

FEAR OF AUTHORITY & GUILT ENTANGLEMENT AND ANCHORING THE TRUE SELF

Antonia (“A”)

Franco (“F”)

F We discussed and did the Clearing for Releasing the Illusion of Authority last year, but this one is considerably different. It’s different because it’s really deep-rooted and it goes into so many levels. So we are going to look at that and then do a process to de-tangle ourselves from it.

F The Clearing we did last year on Releasing the Illusion of Authority was done at a human level and the interaction that we have with one another. This Clearing tonight actually goes deeper. This one goes back into stuff that has been carried over from different past lives, been carried over through lineages and some of it dates back thousands of years...and some as far as 10,000 years ago.

F So this is a de-tangling that is much more comprehensive.

F And we weren’t ready to do this before now. But now it has come up (as something which now needs to be addressed)

F As I was discussing earlier today with Antonia, this has shifted the work that I do during my out-of-body stuff, and it became very obvious that this has to be shifted. So the last three days (of my out-of-body work) has all been focused on that.

A Yes. And I kept hearing “authority/fear,” “authority/fear,” “authority/guilt.” So this is authority entangled with guilt. And, as Franco was saying, this is a really old, old, old one. And it is one of the agreements that we had over 10,000 years ago that allowed humanity to shift and experience the separateness that’s been taking place. But it’s time now to eliminate that.

A I’m sure many of you are noticing the changes in our society and how there’s more and more questioning going on. But we still have this, not only from this life but also from past lives and even as far back as 10,000 years when the original agreement was made, there's this caution and fear with authority and retribution. And not with just family members but also with society in general, establishments in general.

A So it's now time that we look at it, where it comes from, and release it.

A So, Franco, when we look at it, we see that 10,000 years ago we agreed to experience something different and we knew that that experience would come to an end. So we are now in the ending of this and moving forward into the 4th and 5th Dimension and moving forward into other experiences for humanity. So now is the time to let this go.

A So let's look at....because it's been so deeply engrained...let's look at it.

F Well I'll just quickly explain how it came about. Like I said, a few days ago my work shifted. Because I do a lot of work on the "back end" I get to go into the operating system of the collective humanity and all the different levels of consciousness and so forth behind the scenes, and I also look at the change programs and the matrix that's involved that created all of this.

F So when I started to work with that, I did notice very powerfully that a lot of these levels of authority that were established and that are still carried forth and have been extended from thousands and thousands of years in many cases, but at different levels.

F Prior to 10,000 years ago there was no hierarchy. There were no people being at different levels saying, "I am the authority. You have to listen to me," and so forth. None of that existed. Everybody was at the same level. They were all at different levels of consciousness, yes, everybody was at different levels of awareness, enlightenment and so forth, which is fine. But there was no authority of one over the other.

F And that was part of the change that happened 10,000 years ago because we had beings that came onto the planet and started to change things. They created an artificial hierarchy, meaning they set up certain people or certain beings, at that point in time, as being above, higher and more authoritative and whom you could not question, and this really lowered the status of everyone else.

F This is how all the "gods" came about, and this is how religions...and so forth. Now at that time they weren't so much into the religion aspect of it, but there were gods at that point in time. But those gods were beings who took on a certain role that mandated this hierarchy, saying, "We are your creator," or this or that, "We're better than you. You're just a product of our thing. You have to do what we want you to do. You are just basically here to play out what we want you to do. And if you do not abide by that then there will be a repercussion to be dealt with."

F So that was originally set up and that has continued to create layers and layers and layers of it.

F And one of the big things that has come up is that it is heavily engrained in religion, where all this hierarchy has been set up, all these different rulers and so forth, all these gods and goddesses and also all these levels of authoritative energies or consciousness or entities.

F And then there was another level that was created which was a split where there was the evil and the good, the lower gods and the higher gods...and all that stuff.

