraid of it.

And if you go back to the fact that we are Creator Essence, we are Source, we are All That Is, then it's great to realize that, yes, it was put in at a frequency that does counter and does keep humanity in a dense state. It does help with communication and electricity and whatnot, but it does not have to occur at that level of frequency. And it was, at one point, chosen to help keep the densities.

However, we are transcending all of this. Humanity is transcending all of this. And there will be changes with that.

So can we address that, Franco? What about the moon and what part does it play in what is happening right now?

Someone asked, "Well is there some urgency about sending love to the moon?" No, there is no urgency; it just came up that it was the time to do it. So we said, "Alright! Then we're doing it!"

So why don't we address that along with the other question about the etheric satellites, the moon matrix and the matrix of Saturn and how these planetary influences are impacting the Earth now.

Franco

OK. To start off with the moon, it was added to our Solar System a long time ago and the purpose of it was to create another influential experience for planet Earth because it emanated a certain frequency. Later on, when it was modified and so forth...I mean, the moon, in itself, is a hollowed-out planetary body that was put into position, and it's kind of like a big spaceship, but it's a big rock, too, at the same time. And it's been utilized as a satellite, as a transmitter to support the inverted matrix that was originally put into place to create a higher level of polarity and a reverse experience.

Of course, along the way, there have been many more influences added...we've had satellites beaming down certain frequencies to keep us in 3-D, we've had cell towers, of course we've had other projections coming in from Saturn and from other locales to create...and it was designed to create a very intense polarization, a very intense dark dimming of our consciousness to the point where we would experience no Essence of Sourceness within ourselves...no Essence of recollection or recognition of us being more than a physical form. But it even goes below the physical form aspect with more...almost to the fact that we become more like a machine in a physical form. So even the physical form didn't seem to represent life; it represented more of an existence with such diminished consciousness. So these instruments...and that's what they are...were instruments that were put into place to allow that experiment to go even deeper.

Now, of course, the satellites and cell towers came much later, and they came into play when consciousness started to expand so that they would have other repeater stations and so forth to induce this lower frequency. Because of the frequency used, it does create a level of disruption in the shifting in consciousness.

Now, in saying all of that, if that was just the way it was then we would have quite a bit of a challenge...and we have had quite a bit of a challenge in a duality world and seeing ourselves in the state that we have seen ourselves up to this point in time. With the frequencies that are coming through right now which our Solar System's Sun is emanating, which our Galactic Sun is emanating, and the which Central Sun within our Earth is emanating, plus the frequencies that are being directed from different planets and also the enhancements that are taking place, the new vibrational frequencies of the planet itself and the different Souls that are now upgrading to that frequency is, in essence, neutralizing or basically, at the least, weakening the effects of that. So it's actually a lessening so that we actually have the capability to elevate and tune ourselves to these new higher frequencies so that we can actually change our experience.

So, as much as the moon has been there for thousands and thousands of years and the role that it's played, its role is becoming more and more diminished at this point in time. And eventually it will no longer be in effect to create interference. It may be moved out of its place or it may remain there. But, at the same time, even with the tides and the positioning of the moon and all the cycles that it's created...and those cycles were superimposed as part of creating different changes on the planet which still represented a very limited polarized aspect of it. And it also helped with the shift of the climate, in a sense, with the way the climate worked and how people would respond energetically...that's why certain cycles will create people to feel certain ways, affecting not only their emotions but their energy levels and so forth.

So it has played a very big role. And it still is playing, to some degree, a pretty big role. But, as part of the completion aspect, it will eventually not play that role any longer.

And I know some people have said, "Well, what happens if it's not there with respect to what we're used to with respect to what it does for the planet itself and for plant life and everything else?" Well, basically, at this point in time, as that changes, the response to everything will also change accordingly. And, when it does so, it will be in a way that will still be very, very beneficial. It will be beneficial on a different level where it doesn't have the same levels of cycles.

You have to understand...we are moving away from the cycle aspect...in many, many, many ways. Because one of the things that we've done in our lives if we're looking at all of creation and all the different expressions that have occurred on the planets and in the Universe and so forth...everything has cycles. And not only cycles but everything has timelines. And when I say "timelines" they were streams of frequency changes that created different levels of realities as we went along...both as a collective and on an individual basis.

But most of that now is all dissolving and everything is going into a fluid state, so that we become much more prevalently-active in creating our environment...active in the sense of allowing things to no longer be rigid and allowing them to be fluid so that any changes we choose will flow accordingly. So, in actual fact, we can create multitudes of realities that are expressed and experienced on one playground much more fluently than it has been before, or up to this point in time.

Now, our original design allowed us to do that, but when we had all these other implementations that were put into place, that changed it. Was that something evil that was done? Well, we can look at it that way and say, "Well, that was a manipulation that messed things up, made our planet difficult and we got separated to the point where we couldn't see ourselves as One," and so forth, and you can blame all of that. But, in actual fact, that was never the case. It was put into place as an experiment, as an opportunity for us to experience that powerful experience of, first of all, limitation, and being influenced by a cycle that we would find very difficult to maneuver around. So, in actual fact, the cycles kept us in a certain rhythm, but a rhythm also prevents us from shifting very much at all...it would be very difficult to shift.

But now with the cycles changing and becoming less and less effective, then the changing will become much more prevalent and then each Soul is no longer dependent or reliant on each other's collective to advance. They can all advance at various rates and in a much freer state. We actually have always had that opportunity, but it was very difficult when everything was in control to keep the collective as a collective, but then also keep the collective at a very slow pace where it actually allowed it to even take steps back. So that is all changing.

So, as much as the effect of the moon and the effect of all the satellites and everything else is changing along the way, eventually all of them will stop working anyway and it will not be necessary for them to be in place. And, of course, even with...and I know the question came up a few times about, "Well, it reflects the Sun so how could it be negative?" Well, first of all, it's not negative. It's just basically the experience...If you look at it in its natural state...if you pay attention to it and you have to really tune into it...but if you pay attention to it...and I know it's going to be hard to reference it at this point, but you can just play with what you see now...is that when the Sun goes down and the moon comes up, the energy of the moon, if you really tune into it...if you really just become very neutral and connect with it...you can tell the energy that comes off it, that is not of a very high vibration. Even though it's reflecting the light of the Sun, it should be having the same type of frequency as the Sun. Because a lot of it is reflected back to the Earth at a lower capacity, we would be able to feel a change of energy within ourselves which was still welcome, so the dark and light, night and day would have been welcomed. But in actual fact, in many cases right now, the darkness becomes dark and the moon is the only thing emanating light. And the energy changes and there's a darkening energy that occurs within, and certain people activate a dark part of themselves and they actually become much more vibrant in that colourful state regarding that.

Antonia

And then there was all the folklore about Draculas and vampires and all that dark side coming out when the moon is up.

Franco

Yes. Because basically it takes that energy that was modified from the reflection of the Sun...it was modified with the other energies...and it was designed to activate darkness.

If you look back, most anything that was dark or evil or whatever else, always happened at night, in darkness...even in the sense of being "in hiding" type of thing. So it was because of that influence. But, again, it was a polarized experience to create that part of it.

Anyway, that's the influence that the moon has played and, of course, its influence is changing.

Now there is a transmitter on the moon that is actually holding onto or projecting and maintaining the inverted matrix. And I know that we've talked about it before...there's a matrix that's a superimposed matrix and then there's a natural matrix. The superimposed matrix is the matrix where everything is in reverse and gives us a very polarized world so that everything that is real is considered fake and everything that is fake is considered real. I know that everything is reality and that everything is (inaudible) but it's always been designed that way. And anything that reflects it...which is most of all of our systems...it actually works in reverse. So instead of being in an enhancement and expansion of humanity, it's actually about deterring and reversing it.

You see it even on our planet here. It's not about expansion and growth...or hasn't been for the longest time...it's always about setting a certain level of standard and maintaining everyone in that dull state, or that restricted state. Anything that tries to come out as truth...or a more expanded consciousness would be a better way of saying it...would be demised right away or chastised or made into something incorrect.

For example, anytime there was some level of truth exposed in something that occurred, all of a sudden it was berated as "conspiracy theory" and they would label it as all types of different things because the system reflects that part of it where everything works in reverse in that matrix. But, again, that's changing too.

