As Franco and I tuned in to what is happening and how we could best assist, we really picked up on a lot of confusion going on. So the topic of tonight's program is From Confusion to Oneness Fluidity. And Oneness fluidity is what we're moving into. 2014 is really a year for community and fluidity, which is all based coming from Love.

As some of you know, we had one energetic shift come in just last Friday (i.e. January 31) and we're in one today. So if you're feeling a little bit different, don't worry about it...you're probably just feeling the energies.

So welcome, Franco.

Franco

Thank you. And thank you for, yet once again, organizing this little party of us coming together and playing. And I also thank all the participants and all the people who are going to be part and parcel of it. As you know, the more of us who gather, the more powerful everything we do together is.

Antonia

Absolutely. So, as you know, there was an energetic shift that came in on the 31st and there was another major one today. So for people who are feeling a little different or a little odd in their body, why don't we address that briefly before we get into talking about confusion and how it's playing out in the world right now.

Franco

Well, the inputs that are coming through...and today's too...these strong pulses and up-codes and so forth do create quite a field of transformation within all realms of the experience on the planet. So it really go right to the basis of changing the energy on the planet...it changes the energy of everything upon the planet.

But where we feel it the most is within ourselves. But we not only feel it within ourselves, but we feel it within our environment.

So depending on the state of frequency that we're in and what we can utilize of it, we may feel elated, in a way, because we feel that something has changed...or at least you feel like you have a boost pushing you...like you've caught a little wave and it's moving forward. But other times it feels like the wave actually crashed on you. But that's not because one wave is better than the other because actually they are both the same...it's just a matter of what angle you're coming from how it will affect you.

These two that came through are very powerful energies of change. It's all being introduced step-by-step. We have to understand that the main intention is to gently and, in a way, very powerfully create transformation.

So, in a sense, the souls have gotten together and said, "Listen, we would rather grab as much of the ride as possible...in the sense that if it's at all possible for me to be part of this transformation in a much more powerful way, a much deeper way and also to be able to create enough transformation in the body so that I can find it useful to remain on the planet while the transformation is going on and to also participate in the new state of being in the world and our new state of physical expression and consciousness...then I would love to be part of it!"

So when these waves come in...when these powerful energies come in, they do affect a lot of things on the planet itself. And you will also notice that nature feels it...not only the animal kingdom and so forth, but depending on the part of the world that they are playing in, you'll notice that there's an energy movement within the planet itself...it's almost like a re-alignment that...it's like shifting. So it's like a wave of earthquake, but it's not an earthquake; it's a wave of energy that transmits throughout the whole planet. So it's almost like it creates instability.

But the only instability that you're really feeling is the instability of all your deep, grounding of anything that is still very 3-D, very much in that lower vibration and frequency.

Also what it does...and specifically the one today...is that it also creates such a wave of energy that a lot of the denser entities, the denser fragmented souls and consciousness that have been residing on the planet and that in a way have also been holding on for dear life, if you want to call it that... all those dense energies have been stirred up so that they are losing their grip so that more of them are released, and they are actually are guided back to prepare themselves for an extended journey, or an expanded journey and the preparation that it does.

I'll share this but it is not to create any fear or anything like that...but what's happened that, as a lot of the vibrations on the planet has increased and humanity is still reflecting a lot of the old dense 3-D state...especially if you are resorting to anger, judgment, fear and are still using a lot of various substances and so forth in the sense of lowering your vibration with alcohol and whatever else and actually going into a depressed state...then what's happening is they are creating a host energy within themselves that does not match with the planet (so that's one of the reasons they are not feeling so comfortable)...but it also becomes a hosting ground for entities and fragments of souls. So, in a sense, there's a lot more attachments occurring.

Now it's not a permanent attachment in the sense where you're possessed or anything of that nature. Rather, it's an attachment where the energy can actually feed off the person and will continue to stimulate further feeding of it so that the entities can actually holding on.

So they are losing their grip of staying on the planet, they are losing their grip on nature and a lot of the animal kingdom and so forth that they would have been able to feed off before energetically...but they would have been more of creating an attachment.

So there have been more and more people feeling that something is happening and they are kind of shifting back and forth and feel these heavier energies. But that's only because certain people are still in the state of hosting them because of that lower vibration.

However, what happened today with this is that it has actually created a wave of energy through the bodies of everyone, in one way or another even though they may not be consciousness of it. So, in a sense it may be jarring and loosening up the grip of any entity that may have attached to them...even though they weren't attached in the sense where they take over...it's like having a body that's really attached to you and hanging around and you really want that freedom but they are feeding off your energy and whatever else. That's kind of a poor example, but it just gives you a little bit of an analogy.