F So all that was created. And it was imprinted into our genetic code. It was imprinted in the lineage. And it's been carried over. And even today it's still running!

F And then, of course, along the way we continued to create a hierarchy and also creating different monarchies along the way. As we went down the line we started having kings and we started to have other authoritative beings...and you couldn't question it.

F Now when we got to the god consciousness and all that stuff that was projected and all the artificial hierarchies that were created, then there was guilt imprinted. The fact that you do not question god. You do not question any form of authority because who are you to question anything! You are a product of their creation and you are just a slave or servant or a puppet or a playmate for these "higher" entities or "higher" energies and so forth...or what we could call these god consciousnesses that were created at that time.

F And this also stemmed into...because even with the parent arrangement...you know, you have a child in your life...At that point in time there was no ownership of one over another. A child was coming through you...it was part of the dance that you made an agreement with. It was on an equal basis. A child was equal to the parents in the sense of its existence, its essence. And the only sharing that was with the parent was just to find out how to maneuver itself through the human experience, but never really dictating the human experience.

F But then part of the change, that hierarchy came in and took place, the hierarchy then stemmed into, of course, now all the different members of the family became at different levels...which simulated the hierarchy...meaning now the parent has authority over a child. And then somebody else would have authority over them. Like the grandparents would have authority over the parents and the grandchild. And then, of course, there's elders and other people who were all put into different levels of authority amongst each other.

F And not only that, but it came to the point where there was no questioning...there was nothing where you were able to have what you might call "free thinking," "free experiencing." Because now you had to always take input from whatever authority was above you and you had to emulate and follow that. So it created a pattern of no one breaking anything and everything was carried over.

F Believe it or not, most of our religious affiliations right now and a lot of the hierarchies that exist right now...if you look back, most of the information comes from thousands and thousands of years ago...and nobody questions it. Nobody would even dare to question it. God forbid you question it!

F And then now you have to feel bad.

F And not only do you have to feel guilty but you may even be punished...and so forth.

F And then all the other people who have been put into place at the governmental levels, in the different institutions and so forth that are in place...even a teacher or something of that nature...there are all these levels of authority, all these levels of hierarchy that were established throughout.

A Yes. And when we're talking about "god" or "gods," we're talking not just about the Judeo-Christian-Muslim gods, but also the East Indian or Buddhist worlds where you have Buddha or you have Vishnu or whatever...they are all god-like symbols.

A And the point we are making here is that you don't question. You might even notice that even as we talk about this concept here, possibly in your mind you are right now thinking, "What do you mean? How can we question Buddha? How can we question Vishnu?" Many in the spiritual world have embraced more the Buddhist or the Hindu way of looking at gods or ascribing to those philosophies.

F Yes. And the thing is too, with all of that, when you really look at the big picture of it, there was never any "god." That was a perceptual creation that was made. There are just other facets of ourselves in different states of consciousness that have taken on the roles to facilitate other aspects of itself (i.e. everyone that's on the planet...or on any planet at this point)...to facilitate them.

F It's like any child that comes into our life. It's not that we have the child because we want to be the authority and we want to boss them around. Actually, in the true sense, we are allowing this beautiful creation to come into our lives or this beautiful exchange to come into our lives and all that we're sharing with great love is to allow them to mature and grow and to become their own self...whatever that may be.

F And this is the way it worked with all the different levels of consciousness and all the different levels of beings...that the higher levels were just sharing. And it was always about sharing. Sharing and allowing everyone to go through their own path and their own growth.

F So all of the “god” stuff that was created...in any form of religion or any form or creation of idea, it was all superimposed...was never existing before.

F Basically, we knew...and we still do, to an extent...that we are Source Itself having a human (or any form of being) experience on any particular planet, and all of us are that Spark, we are that extension of that Source. We are that Source having a non-Source experience while still having that Source within ourselves.