And I know we've talked about it where there's the original matrix (the natural matrix) and the superimposed matrix are kind of starting to blend through and it becomes neutralized. So it's a hand-off from to the other.

But the other matrix, again, is an expansive matrix because that matrix is connected to all the other matrixes of our beautiful galactic brother/sister Souls because each and every planet has a matrix to operate. And a matrix is really designed to create a similarity in the sense of the projection of a planet...so that everyone would see everything the same way. They might have different individual interpretations and a different way of seeing the reality around it. But if there's a tree, we're all seeing a tree...we might have different ways of seeing this tree, but we're all seeing a tree...we're all seeing ground, and so forth. That's what the matrix does. But it also gives us a basic operating system within it so that we have a playground where we can consistently play together with.

Antonia

Exactly.

We often talk about the Galactic Sun and the Central Sun. Why don't we define those very clearly for people? Because in the Clearings we always talk about bringing in the Light from the Galactic Sun and the Central Sun and so on. So can you explain those for us, please.

Franco

Well, of course, we have our Sun for our Solar System. And it basically is the transmitter of...it's like a projector...it transmits the energy that supports planet Earth and all the other planets surrounding it. And all the other planets have different types of life forms on them and different Souls on them and so forth.

Then we have our Galactic Sun which is basically the Sun which actually feeds the energy to all the other Suns within our Galaxy...so it's another level of transmission of consciousness and Light Codes, and it operates at a certain frequency. So our Galactic Sun operates at 210 Hz while our Solar System Sun is at about 28 Hz and our planet is at about 13.54 Hz at this point in time.

The Central Sun that we talk about is at the center of our planet inside our Earth. So, if people haven't heard...and I know we've talked about it in the past...but our planet Earth is hollow and we have another Sun in the center of the Earth. It's not a big ball of molten metal or anything else that scientists may have claimed in the past. There is an actual Sun which is our Central Sun and that actually holds a certain level of consistency and energy that emanates from there outwards.

Now the Earth's crust itself is only about 800 miles thick with, of course, at the center of those two levels then, of course, we have hotter temperatures with the molten level and whenever we have volcanos the lava is coming from that level of the planet...it does not come from the so-called molten center of the planet. On the inner side of the planet, of course, we have another world. So we are the surface dwellers and then there are the inner dwellers.

The Central Sun in the center of our planet, of course, operates on a different frequency. It actually has more of a bluish hue to it rather than an orange or yellowish hue that our Solar System Sun has. Of course it operates on a different frequency and it also hosts the 5th Dimensional consciousness or supports the consciousness at that level.

So the beings that live on the inside of the planet are supported by that Sun and, of course, they have nature the same way as we do...it's just that their nature is more conditioned to operate within that environment.

So we have our Central Sun which is in the center of our planet, then we have our Solar System Sun, which is the one we see every morning, and then there's the Galactic Sun. And the alignment that occurred in December 2012, which was the first one that we had had in a long, long time, involved the Galactic Sun coming into alignment with our Solar System Sun and also with our planet Earth. And that created a burst of consciousness, a burst of energy to create a tipping point for humanity to shift into preparation for 4th Dimensional consciousness.

So when we are tapping into our Galactic Sun, we are tapping into the Sun that hosts all the other Suns in our Galaxy. It is the "projector" that supplies the spectrums and frequencies that illuminates the other "projectors," I guess, if you want to call it that. And when we're doing that we are actually picking up the vibration and frequency and consciousness that it's streaming. Our Galactic Sun streams a higher consciousness because it basically is designed to support all the Solar Systems and planets that are in our Galaxy. So, in actual fact, it's a shared consciousness.

Our Solar System Sun is tuned to raise our consciousness and that's why it's operating at a lower Hz because it's specifically facilitating us. Our Solar System Sun has also been increasing in frequency...in the last 35 or so years it has doubled...but, at the same time it is hosting the transformation of the surface dwellers on Earth, which are us...the beings that are on the outside of the planet.

Our Galactic Sun feeds all of the Suns in our Galaxy, so it actually carries the collective consciousness and the Codes to update all the Suns in our Galaxy and all the planets in our Galaxy. So, when there was an upgrade in our Solar System Sun...and it is still going through upgrades at this point in time...our Galactic Sun has been instrumental in it doing so.

And there has been a lot of talk about solar flares and so forth going on...and there are a lot of solar flares and those are done specifically to give planet Earth and the other planets in our Solar System bursts of radiation and consciousness and light to update to create further and further modification in the planet, in our physicality, and in our consciousness.

Now I know that many are familiar with the so-called “chemtrails” and so forth that are being streamed around the planet. I know the consciousness behind that and that people like to share the fact that the reason they are doing that is to reflect some of our Solar System’s Sun’s rays because if we didn’t do that the planet would over-heat and we would have global warming because our ozone is depleted...and all this other stuff. And even the whistleblowers that have come out and have supplied inside information have said, “Yeah. If you knew what we’re being told and what needs to go out there, you would know that this is a good thing.” Of course there is no “bad thing” or “good thing,”

In actual fact, there are two levels of purpose. The chemtrails are there, yes, to reflect the Sun’s rays. However, it’s not so much because they will overheat the planet...because they know they will not overheat the planet. Rather, it is more to reflect the new frequencies that are beaming down onto the planet. So the aluminum oxide and so forth that’s in the chemtrails do reflect as much of the Sun’s rays as possible...and that’s why we’re seeing more clouds and less sunlight...but there’s a control structure in place that’s still playing the duality role and they are giving us the last kick at it...and they are trying to prevent as much of the new energy as possible from getting through..

The interesting thing about it is, even with that process going on, the frequency of the Sun and how its rays and energies are streaming through is still doing the job, one way or another. The chemtrails may have slowed it down slightly, but it’s being superseded. And that’s why they go crazy at times trying to put more and more up there. Because they’re noticing that our consciousness is shifting anyway...because the planet is shifting. So the frequency of the Sun and what it’s emanating is actually by-passing whatever’s being done in the 3-D world here on the planet.

The other part of the chemtrails, of course, is to get toxins into the environment and to reduce consciousness or reduce the functionality of the pineal gland and also the functionality of our mind, so that we would not be able to consciously receive the new frequencies and that would prevent our consciousness from shifting. So, in a way, it is to retard the process of advancement or growth or transformation.

However, even with all of that...and part of that, again, is still playing out the rest of the polarity...we’re still going through the process of advancement...regardless.

So there’s nothing that will stop it at this point in time. Anything that is perceived as negative at this point in time are just last wrap-ups of experiences which were part of the polarity but, at the same time, there is completion being done at the same level.

Antonia

And just know that anything that comes out about illusions dissolving and information coming out about what’s being done to keep humanity zapped, just know that it doesn’t matter. People are waking up more and more and more. So when you hear about chemtrials and vaccines and codes being put into pharmaceuticals...and all this stuff...just realize that, really, right now, it's an act of desperation (laughs). Because it doesn't matter what they do, humanity is waking up now...just as we agreed we would. So it doesn't matter what they do, we're still advancing and waking up...everybody is. So don't be in a fear state when you hear these things. Just think, "Oh, OK. That's what's happening. And look how powerful we are as a collective. We've agreed to be subjected to this and we've agreed to move past it as well." So just keep that in mind as more stuff comes out...which I'm sure it will...because sometimes you can get caught down the rabbit hole. And it's pretty easy to get upset with what's being done. And some of it was quite nasty. So leave judgment out of it. It may have been an experience that wasn't very pleasant, but that's what we agreed to. Just know that, despite all of that, we are advancing and have transcended all of that and we are moving forward into other dimensions now, just as we had agreed we would.

Franco

The other thing, too, Antonia, is that the moment that no one on the planet needs to have that part of influence in place, it will dissolve. In the sense where no one will do it anymore. There won't even be any consideration, there will be no drive for any of them to do any of it. Right now it's still serving as part of the polarity, as part of the completion.

This is the interesting thing right now...and I know that some people have said, "Well, if we're advancing and moving forward and so forth, why am I not seeing grander changes and why is there not more harmony than we're seeing? We're seeing the changes, we're seeing things moving forward, but why is it not moving more quickly?" You have to understand that there's still a lot of completion work being done and to a certain level the negative part is still the painful part and the contrast part is still a very powerful motive for learning, or a modality useful for learning. So it's still playing out because there is still some serving of some sort. But once that is achieved it starts to dissolve completely. And we will get to the consciousness where we won't even consider it. Even the ones who have been playing it out, who have been playing that role, they won't even consider doing anything of that nature any longer. However, it now still in servitude.