But when that's occurring, sometimes what happens it create a bit of uncomfortableness because it feels like you're (inaudible).

I'm sure many of you have felt or experienced this, but sometimes we may feel like we have gotten into a stale state...stalled or stale...whatever you want to call it...where it's almost like everything has become frozen, in a sense, where things are brewing to move but it seems like the movement has actually slowed right down...and when I say "movement" I mean movement in the sense of change...movement where we're having a global shift occurring.

For example, anyone who's playing with the different control structures and so forth, are finding that they are getting very much more resistance...non-cooperation is actually a better word for it...than they had before. It's not the system ever cooperated in the way that we would have liked to see it cooperate, but now it's like they don't want anything to do with it and they are actually creating any form of stalling and feeling stale.

That's kind of what we're in right now and this is the ride that we're on.

So part of what happened on the 31st and again today (the 4th) has also, at this point in time, created a kind of a breaking of that rigid energy...like if someone is stubborn and all of a sudden they make a little input where they kind of let go of their stubbornness...which is kind of an analogy that I'm using here...but, in a sense, that rigidity, that non-cooperative state has gotten another jolt today.

And there's going to be others coming along as we move forth. And we also have some bigger stuff coming in around the middle of this month. There's a lot coming through right now because of the fact that, as a collective, the intention is, when we are walking into the Spring of this year...March and April...April/May, that there will be a level of adjustment in the energy and the consciousness and also the functionality, the support energy that supports what you call the old polarity world...will be greatly be impacted so that we start moving again.

And not only start moving, but that there is more cooperation. There is more consciousness shifting where people who would not want any change whatsoever or would do everything opposite to make sure that the change does not occur, will feel powerless to some degree...in the sense where they would not be able to maintain the same programs, the same state that they were before,

Just to give you an example, if you were going to court and you were presenting your case in a way that you might call "changing the system" or getting yourself opened up to get out of some part of the system where you're helped financially...or whatever it may be...you will find that you're going to hit a tipping point. There's a massive tipping point where it would be more received and they would better cooperate with what you're presenting.

Right now you will notice that there's a hostility, rejection and almost an annoyance the moment that you step in there and you're presenting freedom, you're presenting corruption or something of that nature...which, again, there is no such thing as corruption because that's all just part of the game...but, at the same time, yes, they are playing a role that has restricted us...but at the same time you are talking about freedom and showing that the system is not there for our highest good, automatically you are kind of rejected because it's like there's that really powerful energy. So a lot of that is breaking down at this point in time.

You have to understand...this year specifically, there are a lot of things ramping up to create a tremendous amount of shifting. So 2013 has created a lot of spaces and has created openings and created movement and so forth. But this year, it's going to continue.

Like you were saying, Antonia, one thing that's really part of this Activation/Meditation for this evening and what we're talking about here is Oneness. And that's big.

Oneness was introduced and encoded within ourselves as at the end of 2012 and has been kind of stimulated but really not taken to heart as much in 2013. But in 2014...and when

I'm talking dates, I'm just using those because that's what we have as reference points...really it's just our positioning and all the different frequencies that are hosting different states of consciousness and different states of beingness. So what we're actually seeing is change rather than time...but we label it as time. So it just happens to coordinate with 2014, so we use that as a measure

So in 2014, as we are going through this, this Oneness is now being felt more and more. And specifically as we go along into the second half of the year, you are going to find that it is your grounding where you are now connected with one another. It's not going to be very comfortable for you to be as an isolated island, consumed with survival, fear, and struggle and that somehow you need to create security and whatever else within yourself. You will break down your barriers and be OK to connect with others, to be OK to be in community, to be OK to see that, first of all, this is not a fight. But, even if we look at it as a fight, it's not a fight of just one against the mass. We're talking about coming in with the consciousness and the energy of change. But we're coming in together as a group.

You see the moment we fragment ourselves and create the ones who are going to be the stimulants of change and the rest are not interested or sit back and do nothing until something happens, then that is not conducive in the sense where we're not putting all our consciousness and energy in the same direction. So the "wait and see" will become less of our default. It will be more of "Let's get together. Let's actively work together to make this change."