F Again, when Source fragmented Itself to go out and play, to go out and create and to experience Itself, It didn't say, “OK, I'm going to create lower aspects of Self.” It's going to create Selves that are not accessing the same levels of consciousness so that It can go through a “remembering” process and also experience and play while It's doing so. So that, as a Whole, we all grow.

F So when you encompass the whole Source, every single one of us...every single being that exists, period...is all part of this Source actually experiencing and growing one another and having no judgment and no levels of who's better and who's not, or whatever it is. Every experience is absolutely amazing in whatever form it is to accentuate the Whole, and basically Source Itself.

F So a lot of the “god” stuff...yes, that's the label it's been given and, of course, we've created all these ritual things that we need to do this to appease that...and so forth.

F And some of the beings that have come onto the planet were playing in a polarized, negative energy at the time in different states of consciousness. And, yes, they did project themselves as, “We need to be honored. We need to be respected. We need to be feared,” and so forth. So that carried into the literature, carried into (everything).

F And so genetically we've been carrying it through all the different lineages. And this is what the process is now.

F The key here in all of this...and what I was noticing is that what was happening is that we've stepped into this new world. We are in a different state of consciousness and everyone on the planet is being shifted. And it is constantly being upgraded here now with all these new ways of going through. And, of course, we are going through the purging and clearing.

F What's happening right now that I noticed from working on the “back end” is that we have a lot of different levels of authority and a lot of different levels of hierarchy still within our systems...but what's happening is that each institution and all the different departments...in anything...from monetary to education to medical to media to different levels of government, and so forth...they all have different factions of different departments and whatever else...and, of course, all the people who have taken the role to be the authoritative or whatever...

F So what's happened now with all the energies that are changing, a lot of people who are playing the authoritative role have gotten to a state where they feel that they have lost control...they have lost track of their "state." So what's happening is that everybody is waiting and governing themselves through this chain of authority that existed. Now what's happening is that levels of authority are dissolving and the people who have taken the authoritative role can't seem to maintain it in the same way.

F So I've noticed is that a lot of people who have taken on different roles in a lot of different levels are doing what they were doing before, however, now they are not only feeling uncomfortable and feeling that something needs to change, but also nobody wants to question anything because of this energy that's locked up (and which is represented as), "We can't question! We can't question what has been going on for thousands of years. We cannot anything that has been 'established.' And not only can we not question it, but we can't even consider changing it, or anything of that nature. And not only can we not change it, but it looks like a huge endeavour to change it!!!"

F So everybody is kind of "doing" something and maintaining what existed only for the fact that there is no clarity or level of freedom within it to start to navigate in a different direction...to allow the changes to actually happen. So, in a way, (this thought/belief process) is actually stifling the changes on the physical aspect of our projection on the "outside" as a collective.

F So on the "back end," we are going in and breaking up those patterns and encoding new stuff. But each one of us is also facilitating all of this. So it became obvious that it was important to break all levels of authority that we have entangled ourselves in. And also break the guilt of challenging anything, the feeling of guilt about having to actually step out of the existing patterns, the existing protocols that we have carried over. And so to de-tangle ourselves from all of that and to allow ourselves to connect once again to our Inner Guidance system.

F Our Inner Guidance system is key to our understanding that our soul is here to navigate us through our enlightenment process. And it is also intimately connected to all the other souls and itself while still utilizing our physicality and our mind to do so.

F That being the case, of course, this work is also going right into not only clearing stuff at the soul level but we are also clearing it in the sub-conscious mind and the conscious mind and any of the programs that we've taken on...and going right into the lineage of clearing that aspect of it..

F So that when we are connecting with ourselves, we are now creating an intimate connection where the mind, body and soul are all working together and we can start taking steps to allow the changes to occur in our physical world.

F So not only is it changing within us, but it is changing more freely in the physical world.

F So that now we can start looking at things that no longer serve and not feel bad, not feel guilty, and not wait for somebody to give us instructions saying, "Well, this is how it needs to be done," and then somebody has to stick out their neck to do it.