As well, you can also see that people's awareness is increasing. And with the further and further discovery of what is playing out, that is part and parcel of the servitude because now it activates another part where you see yourself as maybe being a victim or being taken advantage of in some way. That being the case, that's part of the wrap-up, too, of that phase from which we need to move forward. But, guess what? As that gets completed too, none of that is necessary either. So all of it is changing.

Antonia

Yes. And especially with this last burst of energy that came through that caused the shift...the lunar eclipse around October 18/19...I know exactly what you're saying...it's been happening where the emotions have been heightened. So look at what is triggering your emotion, use the Clearings or the call I did last week on the HAP technique, which is the hypothalamus/adrenal/pituitary technique to release emotions which are trapped in the body...because they are coming up to be released. Those are all on the Clearings and Activations section of the Masterpiece Life.com website. They are there for you to use and it's a very simple technique that you can use quickly when you need it or give yourself some time to sit down and do it. Because right now there are a lot of deep emotions coming through.

And we haven't talked about this yet, Franco, but what I've also found is that as the timelines are collapsing everything is coming to a resolution almost. It almost seems like a lot of the emotions that are coming up are not based in this lifetime, but rather it's like all past lives are collapsing. And whatever has not been cleared is coming up to the surface. So you may feel a really strange emotion around something and you have no idea why (laughs). And sometimes that's just the Soul clearing out all this stuff to get us to move to a different frequency where a different part of the human brain can now be accessed because those parts of the brain had been shut off from before.

So do you find that as well, Franco...that there's sort of a coming together and a collapsing of timelines and, with that, emotions from past lives or from previous generations are coming up?

Franco

Yes. Absolutely. And the thing is now, it's not so much in the sense of...Because, once upon a time, prior to what we are experiencing right now, the way things would be completed in any lifetime is that if you didn't finish it in one lifetime, it would be carried over to the one after that, or the second one after that, or whatever. And sometimes it would be that the energy was never conducive enough, the consciousness was never enough for that individual Soul to address it. And it would sit there for hundreds and hundreds of years, and in some cases it would be left behind and disregarded for thousands of years or more. And then eventually it would come up.

So what we're doing right now is that everything is being cleared up. So, like you were saying, you may have certain emotions coming up, certain things coming up, but they may have been things that you dealt with three, four, five hundred years ago so maybe five lifetimes before this one...or maybe thirty lifetimes ago...that are coming up to the surface now.

And there's no quantity of (inaudible) and it's not isolated any longer. It's like it puts it all together and the streams it all one after the other. So you start with one, and if it can't be taken care of then the next one will step in...one of the other ones that needs to be cleared. But these are, again, like you said, it's all done through the Soul level.

The Soul keeps a record of every single life that you've had since you started reincarnating. And each life has a specific learning that it wants to achieve. So if it can't be done in one lifetime because the consciousness was not able to expand to accept that experience in the fullest content of what it was there to be experienced for, then, of course, it's carried over. Right now, the purpose is to not have any carry-over.

Because, I'll tell you right now, with the Souls that are on the planet now, it is doing everything possible to clean up everything. Because the frequency we are in right now does not require it.

You have to understand...everything that you've experienced in past lifetimes...and even if we're talking hundreds or thousands of years ago, there was a whole different energy that allowed that to be expressed and experienced. Because the consciousness was different, the vibration of the planet was different, the vibration of the individual was different. So if you had something happen in the year 800, for example, that was a very different energy that what we have now...especially what we're stepping into. So, as much as it may be streaming through now, it's giving a final opportunity, with the remaining vibrations that are left, to be able to experience, express it, and clean it up...or wrap it up, I guess you might want to call it. So, right now, all of this is coming up regardless.

Because after this next little while, it won't be as conducive to be able to do the completion. Then the only other thing is that if the Soul leaves the planet and if it wants to reincarnate, then it will have to go through a preparation before coming back to planet Earth once it reaches 5th Dimensional consciousness, so it will have the capability to come and do its work there...or else it will reincarnate on some other planet which is still in the 3rd Dimension.

However, you have to understand, the 3rd Dimension on another planet will be very different than the one that was here. So if there is a lifetime that has not been cleared at the Soul level here, it's not going to be able to do it in the same frequency in another location because the frequency here...what you can call 3rd Dimensional consciousness, even though it's the 4th density...but even the consciousness that we experienced here, at this point in time, has been an inorganic, playful 3rd Dimensional consciousness. And when going to from an inorganic to an organic one it's going to be quite different in that respect. So it will not have the capability to do what it needs to do. So that's why it's doing it all on this planet.

And if it does leave before that, it will leave to go to the Light Realms so that it will be able to finish it in one way or another before incarnating somewhere else. So anything that can be completed somewhere else, it will be. And if it can't, then it's basically purged. So the Soul purges.

But, at this point in time, the Soul's purpose is, "We took it on so let's do what we can." So this is what's happening.

And it's not only stuff from this lifetime and our past lifetimes. Sometimes it's things that's been carried over from generation to generation, from the family dynamics. Also, from time to time we also take on energies from different incarnations that we may have had on other planets and so forth that we are bringing up at this time that we were no able to do there. Because many Souls have incarnated here from other planets. So there is a lot of variety of expressions and experiences that are coming through for completion at this point.

So you can't always turn around and say, "Well what happened to me to bring this on?" because you may not be able to access it that easily. However, play with what really comes up...the emotion that comes up...the consciousness that it brings up...because it will bring up story. Even if the story makes no sense...the story is probably not of this timeline and may not be something that you personally experienced. However, it is still an opportunity to deal with it, so have a look at that and work it through.

So that was a good point, Antonia.

Antonia

Absolutely. Our next question is as follows:

"Will our star family be available to the awakened people and those wanting to know truth within the year so that management of the Earth can begin in full measure? This isolation we feel seems to give us the impetus needed to create a different outcome."

So, Franco, why don't we define and talk about our star family...our starseed family...why don't we define that for people.

Franco

OK. There are a lot of perceptions of that.

As Souls we have continued to fragment and fragment and fragment. And so basically we have ourselves...as an individualized Soul...and an individualized Soul is connected to all the other Souls anyway. And our individualized Soul is made up of two halves: we refer to ourselves as Twin Souls...two halves. But that two halves really belong to a cluster of Soul family. And the Soul family is made up of 11 other Souls, with one main OverSoul that is in the center of it. So that's one cluster. But that cluster is then also connected to another group of Soul families, which is 12 other different clusters coming together into one...and so forth.

Then the Starseed families are our brother/sister planets that are closer in relationship with us and have a certain matching vibratory energy or we may carry some of the DNA genes for them. And they are the ones who have actually had the closest connection with us. So, in actual fact, we are working hand-in-hand, even though we are not aware of it on a conscious level.

As we become more conscious and become more open, then the connections will become much clearer...so there will be a much clearer, conscious expression back and forth...in this case, a sharing of consciousness, a sharing of knowledge, to advance. And, of course, when there's more sharing then...and I don't like to use the word "perspective" but I will for the moment...it gives a much broader perspective to be utilized to activate, or in this case, to be part of the transformation of the planet Earth, or to create this new world that we are stepping into.

So the exchange that occurs will create a much more aligned advancement so that our planet will actually not only host...because you have to understand...the hosting that's occurring on the planet here also hosts all the other planets that are connected...our brother/sister Soul planets that are closest to Earth in our galaxy. Because the advancement that happens here and the energy and the exchange in consciousness that happens here with the other planets will also host theirs, in the same way and theirs will host us.

And when I say "host" I mean it will carry a certain resonant frequency that will facilitate our advancement...as we facilitate their advancement. But not only facilitate it...enhance it in such variety so that we are now learning from both...we are learning from our own and we are learning from all the inter-connected brother/sister planets.

So the Starseed families, of course, may relate to the Souls themselves, but it may also relate to...depending...because those connections happen both ways...will also depend on the planets that we are connected with, that we are working with. So there's going to be a...and it is already starting to be...and has been for a while now...a much more powerful and closer exchange of consciousness, exchange of knowledge and also awareness in the sense of how to maneuver through all these advancements and changes that are taking place at this time.