Because the change is actually occurring because what is existing no longer serves. But, at the same time, through this change, it brings and intensifies the whole Oneness part of it. But, at the same time, it creates a lot of shifting within ourselves and de-programs us of a lot of the programs that we've taken in. Because we've taken in a ton of programs within ourselves: that we are competing with one another, that we have to take care of ourselves, and it's all about ourselves and our family...and even in a lot of cases it doesn't even encompass the family because we have a tendency to isolate ourselves from even them, unless it benefits us or we've created the story and belief that it does.

So, in that sense, when we're going through it, that program and all these programs that we've taken on will start to deteriorate. So it's almost like it won't even make any sense to you but you won't even feel like using it.

It's like this. You make a statement and say, "Well, I'm looking after myself." And then you think, "Why am I even saying that?" Because you start to realize that it's not about yourself; it's about all aspects of yourself. We're all in the boat together, if you want to call it that.

So that's kind of what's playing out in the shifting. So Oneness is becoming much more powerful throughout this year. And then all of these phases that we are going to go through is going to unite us.

Because the changes that we're looking at in our playing field and in our experience...for example, our bodies are being tuned for us to adopt and step into the new state of consciousness, this new state of human experience. And our minds are being programmed...or at least encoded...for us to not only be able to accept it but to flourish within it. And part of that is actually already in there within ourselves because we've experience this before...or at least it's been handed down lineage after lineage, even though it has been dulled down in the past...that knowing that we are all One, that knowing that we're here to play together, that knowing that we don't have to create difficulties or play in a world of polarities in order to have growth and expansion. As much as we've known all that, much of it has been dulled.

But now that's being re-activated...and even upgraded...through everything that's going on at this moment. So we are in that state, but it's a matter of us coming together to start utilizing it. And that's where we actually light it up.

It's like any talent that you have, if you don't use it for a long time, you will still have it but you don't feel that you can actually make use of it. But when you start using it, you start getting together and you start to participate with yours and others participate, you start to renew that part of you.

And then there's another creative part of you that comes through because even what you knew before actually expanded. And this is what's changing right now.

So we are choosing to shift our human experience. And that is happening to a large degree in most people. How much of it will be used and how much of it will actually be experienced will depend on the programming and also on the work that the soul has to do through the physicality and the mind.

On a large scale...when we're talking on a global level where we want change on the planet where we would like to create a different environment on the planet and also a different environment to play within where we have that much more freedom where we do not need to play the game that we played before because it is no longer needed, it is a matter of us getting to a point where we are, on a larger scale, choosing it. And not only choosing it, but start taking steps towards it, and where the old modalities don't are even factored in.

So if you are getting together with a group of people to decide on a new path...for example, whenever groups come together and they are choosing to create a new reality, a new experience of some sort, to create a new system...a lot of times whenever a new system is coming into place, the new system always seems to be connected to the old system, it may be modified a little bit or whatever. But a lot of time is spent on "How can we adjust the existing system?" and so forth. And usually that slows it down or, really, it minimizes the capacity of creating something new.

But right now as this is moving forward, when we do get together and we are looking at creating a different reality, creating a different system, first of all we are no longer rigid on the system level of doing things. And the systems will really no longer take parts of the old. Instead, you're going to bring in the creative and say, "Let's create something that has no limits here. Let's go outside of what we've played with before." And it won't be that same modality of default where, "Well, you know, this is what we have, and we have to create a transition, and we have to do this and this and this." That approach will become very, very minimal in the decision-making and the coming together of creating new paths for it. And instead of the idea that we need to incorporate any of the old, it will be, "OK, let's put that aside. Let's look at it completely new." So it's like you're wiping the slate clean and you're creating a whole new design.

And after the whole new design is created completely that has none of the old, if there's a bridging that's required at this point in time between one and the other, so you create a bridge but it's a temporary bridge. And the bridge is actually very fluid and will lead you to the new creation.

And the new creation, of course, is going to be fluid because it's going to continue to develop and expand anyway.

And that's how it's created. And this is where we're stepping into...to be in that modality.

Because, right now, anytime there's a change, there's always a dragging in of the old. And not only do we drag in the old, but we get into the fear state where basically we're afraid to let go of what we currently have. And this is one of the big stale points that has occurred.

Because we know, we feel it. Most people know...somehow, to some degree, and may not be able to articulate it or formulate it clearly in their minds, but deep inside they know that this change needs to happen, that we are ready for it and how do we create it.

But then there's the other part that it's just hanging on for dear life because that's all it knows. That's how it's been programmed. It's like going to a little robot and saying, "I want you to do this," and it turns around and says, "I am not programmed to do that," or something of that nature. "That does not compute," or something...and it will not be able to do it. So that's kind of the part that's happening now. But even that's breaking down so that program is expanding.