F So to allow ourselves at this point in time...because it's so key that each one of us makes these changes and starts to emanate these changes within ourselves because it will affect others...other aspects of ourselves...not only within our family but also any other connections, relationships or interactions that we have with others.

F And also even the connection that we are not so aware of, which is the connection to the collective and the connection to, of course, the matrix and everything else that's tied into that. So that starts to change too.

F So as we start to see with much more clarity and are able to go beyond all these encodements of the past, all these hierarchies of the past, all these authoritative levels of the past and all these things that we've created as a form of existence, then we can actually get into a free state to create something new. Totally new. And actually do it freely.

F So all the different people in all the different levels of authority have lost their only "guidance" system, and nobody wants to question anything because they don't have any guidance as to what direction to go. So this is creating a scrambled pattern at this point and we are "locked up" just playing a particular role and really never able to step out of it. So this chain of authority has created that "scrambling". And that's what I have noticed in working behind the scenes. So we are making changes and adjustments regarding that.

F But it is very key and important for us to do that within ourselves because we are all part of this shifting that's going on. So by breaking out of all these patterns within ourselves of relying on all these authoritative encodements and fears and so forth to which we have been attached, we are then able to navigate much more easily and are able to make changes (without feeling "guilty").

F As a result, we are not going to see changes as very dramatic or intense or so difficult to do because we are now not waiting for someone to give us instructions on how to do it, but instead are connecting within ourselves. And by having a lot of this clearing process, we start to change within ourselves and we start to make changes, and we start to emanate with everyone with whom we are interconnected relationship-wise: from the family dynamics to friends and other people with whom we interact and so forth...and this will cause a ripple effect. And, of course, this is affecting as a collective, an “opening” and “freeing” and so forth.

F So all of this is what became so key and so important. And that’s why a lot of this became the primary thing to play with this evening. Because I know that when this shifted, it became very important that we utilize other souls to make those changes within themselves so that we have much more capability to activate this on a larger scale as a collective.

F So that’s part of the process that’s taking form right now.

F Now I know there was a question that had come along about the clearings and why are we doing this and as long as we can connect with ourselves there’s nothing to clear, and so forth. But what a lot of the clearing is really about...no, we are not “broken,” we not here to be “fixed”...or anything of that nature.

F The process that we’re doing, the things that we are unfolding right now are just really creating a shifting within ourselves from one experience to another. So really the “work” is creating adjustments.

F So when we are doing a Clearing, all we are doing is clearing programs...like we were saying earlier...that we have taken on and accepted as part of our experience. And these programs still play very deeply in the unconscious, the sub-conscious and the conscious state of being. But it’s also in our genetic encodements, it actually goes right into our DNA...and, of course, we’ve created a pattern of repeating it within one another. So it can be a bit challenging at times to step out of it. But I know we are all capable of doing it...and that’s what we’re doing. It’s not that we have to rely on all of this (i.e. the Clearings). But what we’ve done is we’ve created tools and opportunities to accentuate that and to assist it because we are doing it on a larger scale.

F So what we’re really doing (when we do the Clearings) is we are clearing old programs, old states of consciousness, old states of being, and patterns that we’ve established which, once upon a time, served us and created the polarity, created the different experiences and levels that we needed to have when we were in that state where it became important for us to have that. However, we have outgrown that. We have actually stepped outside of that and we are now in a new world where it now does not support it any longer.

F So we all, at one point or another, are clearing out old debris.

F The stuff that we are clearing this evening...again, this goes really, really deep. And because of the fact that this has been carried on...Now some people may not have to clear much of it because they have gone through certain channels of experiences and have gone through different states of dimensional processing themselves without going through all of this. And they are at a different level already. However, by participating in all of this (i.e. the webcasts and the Clearings) and being part of it you then facilitate other aspects of yourself which then really accentuates your own journey too.