Antonia

And then there was also a question about the Greys working with the military and the government...and who are the Greys? And we've talked about Reptilians...so who are the Reptilians? So I think right now more and more there's a lot of uncovering about the fact that there are a lot of other beings living here on the Earth other than just humanity.

So the question is, who are these other beings such as the Greys, which have been working with government and the military...and then the Reptilian races and so on...and what is their role right now in how we are advancing through this shift?

Franco

OK. As you mentioned, there are a lot of different beings on the planet at this time.

There are beings that are on the planet that are assisting in advancing consciousness and who create "openings" in the sense of moving forward and to somehow contribute in that way.

Then we have other beings that have been on the planet for a very long time and most of them are hybrid beings...hybrid Greys, hybrid Reptilians, hybrid Annunakis, or whatever you want to call them...that have taken on the role to maintain a very dense, low vibrating energy, and also to promote a very old consciousness of polarity and so forth. Their role is to participate, in a sense, to continue to push the continuance of facets of the dark part of it, the unconscious part of it, the negative part of it, so that we can actually actually get our fill of it and complete that part of it. So that's the role that they are playing.

Now, some of them...you have to understand the Reptilians, the Greys and even the Annunakis, in their natural state (and some are in their natural state on the planet) are not playing that role. They have advanced and they are more conducive to be part and parcel in assisting in the process of the awakening of humanity rather than keeping it in a sleep state.

But the ones who are keeping it in a sleep state, which are the hybrids which were specifically hybrids from their own planet and then left their own planet, are just allowing us to complete the polarity aspect of it.

It's going to become more and more difficult...as it is for anyone who is playing a very dark role, at this point in time...to sustain it. Because the energy of the planet is not sustaining it, the consciousness of humanity if not sustaining it, and all the different spectrums of light coming through to the planet at this time are not sustaining it. So it's becoming much more difficult. This is the reason we are becoming much more aware, much more transparent, much more exposed in the sense that...

But, at the same time, you have to understand that even the hybrids themselves are getting tired of their role and would love to be relieved from it. So the quicker we go through the awakening process and the shifting within ourselves, then the quicker they can stop playing the role. It is uncomfortable for them to be here anyway. Just like the fact that there are still people in a sleep state, they are going to find it much more uncomfortable to remain in that state.

So they are all playing a role at this point in time. However, the roles are being diminished and the roles are being brought to completion as we go along. Because we don't need as much of it in place and eventually it won't be needed at all.

Now the Starseeds and Souls who are here from other planets will take on the role of assisting with the transformation, assisting with technologies and whatever they have to share...just so that there is another level of resource that we can use to advance, but that's basically it. And, again, when you really look at it, it's just to advance our frequency and our state of consciousness so that it hosts a new experience of our new world that we are choosing to play with.

Antonia

Yes, it's good to go over that because as more disclosures are coming out, there's already been much more talking about the Greys, the Reptilians and the Annunaki being here on the planet. So it's good to kind of keep that in perspective on how they are assisting and how we are all moving forward...together...as was agreed.

Franco

Yes. And the thing is too, as you have probably noticed, the ones who have discovered that taking place, the automatic reaction seems to be, first and foremost, all of a sudden we see them as something horrible and getting angry at them, "They are the manipulators, and they are the ones who hurt us," and whatever else. And this why every time that we talk about this, we have to understand that they played a role to assist us. And even though they played the negative side of things and have manipulated things for us, we really have had a pretty powerful, profound experience. But now, as we move forward, guess what? We're going to advance even further than we were able to advance before because of their role. So it's all part and parcel...

This is no mistakes. There is no mistakes in the Universe. When you look at it from the view of the galactics, like we were saying surlier when we started the conversation, when you're looking at it even from the consciousness of Source Itself, it sees it just as different expressions and it does not see anything evil, wrong or bad. Anything that comes through a e channelling or anything else, if it talks about "evil" or "bad" then you will know it is of a lower consciousness. Because a higher consciousness like Source sees everything as perfection.

Now...everything is perfection, but everything is not there to always remain. Because you get to a certain level and things no longer serve. And you go into a new chapter, a new state of experience. So if the props and the staging for a particular play is no longer necessary because you're creating a new show, then guess what? It becomes obsolete so you take it down and put up a new stage.

So this is the same thing. As things get completed and become obsolete and you don't need it any longer, then it's dissolved, taken out of the equation, taken out of the experience.

Antonia

Another question:

"We seem to talk a lot about other planetary beings, e.g. Pleiadians, so is it also possible to speak about the Angelic Realms, the Elementals, and Nature spirits?"

Actually, the Angelic Realms is a question on its own. So why don't we look at what are the Angelic Realms? Especially right now because there seems to be so many channellings from this Archangel and that Archangel and this Archon and that Archon (laughs) and Gabriel this and Michael that. So let's take a look at the Angelic Realms first.

Franco

OK. Well, not all the channellings that are supposedly from Angelic Realms are from the Angelic Realms. That's what we need to understand. I don't know about you, Antonia, (laughs) but I've heard quite a few different things because people...

Antonia

...and they are all conflicting (laughs)

Franco

And not only conflicting but you also see that they are coming from different states of consciousness and it's like, "Wow, that's pretty interesting!" because they are not always from where they claim to be. Again, it is still serving because it serves as a distraction and pulls us off the way so we can finally start using our discernment and our ability to tune into ourselves.

The Angelic Realms are basically there...and it works this way not only on our planet but also the other planets too...it is the non-form carrying a certain consciousness in a facilitating form...basically the Souls that have chosen to be form...because the Angelic Realms are also Souls too, but they have chosen to not take on a form, or they may have taken on a form before but have now chosen to not be in a form state. But it is there to facilitate and a lot of times it's a sharing of consciousness that's picked up from an open perspective...

Because remember...the observer of their experience on planet Earth that is not in a physical form, that is not operating with an ego mind, that is not exposed to the same energies that humanity...and let's play with humanity here...while engaged while being on the planet here, is going to be very different...because they are not caught up in it. So they have a bird's eye view. But not only is it a bird's eye view, but it is also much more of a neutral state. Because they are not in it. They are not having a layer...

Because we have two other layers of density that we take on. One is the physical form. And basically the physical form has its own little consciousness that is connected and operates in a certain way with a certain limitation. But then we also have the consciousness of the mind. And the mind, of course, is ego-driven, in most cases, so it takes on perceptions, belief systems and so forth and that becomes the filter for it.

So, let's put it this way: Someone can be going through a traumatic situation from a break-up or from the loss of a job or from an illness or somebody passing away, or something of that nature. So, in a sense, when you are in that experience, when you are in that drama or whatever it is, it is the end of the world for you...or feels that way, or feels very, very painful. Because you have both the emotional body and the mind with the ego that creates the stories that relate to it.

When you are not with a body and mind as a being from the Angelic Realm looking at it, it doesn't have those filters, it doesn't have those expressions to add more colour to it. So it would be able to see the big picture. And it may stream to you and say, "Everything's going to be fine. Let it go. The Soul isn't gone because we have connection to it." It helps you along, it assists you along by seeing something from an outside perspective where it's not involved.

It's the same thing we do with one another. One of us...a friend or somebody that's on the outside of it...will have a different view of the situation from us, because they are not caught up in the same emotional component and will be able to share some wisdom or some clarity which may not be able to be seen that easily by the person who is going through an emotional journey.

And the Angelic Realm also, at this point in time, facilitates and also supports humanity for their journey as the groundworkers. Because, as the groundworkers...or the ones who have taken form...do their job or do what they came here to do and as their consciousness expands, it also expands the consciousness of the Angelic Realms at the same time. So there is a benefit to that. So there is a very open sharing and facilitating that takes place.

Now, in understanding that, the Angelic Realm will not...and that is one thing that was in place as an agreement...will not interfere with any of the groundworkers or anyone who has taken form, by relieving them of something that they really need as part of their experience to move forward. So if you are having a difficult time, it's not there to take that difficult time away. Unless you have learned everything that you need to, then it will facilitate you to move beyond that. However, if you still have work to do with it and you still have consciousness to gain from it, it will not interfere. It's not there to interfere.

Especially now. This has changed somewhat over the last 25 years. You used to get a lot more help, in a way, because there was not as much emphasis on making this transformation as quickly and efficiently as possible because of all the things that are changing. So, at that time, you would go through there and it would give you a little relief, it would help you to get out of that and would give you some time to integrate before something else came along, if you didn't get what you need to get out of it. The thing is, right now, we need to get it done. And they basically are not going to interfere. They may share wisdom, consciousness or something of that nature to help you navigate but, ultimately, you can use that consciousness to navigate only through your own experience and it will not remove the experience. So, if you need something, it will never interfere or take it away or somehow lessen it unless it is beneficial.

So I notice that some people are saying that, "Well, the Angelic Realms are not there when I need them!" They are still there, but they are basically not alleviating you from anything. It's just sharing. And a lot of times we want to deny it because...let's put it this way...we're saying, "Help me! Help me! Help me!" and it's saying, "Well, you need to do this, this and this, or at least you need to start looking at it this way or you need to take this step," and the person that's receiving the message is saying, "No! No! No! I want help! I want this relieved!" and the Angelic Realm is looking at it and saying, "Well, if I relieve it you're not going to get the completion that you need, and so you will only just re-create it again and I'm not going to interfere with that. So I'm just going to continue sharing consciousness for you to move forward, but I'm not going to interfere with a process that you need to go through." And that's kind of the way they work.

So they are the supporters and they are also the learners and they are the ones that share...in non-form.

Like I was saying earlier, the fact that we're getting information specifically channelled and whatever else, does not mean that it's coming from the source that it's claiming it is. So you have to use your own discernment, you have to use your own inner guidance and navigate from that. I'm not saying that anything that comes through is not of value, because it all carries a certain level of value...because none of it would come if it wasn't of some value...even though it's polarized or not or negative or not...everything is an opportunity to learn, everything is an opportunity for completion.

So if it comes in in one form that kind of takes you off on a different path, the path that you went off on was only so you could experience that path until you came to the realization, "Hey! Wait a minute! I don't need to be on this path. I'm going to use my own inner guidance." And there! Voila! You got what you needed to get out of that experience.

Antonia

Thank you for that. And how about the role right now of Elementals and Nature spirits...how are they assisting humanity through this shift?

Franco

Well, the Nature spirits are basically consciousness and energetic fields that, again they are not in non-form but even though they have a connection to form...The purpose for them is to have us re-connect with other aspects of ourselves...including the planet, including the animal kingdom, the oceanic kingdom and so forth. Those spirits are basically...and, again, you have to understand, you can't take everything at face value because, at the same time, a lot of spirits are still going through an evolutionary process. However, take the basics...the basics that come through...rather than the whole complete thing. Because if it doesn't resonate, don't take the whole complete thing. But when it's sharing it's assisting us in creating a re-connection, a harmonious balance between like when we're talking about Oneness, it's a Oneness with everything...including the planet, Nature and everything else within it. So that's that part of it.

And when that energy comes through, that connection, it's only the basis to get things started because it expands because the level of communication, the level of connection to the Oneness that we are in the process re-establishing and establishing at a higher degree than before, is much more advanced than anything that's been experienced before. So a lot of the Nature spirits are working at bringing us back to the original state. But that's just the foundational component. But, from there, we build from that. All of them are facilitating at this point in time.

Now if you find that any of them are very ritualistic and carry a heavier energy...because, you have to understand, some of them are not totally advanced. You see, when people talk about, "Well, we have to go back to the basics." That can be somewhat deceiving because when we're talking about basics, are we talking about re-connecting with one another? Absolutely. But then going back to the old ways does not mean that they are the better ways....or that they still serve us while we're moving forward.

So when you're looking at anything that's being shared, see how it relates with where we are right now and utilize only that component or that part of it.

Antonia

We also had some questions about Comet ISON because there's been a lot of speculation with respect to what's happening with it, is it a planet, is it going to hit the Sun and explode, how is that affecting Earth, is it assisting with the energies, and so forth. So let's talk a bit about Comet ISON.

Franco

Well, that's a very interesting one because from everything that I've seen, it's an actual shift because it hasn't even maintained a trajectory of any consistency. And if you actually tune into it you can see that it is not just a Comet. But it's not there to create any havoc or problems on the planet at all. The orbit that's projected for it may occur...or it may not...because it can, and does, change orbit. If anything, it's going to come and collect information from our Solar System and then share it. That's all that it's about.

I know there's a lot of stories around it and different feelings about it and, of course, a lot of stuff that's not being shared because of the fact that it wants to create different experiences while we're still playing in the polarized world at this point in time. But, in actual fact, if they really look at it closely, they will see that it's not quite a Comet at this point in time.

Should part of it be a Comet...which I don't see...it's not going to be anything detrimental to the planet Earth in any way, shape or form. So I wouldn't put that much energy into it or be concerned.

Because, you have to understand...and I don't like the word "protected"...but, in a way, there's such a connection with all our brother/sister Souls that are advanced and have the capability to maneuver things around in our Galaxy (and not just where we are), there is some intervention as things are aligning should anything be detrimental to affect our planet...or any other planet...because it's not only our planet...but the technology does exist for things to be re-directed. And, at times, to be directed in a way...

Because, you have to understand, everything serves...every movement that occurs, any alignment that occurs...all of it serves. So, one way or another, whatever's taking form is for the advancement anyway. It's always for moving us forward, regardless of how it plays out.

So that's what I have to say about what they call Comet ISON.

If it needs to come right across, it will come across. From what I can see now, it should be...from everything that's showing up...it will re-route itself. But regardless if it does or doesn't, at this point in time it still serves. It's being guided in the way it is. But, from what I can pick up, it's ships. And one of them looks like a big rock that houses something in it. I wasn't able to access right into it. But the other one is a ship. There's actually three items moving around and it's blurry so it looks like just one big Comet, but it's not. I may have some disagreements from others who may claim otherwise, but I'm just sharing what I see.

Antonia

Thank you for that.

Now we had a couple of questions around the status of the monetary and political systems and the status of the awakenings of the head of countries. One person said,

"I think the emotions of fear and anxiety are still very much on the surface of many. Many channellings are saying that we are close to the prosperity funds and some huge positive changes ahead in the near future. As we do get closer, it seems all the more important to clear negative emotions and raise our frequency. The last time NESARA had scheduled an announcement 9-11 occurred, so this makes many of us wonder what could happen next. So these negative thoughts need to be released and replaced with faith and love.

Someone else writes:

"Money seems to be the last big hurdle. Is it just me or is it the collective consciousness?"

So these are the kinds of questions around money, governments, heads of state, what's happening with Obama, what's been happening here in Canada with Harper and what's been happening in the U.K. with all the stuff coming to light about the corruption in the government and so on and so forth. I know that this is a really vast topic and each one could be an hour on its own (laughs) so, for the sake of brevity tonight, why don't we look at money...well, first, let's take a look at all these "funds," and then let's take a look at governments and how things are playing out with them.

Franco

OK. Well, with everything that's happening right now, everything's being shaken up. And the shaking up that's occurring is really an exposure of what serves and no longer serves. So, in essence, at this point in time, as the consciousness is shifting people are becoming much more aware and much more in tune with what's taking place. But also the ones who are in power...illusionary power but power in the role that they're playing... are also being shaken up to the degree where they are not able to function in the same way that they were before. So right now everything is being shaken up to create a change within it.

And the change is necessary because the way it is right now, it is only being held in place...and has been held in place...because it still served to create that polarity aspect of it. But that polarity is less and less necessary at this point in time so that the structures that are still in place are no longer serving. So, in actual fact, it is now coming to the point where it starts to dissolve.

So you will notice that there's going to be shifting with the roles that people are going to be playing in the so-called governmental levels or control levels where they have a certain level of authority and so forth...that will change. The break-down that will happen, as it goes along is really dis-empowering that role that they were playing. And it is only a role that they have been playing. So, because it no longer serves at this point in time, it's coming up for revision, it's coming up to be looked at.

And the same thing with the structure of money. It has supported a very powerful and polarized and separated experience by creating lack and creating all of that need...that we need to earn, that we need to somehow be in survival, fear and all that stuff that we've projected all these thousands of years since when all this started to be implanted...that, again, is also dissolving.

So, right now, there's a huge influx of shake-ups that's taking place. Things are being exposed...what we've labelled as "corruption" in the financial, in the governmental, in the different institutions including medical, in religion, in media...and it goes on and on and on with all the different institutions.