F Because we are all connected as One. And for us to go to higher “levels”, we have to assist others to do so as well. It’s like one body (inaudible) with the rest of them to really make a huge difference in the experience of the whole body versus just various cells within the body. Because as much as one cell or several cells in a body may create a certain level of experience (inaudible) (laughs) it is so much more powerful, not only in the impact but you actually become a much more powerful creator and navigator through the experience. (inaudible)

F ...these codes and allowing us to free ourselves from these processes really accelerates the enlightenment process and also allows more souls to go into the 4th Dimensional consciousness prior to the shifting into the 5th Dimensional consciousness...so that we actually have more participants rather than having so many having to leave the planet in order for us to be able to make the shift.

A Yes, and, as Franco said, this really re-structured how society was created.

A And we’re not talking about a “defiance” of authority here...we’re not talking about coming in conflict against it. That’s not what this is about.

A Where we’re coming from (with this Clearing) is the dissolving of a program to where you are in a state of peace. So that’s when you can go within yourself and with your True Self, you are your own authority. You are always referring to the authority within you.

A And one comment which came in from a listener said that people don’t really trust authority (specifically in the educational system) but they don’t know what to do instead, so they are kind of lost.

A And I know people in a lot of institutions are now questioning things but they are kind of at a loss as to what direction to move forward. And that’s because these foundations are now starting to dissolve...which is all great and we are in a perfect place.

F Yes. You said something very key there regarding that even in the educational system most of the teachers there...most of the people there see that a change is required. They also see that the children are not participating in the same way, they are not feeling that “connection.” And they also feel that the energy is old, that things need to change and that a lot of what is being taught is of the old world. And that the old world is not supported any longer.

F And then, of course, it becomes about who gives the “permission,” who “allows” the changes to occur.

F And then when you go up into the level of principal and go up into the different levels of the educational system, nobody wants to challenge (the status quo). “This is the way it’s been and we can’t challenge it.” So nobody wants to take that on because they are all afraid that there’s another higher level of authority that’s going to reign over them and that all it will do is create problems, in a sense. So nobody wants to stick their neck out.

F So that’s exactly what’s happening and that’s the part that needs to be shifted.

F And, like you said, Antonia, it’s not about fighting the authority or anything of that nature.

F It’s to use your own Inner Guidance so that you are not looking for something outside of you to tell you how to navigate through your life and also how to create your reality and change the reality of your world around you.

A And as this program dissolves then the feeling of Oneness and community becomes stronger. Because that’s who we really all are: we are all One. We all have that desire to come in and assist. So as these old 3-D world programs are dissolved and removed then you’ll feel the stronger call for Oneness, you’ll feel the stronger call for community and communing with those with whom you resonate. And that’s what will pull people together again.

F And even when we’re getting together in community with like-minded people and so forth, we create the opening and the support system for one another to step forward.

F But the community is always open for new people to participate. As that energy is expanded, it actually creates even more people to feel drawn to that and it allows that to just continue to grow.

F And the community is really there to just support one another so that we continue moving forward together.

F It’s not about limiting anybody. It’s not about the fact that everybody has to conform to something.

F Because, again, even with the people who are sharing the message, we are not here to create another hierarchy. We are not here to put anybody on a pedestal. Each one of us is a magnificent being.

F And the stuff that we share with each other...certain people have achieved a certain level of consciousness where they have a certain level of accessibility, whereas someone else has not yet gained that access. But everybody has the same resource, everybody has the same accessibility. They may not know it yet because of their journey and where they're at at that point. But everybody will get there and everybody is getting there. The point is that the ones who have already made certain steps forward are only sharing. Because it's not about telling you how to live your life or telling you about anything. It's only about sharing something so that every other soul can actually take the parts that totally resonate with them, take whatever's there, and expand it from there.

F But then it always goes back to connecting with yourself.

F Because you are the only authority on navigating through your journey.