Because none of that stuff serves any longer. I'm not saying that it no longer serves completely because part of it still serves for people to complete their journey. But the same level of control, the same level of restriction is no longer of servitude so that's why it's being challenged at this point in time.

And as the monetary aspect of it...right now there's a lot of conversation back and forth that we need to talk about our corrupt financial system and take it apart so that we get the debt cleared, and we need to start re-claiming our status and re-claiming value and so forth and all that stuff...again, that is still part and parcel of the transformation but that's not the direction that it's going to land on...it's only a path to take it forward.

Because the freedom...for example, being a freeman and that we're not part of a corporation or anything of that nature...when we're looking at that aspect of it, as much as anybody has dictated the fact that now we have this Birth Certificate and we have a number and our name is in capital letters and so forth...that we become a corporation and that we're not free any longer and that we're being exchanged on the stock market for a certain value for the control structure. You have to realize that, as we're awakening and becoming a higher level of consciousness, none of that even exists (laughs) in the sense of it doesn't matter who made up the rules, who made up the game. The game is only a game. And the game only exists because we chose to play the game. But the game is just a game and holds no power over anyone. We're just choosing to participate in that.

So guess what's going to happen as we go along? We're going to come to realize that we came here free in the first place. There is no such thing. What's a corporation? It's a made-up entity that's being imposed but really does not exist. It doesn't matter what papers you've signed or haven't signed or what jurisdiction you've been given or what piece of identification or labelling that you've been given, those are all superficial. They don't exist.

They're just there. Somebody said, "Oh, you're here and now you're this or you're that." So you have to understand that part.

And once you come to that it doesn't matter whatever exists that has kept you in the illusionary confinement or had created the illusion of confinement, in a sense. Just because there's an entity or a body of entities that are coming along and saying, "We own you," or that you owe money to such and such or something of that nature, and because you are not a freeman you have to abide by some laws of some sort...no matter what is being said, none of it is actually real.

Because we didn't question it it's still in place. But, in actual fact, it's not real.

It's the same thing with the whole value system and saying that we have to go with our true value or we need to go back to the gold standard or anything of that nature. You have to understand that those are still old modalities...old modalities that do not match with the new consciousness that we are stepping into in our new world. In actual fact, even saying, "Well the money is fake and we need to go back to something of value like gold or silver or any other mineral or resource of some sort," once we go back to that, again, we are designating a mineral...of any sort...gold or silver or dirt or magnesium or any mineral...as one being more valuable than another. Everything Is just a plain element and everything is of the same value...if you have to even put a value to it. So it's not that we should go into that.

And then we have the other aspect where we say, "Well, we need to go back to our value...because we are the value and any monetary system will have to tap into our value." Well, what is value? If you really look at it and understand...and this is what's going to be occurring as we're going along, and more people are doing so...is to realize that anything that you put a value to, then guess what? You've now just limited it.

Because we are not limited to anything of value...we are basically everything...we are the very Essence of All Existence. We are equal with anything. So, in actual fact, just the fact that we exist, that we are part of the Whole, we are the Whole...completely. So we are valueless. We cannot put a value to it. As the Essence of Everything, there is no value because you are Everything That Is.

So when you're looking at that, the fact that you've come to this planet to play on this playground, then guess what? You're part of everything that's on the planet. And not only are you are part of it and everything is part of you, but you are here to have access to anything and everything that's on the planet...equally with every other Soul that's on the planet...period. There is no ownership or control or anything of that nature. That is the next step.

So as we are walking into that level of consciousness, the awareness comes to, "Yes. We are here to play. Let's create an environment where we are all equally playing and sharing and creating and doing what we need to do." So any control structure or anything that we put into place would be something temporal to give us an opportunity to get accustomed to that openness...but that's it. In actual fact, there is nothing of that nature needed.

So for us to still be playing with the idea that we have a lack is still illusionary. Or the fact that one person is worth more than another person or what somebody does is of more value than another...those, again, are all illusionary. Or the fact that we have value and nothing else has value is still an illusion.

If you look at the planet Earth you could say, "Well, the planet Earth has a certain value and all the elements have different amounts of value." But, in actual fact, the planet...and anything on the planet, including ourselves...are all part and parcel of the whole thing...all part and parcel of the Solar System, the Galaxy, the Universe...and even Source Itself. So we are all equal in that respect.

So in the transformation of the monetary system, it is, yes, "take us away from the debt, the slavery and all the different limitations that we've imposed and created as part of our experience." But then eventually it will go even further as we continue to move to where we can see that those were just steps to loosen the boards, so to speak, or to open up the process at this point in time so that we can come to the full realization that none of it exists anyway....and why create any form of limit? Why even have the polarized aspect of have's and have-not's? Why would we even want to be continuing any longer to say, "Well, the moment I come on the Earth I start to zero, then I have to earn my way to have any value on the planet"? Do you realize that the people who have more money seem to project that they are more valuable? When, in actual fact, they are no more valuable or no less valuable than anyone else on the planet. But that, again, is part of the illusion. So as we go along that system will deplete.

So the moment you arrive on the planet you are completely the abundance of the planet itself. So you are stepping into a completely sustaining planet. And each and every one of us are being sustained not only by the planet but with the planet and in cooperation with the planet. And we're coming back into that realization and re-connection at this point.

So, right now, yes, there is a big difference because we are still giving a lot of power to money. And, the thing is, it's not just the money itself. Because there is a certain level of power we gave to it...a superficial power saying, "Money is power. Money gives us the capability to do whatever we want. If we have money we are free." Those are all illusionary powers that we have given to it. But the other power we give to it is if we don't have it, we will die, we will starve, we will be homeless and not be able to take care of ourselves and not be able to sustain ourselves."

And we have tons of proof that that system is well-implanted because anyone who does not have money like in the Third World countries where people are starving every day, there's enough proof there to believe in that concept. But, in actual fact, that is still part of something that we made up and was illusionary. Because, in actual fact, we have more than enough resources to feed every single person on the planet. And also, as we shift in consciousness, we won't even consume that much food. And eventually no food will be required at all. But there's everything that we need, when we need it...on the planet...right now.

Now the other things that we need to look at...the other things that are coming up to the surface...is we're going to realize that a lot of the modalities that we've used as sustainability for our planet are very archaic and long, long ago obsolete. A lot of modalities around energy, a lot of modalities around creating food or different things that we may need on the planet...including health care or anything of that nature...is absolutely archaic and obsolete. So we're going to realize that, "OK. We played that role with that very archaic state and now we're going to implement technologies, capabilities and so forth that will not require us to do things the way we were doing them before." Because a lot of the archaic methods that are existing are also not conducive for the planet, are not conducive for Nature, are not conducive for us or any other life force that's on the planet.

So that will change also. And that's coming to the realization where we have the capability to product clean energy, the capability to maneuver and to produce what we need. So that will be part and parcel...

Right now the key is to work on yourself. To work on the fears that we have, the programs that make us believe that if we don't have money we are going to perish, type of thing.

So the system is still in place to a degree and there is going to be what you could call "relief"...it's not...but there's all these funds coming out and so forth...and basically all the debts and things that have restrained us...and a sharing and balancing of so-called "money" at this point in time will probably be the first step that will initiate...depending on the consciousness...if it goes further than that then it will dissolve even further.

Because it can dissolve very quickly. The only thing that holds it in place is that we are still using it as part of our polarity experience and we are still holding it with fear. But as we are stepping forward and moving in our consciousness, we will notice that we are already abundant beings, we are Everything That Is and everything is there to support us.

Now the next level beyond that is that we will be able to...and that's going to become more prevalent...take raw energy as being anything on the planet and create whatever we choose from it, within it, and so forth. Again...to sustain our expanded experience on the planet so that we can play more freely.

So the true freedom...you know, the first level of true freedom is the freedom from being in our controlled structure in our mind. Because that is the biggest restriction and limit of our own freedom! It's our capability to hold on to our programs and so forth that takes the freedom "away" from us. The more that we are program-free, the freer that we are.

The next level of freedom that we have is that we start to look at everything that we have created as a system or created as a structure or created as some modality of operation, and remove anything and everything that doesn't serve, anything and everything that restricts...and then look at everything in our environment which creates much more opening and freedom so that we can be ourselves 100% of the time, do what we love to do. And everything that we need to sustain us to go through that will be worked out in such a fashion that it will be available to us without compromising our time and our energies to do something that is not something that we choose to do. And the ones that want to do certain things that would maintain certain levels of the older system can do so, but it will not interfere in any way, shape or form with the planet or anybody else at this point in time.

So if somebody likes to farm, then they will do the farming...or they will do whatever they choose to do. However, anything that we do not want to do, we will have the technology and automation capability to put that into play so that we would have more freedom.

And the freedom, again, is to not just lie around and do nothing...it's the freedom to really express and be ourselves and to do whatever we choose to do. All of us have gifts and things that we want to share. And we want to share it freedom. We want to share it just because we love to do it. How many of us would love to just be doing what we want to do? A lot of people might choose to facilitate other people, create art, create other sustainable systems, or just experience different things in our lives.

If we took out the component that we need to devote a huge amount of our time in our life to go do something to earn a l-i-v-i-n-g...that is quite a concept!!! That we have to earn a l-i-v-i-n-g. We have to do something so we can live! When, in actual fact, we step onto a planet that is there to support us, so that we can live...we can live fully...live completely...without any restraint.

We did come onto the planet knowing that we would have restraints to deal with and knowing that the transformation would take place around this period of time and beyond. But, at the same time, we came here to experience our freedom.

Because many, many, other planets that have already advanced do not have anything in any similar to what we do here...in the sense that we need to "earn." There, everything is provided and everybody works together to make sure that everyone is provided for. I'm not saying that every single planet is that way, but a good chunk of them are that way because they have already achieved that. They might still have some levels of dictation as to how it works, but still not nearly as limited as what we have projected here.

So that's what's happening on all those realms there. In essence, everything is going through a transformation at this point in time.

So the key here is to step out of the fear. Because as we go along more and more things will be uncovered and more and more things will fall apart. But realizing that, really, there is nothing out there that can actually take us out in the sense of saying, "Well, if the money system is not there, there will be massive starvation, massive chaos or something of that nature!"

That would probably be an automatic reaction...and I say, "probably" because I would like to feel at this point that in some way we will be much more prepared to deal with it than the way we've dealt with it before. From what I can see, there will be some, but not much. But if systems went down that, at first, the temporary reaction would probably be the old protocol of survival and, "We need to do something to survive!"

But, in actual fact, that survival thing will come to the next level and dissolve very quickly saying, "We're all in this together here. Everybody's in the same boat." The fact that I need to defend myself and take something from somebody else...first of all it's not going to feel good and second of all, it's going to create much more disconnect and chaos and more fear...which, unless we absolutely need it, is not necessary.

So at this point in time if it comes to that, the best thing to do is to cooperate. Because the system, no matter where it is, as long as we step in there with a different consciousness, it will design itself to support and eventually it will dissolve whatever is no longer necessary or it becomes redundant.

So that's what we're up against at this point in time. There are a lot more changes coming through and the key is to not be afraid of it...and to not feel alone either.

Because, remember, every single Soul on the planet is another facet of us, we are all in it together, the planet is a representation of everyone here, what we choose to experience within ourselves is the majority wanting to experiencing the same thing...we want to have this playground to support us to play.

And that's what we're coming together to do.

Antonia

And that leads us into our final question for tonight:

"Do we have any updates on the timelines that go along with the information about November, February and April being very big energetic changes?"

So we've looked at, in the past, timelines for the money dissolving and we also looked at those being very strong, energetic months that are bringing changes and, of course, all of this is in complete flux. Anyone that's listening to other channellings, I will say this...I don't know about you, Franco, but this month it was hard just picking a topic because everything is so floating. We've known for a while that those months would be high energy months, but in terms of what will actually happen, right now it is so in motion that nobody can tell you specific dates for things that will happen.

So that's how I have seen it. How about you,, Franco?

Franco

It's the same. There's not anything they can put in specifics because, as you know, every month has a new wave coming through and some months are much more intense. October was very intense, November is also very powerful with several very powerful activations. But, again, with what came through in October and so forth, it is to assist with our clearing so it will bring up more emotions, more imbalance, more old ailments and stuff like that. But it also induces us to kind of wrap up a lot of the different experiences that we've had like fear modalities and so forth so that we can move forward.

Some of these energetic changes not only will cause physical and emotional stuff, but often we will notice that there will be structural instabilities that will occur: basically through the various layers of institutions and things that are in place right now. So it will create certain opportunities for things to kind of crash or to change much more rapidly.

As a collective, at this point in time, the rest of this year, which, basically, at this point in time...there is going to be somewhat of a slowing-down for the month of December in the sense of like a "breather." But the energy will still continue to flow...especially at the beginning of the month...but we should still have some pretty strong stuff coming through. But for all the rest of this month, November, there's going to still be a lot more coming through. None of it will be enough to create complete chaos or anything of that nature on a huge level. It's basically just more stimulation.

Going into January, February, March and April, there's a whole completely...

First of all, in January planet Earth itself will be fully integrated into 4th Density or 4th Dimensional consciousness...or the 4th level of energy, basically, at this point in time, So full integration will be achieved. So that will make it much more interesting for anyone holding onto the 3-D world because it's going to feel like they are out of place...actually, less at home. They will feel...how can I say...it is already now, but it's actually going to get to the point where they may feel that they don't want to be here any longer because it doesn't feel like something they recognize. They're not recognizing the energy, they're not recognizing the world around them because it's looking so different to them.

Then in March and April there's another huge...now I can't say exactly what's going to happen, in a sense, but I can say that there's a huge awakening stimulation...it's almost like a readiness...that's probably the best word at this moment. So it will be another level of readiness to participate in facilitating this movement and change on a global level. So it's almost like a higher level of receptiveness...if you want to call it that...for change.

So that's what's indicating right now.

A lot of the stuff that's being done with respect to the monetary part where we were talking about some of the things that they were trying to implement where we would clear up debts and stuff like that...it would be more...let's put it this way, it will be a lot easier (laughs) to make it happen without having bumps and bruises and in the sense of "resistance" ...when it comes to March and April. The energy by that time will have reached a point where there is more receptivity for things to flow.

So these are some of the things that are streaming through, at this point in time, There's going to be some very powerful activations along the way because there are some planetary alignments and so forth. So, in saying that, in December...just shortly after Christmas...there is a pulse that is to occur that may create some disruption energetically on our grid level, but that will be determined along the way. So that's sometime shortly after Christmas...very shortly, at this point...

So there's a lot of things coming in and streaming through. It's hard to pinpoint because everything is in flux and everything is changing. Timelines are collapsing and we are going into a very fluid timeline. And everything is monitored not only by the consciousness of the planet but also of the Galaxy too.

Again, it always goes back to a galactic level because a lot of the changes that are occurring here are not specific to us, but it's also facilitating the connection...because we are inter-connected. So that means that if it's not conducive for something to be maintained or to shift at a certain pace here because of a ripple effect that it would cause, all the other planets that are supporting and are inter-connected with us will, on a collective scale, change some of the outcomes here...as also happens on the other planets. So there's a lot playing out there.

And then, of course, as we move forward into 2014 and beyond, it's going to become much more intense and much more movement will occur.

So we have amazing times and amazing rides to go through. But all of it, in a sense, is beneficial and we are in charge of it to a certain level of degree here. We're always in charge, but not in charge as individuals, all the time. We are in charge individually how we are going to express and experience it and manage through it, but, on a collective scale we are managing it together.

Antonia

Yes. And we will continue these calls to assist and to let people know how stuff is shifting.

And, once again, the thing is now to continually keep noticing fears and then clearing them. Because the only thing that continues to create illusion and separation is fear. And it's OK that they are coming up, it's not that there's anything wrong with you, it's not that you've missed something or forgotten something...they are supposed to be coming up. So as you use your own meditations, use the Clearings we have on our website, use the HAP technique that I taught in the webcast last week...and we'll keep facilitating by creating these Clearings and Activations to better assist as the frequency changes. It's all there to assist you.

And, as I pointed out, it doesn't matter when the Clearing and Activation calls were done...even if they were done, let's say, a year or 18 months ago. Franco and I are always energetically updating them...meaning that just because they are old that when you do them they will not be successful and therefore you think you must do the most current one...no. They all play as components into each other. So just let yourself see which one you are more drawn to doing at a particular point in time and follow that. And don't worry about when it was created. Right, Franco?

Franco

Absolutely. They are, like you said, constantly being updated energetically. They were designed right from the beginning to not be restricted to the exact time that it was created.

The way it works, basically, is that they are designed with the full spectrum already in them. So each one of them already has all the energies and all the Codes that are necessary for transformation. And each time you play it...maybe with some time lapse in between...the level of readiness for each individual that's participating will be able to access the other Codes that they were not able to access before. So it is not only upgrading within its energy field, but it also already carries everything in it.

Any of the Clearings that we do, when I'm doing the Clearings with you at this point in time, it's the Soul that's doing it and it's using Source Codes. So it's using Codes that are...first of all...open platform so that the Codes that it takes in is adjustable...it's an open platform so it picks up whatever the resident energy of the environmental consciousness at the time it's being played or utilized.

In addition, of course, it doesn't carry any restrictive modalities within it. So basically, it is not time-connected to when it was created. So it's not restricted in that way; it's very wide open. So that's the thing.

I know a little while ago when we did one of the earlier ones, later I was looking at it with the view to consider updating it. And when I decided to play it for myself and sat with it, I realized that the energy that it carried was very powerful and it was pretty updated already. So we didn't even need to do it and didn't end up re-doing it because it already...So it was my own proof to myself that when they are being prepared, they already have the energies within them to upgrade on their own. And it has all the different codes in it because...

You know, people are going to have different experiences. You can have two people, three people, or ten people and each one will get the exact thing that they need for the place that they are at that point in time.

Because each of us is evolving. Each of us is going through the shifting that's going on within ourselves, and everybody's at different levels and will get exactly what they need...when they need it. And so ten different people at different levels of consciousness will get ten different versions, or different aspects of it at the time. And then when they play it later, of course it's going to change (because their level of consciousness has changed)...based on the readiness of each individual.

Antonia

Yes. Absolutely.

One final thing: we had talked in previous years about 2013 being the year of the completion of the hands-off policy by our galactic brother/sister Souls. Meaning that up until 2013 there was a like a hands-off policy to stay away. But that in 2013 and onward, there would probably be more sightings...there are already so many more sightings of "UFO's", but more of that...and also that there would be more openness for them to communicate with us. So how is that advancing and what stage are we at with that?

Franco

Well, it's still being monitored. There are more sightings...as you've noticed...and the sightings are also becoming much more obvious because they are showing up all over the place. There has been a little quiet spot, there for a little while, but they are all over the place. You see them on the satellites all the time, you see them in our skies all the time...

As for the hands-off policy...yes...coming into 2013 it was time. But, again, it is being monitored so that the interactions will be limited...and it is limited and has been limited for the longest time...but it has been expanded somewhat now. But it will remain limited along the way for only a period of time. Because it would have to be, at this point in time, based on the consciousness of humanity...our open-ness to seeing beings coming onto the planet.

First of all, intervention is not accepted by us in the sense of intervention where it would take away from our experience. But sharing is OK. But for us to see a mass landing of ships coming onto the planet, that's to be determined. Not that they are being restricted from doing it, but there's a level of respect, at this point, for the state of consciousness that we are in. Because many people would still react with fear, should we have ships.

And we've created a polarized experience in the sense that...if you look at it...there's a big push going on right now to reveal a lot of information. And there's much coming out...even at the governmental level...maybe not publically at this point in time, but through whistleblowers, through different people who have been involved at a different levels of monitoring what's been going on...and they are speaking out. Ones that have been hiding...or, at least, keeping the secret or keeping the knowledge away from us, have been expressing it much more openly in that regard. So it is giving us a little bit more "comfort," I guess you could call it, for their existence and the fact that we've known for a long time.

But if you look at the media, movies, the TV programming and so forth, it has been prevalent in pushing the fact that we would have alien invasions and all these negative aspects of these beings coming onto the planet, which only created a polarized experience in creating and inducing more fear. But, again, that was only temporary for us to complete that part of experiencing fear and so on.

So, as we're going along, there will be more direct contact. What's going to happen is that there will be more smaller-group contacts that will take place. There are already some now...and have been for some time...but there will be more as we go along. And with respect to the mass landing part of it, that has yet to be determined. Part of it really depends on the Souls on the planet and at what state of consciousness they are in.

It's not that far down the road, though!

Antonia

It just depends on how much we release fear.

Franco

That's it!!! That's the biggest obstacle now!

We can be afraid of somebody coming to our place and, of course, we are going to do everything to keep it out of the way. And if somebody knows that you are afraid, they are going to stay away. But the moment that we come to the point where we are not afraid and we see them as an equal to us and that they are coming onto the planet from their planet...

Because what happens along the way...you have to realize that once we have that take place...you have to understand that they are going through the same process as we are: becoming more consciousness and aware and so forth. But they also have certain technologies which could give us the opportunity to astral travel. So we would be able to travel to their planets and so forth...still be in this physical form and yet be able to experience much more variety.

So when we get to the point where we are ready to embrace all of that and get caught up in the excitement and the level of, 'Yeah! I'm going to go off and play some more and have interactions with other aspects of myself,' it will be very different. People will be open to it and you will see a balancing equality within one another.

You have to understand...a lot of this war-like mentality, dark and light, and all that stuff...it is dissolving...on all levels. So it's not going to be maintained. This is also dissolving on other planets too. And it's dissolving in the Galaxy and all that stuff. So it's not just what's happening here...because it's happening all over the place. So, in essence, we are not going to be experiencing "negative" beings coming from other planets...you know, the way that we have experienced in the past...because that's not necessary any longer on a Galactic level, or on a Universal level either.

So, like you said, once we get beyond the fear component...which we are, bit by bit...more and more of that will occur. And when they do start to show up, it will really be in acceptance of equality and balance...and there will be sharing. A sharing of experiences, a sharing of technologies, a sharing of "wisdom," if you want to call it that...you know, what has been learned from different experiences...

You know, our planet here and the way it is positioned and the way it was originally designed...we were a very Galactic port/portal here. We were designed that way originally. Of course, stuff happened to change that, but we are going to go back to that natural state, that original plan. Because at the time, because of our positioning, this planet was to be a hub for connections with other planets. This was supposed to be a very Universal planet. A planet where we would have beings from other planets come and visit...as we would go and visit other planets too. So it was a very different experience and environment to be in. So that part of it is still in the desirable mode of having that take form. So as we go along it will occur that way.

Antonia

Absolutely. We are looking forward to having lots of fun with that.

We still have more questions, but we are going to hold them for our next call.

We are always tuned into what's happening and we are also tuned in to what's happening with you. And as you continue Clearing and centering and focusing on Love, then this is what we are doing. We are transforming daily. And it's a beautiful time. And we are all doing this together. It's all about humanity coming together...and this is what is happening.

Despite what the media might be portraying, just know that those are just some last attempts to keep some fear alive. So don't buy into that. Stay focused on peace, neutrality, fluidity. And know that things are opening up, things are moving forward exactly as we had agreed they would.

And if we need assistance, it will be there. Absolutely.

Franco

And the thing to look at with what you were saying about the fear and so forth...the stuff that's playing out...the only reason that much of even what the media is projecting in information and so forth...it is really just playing a role for us to get to the point...like any experience that we've had in our life...even growing up and so forth where somebody's pushing, pushing, pushing you one way or another, or saying certain things and making you feel a certain way...they are playing a role, of course. But you finally get to the point where you say, "You know something? I am choosing to not participate in this any longer."

It's like how many people now...with the media and so forth, saying in the media...how many have totally stepped out of it? Are not reading the paper, are not listening to the daily news, are not even taking what is being shared by others literally right from the beginning and responding in the same way. Many people have gone away from that and anything that they hear, they automatically go to the internet and try to find alternative views and so forth.

But then, depending on what state of consciousness they are in, you take the views but then you go into your own self and tune into it and see what's really playing out. But, when you're tuning in, I can tell you one thing, when you are actually tuning into the Higher Aspect of you, it doesn't matter what's playing, it will never play "fear." It would never react in fear.

When you tune into that you see the perfection in all of it. You are actually welcoming all of it...even if it affects you in a dramatic way...because you know that it's going to help you shift.

So it's very different.