Antonia

Yes. And, as you said, most of the programs and ideas out there very much do come from an improvement over what already exists, as opposed to starting fresh and creating something completely new...complete creativity. And that's fine because that's from where we're growing. But we don't need a world with money, we don't need a world of government with the way it is. And we've talked about this before about how close to 90% of the jobs out there are completely unnecessary and just make-work projects.

So once you take all that away, then you can just create and not have to worry about survival, then we are creating, then we are living the human potential, then we are really in the human experience. And these energies are definitely here to shake all that up and help us work towards that.

In the beginning of this webcast, we talked about the energies coming in today to assist in a more expedient way to send home entities and fragmented souls. But can you please differentiate between "entities" and "fragmented souls"...how are they different and what are they?

Franco

With respect to fragmented souls...some of the souls basically have created such an attachment in the form. And this occurred with some energies that we had quite a few years ago, where it actually fragmented the souls in a sense where it was in limbo: it got caught partially here and partially in the non-form realm. It has no body so it is in the non-form realm, but in a sense the souls are connecting with other souls...another soul that is embodied...and that created a fragmented soul.

Sometimes the fragmented souls look like ghosts to some people because they will hang around where they lived most of their lives or a place where they felt that they didn't want to let go.

It's kind of hard to explain in the sense of how it works...but they left a part of them feeling that they need...that soul still wants to hang on there. Even though it's not able to keep the physicality. Because a lot of times it's beneficial that that physicality is unplugged because of the fact of not only that person's personal journey but the journeys of other souls with which they have made agreements. But then they want to linger and stay in that space, for example.

At other times, the fragmented soul will attached to a family member or somebody who has...not an identical signature, but maybe a similar signature, like someone from their soul family where they've created an arrangement so that part of their soul is now holding on and experiencing itself through the physicality, but another soul is actually operating it fully. In that case, it does communicate with the particular soul and asks to tune as part of the experience to provide for that fragmented soul.

The other part of it is in the non-form and it is also able to experience the non-form state. But because it's in a non-form and not complete because it is fragmented, it can't move on.

That's why when you go to release them, that fragmented soul becomes whole again...now I'm not talking about "unified" where the two halves of a soul reunite...but it becomes whole again in the non-form and then it goes through the preparation where it chooses to reincarnate in another body or do something else...either on this planet or some other planet...or it may remain in non-form. But it's not fragmented. So it's not like it's in two places at the same time.

When we're talking "entities," that's hard to explain too, in a sense, because...again...there's no soul involved in that. It's basically just a pocket of energy with a certain level of consciousness. And that consciousness is really a pocket of energy that actually stays in...and most entities that exist are lower-vibrating. And these are pockets of consciousness that were left behind by physicalities when the soul left. So the body checked out and then it created this energy or this consciousness within the physicality where it resided, and that consciousness, because of its low vibration, created this pocket of energy and consciousness that had its own level of consciousness and its own drive mechanism.

So when these entities need to remain...because it can't remain unless it's fed...because most of them operate in a low frequency, it will attach itself to people who are of low vibration and can attach to animals that vibrate a certain low frequency. Animals will have a tendency to vibrate lower frequencies if surrounded by humanity or in some way are in areas where humanity's energy affects them. Because they are a representative and they usually tune themselves to maintain a certain energy or frequency to support whoever they are with or whatever area that they are in. So entities can attached to animals. But, in most cases, they prefer humans. So it will do that or hold on to the energies of certain areas and so on.

For example, if you have an area in the city where there's a lot of low-vibrating energies like an area where it's not of high vibration, it would hover in that area and then it would embody whatever's around.

So it's really a pocket of energy with a consciousness that remains behind.

And they have a tendency to bind to each other. So you can have more than one entity binding and creating...so there may be two that...not so much collide...but they merge...and that creates a much stronger entity.

A lot of the entities were also created through every intense...and this is one of the things...intense exit points where some human or humans that have gone into a war state or got killed during a war or something of that nature...or through terror or something of that nature...then it creates this entity, this consciousness that remains...and a soul surrounds it and so forth.

So a lot of that was created through the polarized world. In a non-polarized world they do not exist because it actually updates itself quickly.

So what's happening when you say "the entities go back" it basically goes back to the Whole consciousness. And then, in a sense, it gets updated...because, remember, Source consciousness itself is Everything That Is. So when it merges, it takes all of it, all of the experiences and all of the energies and then it creates a new form of energy that it can vary.

So when you say you are "sending it back," basically it just goes back to get the rest of its frequency, its Light, or whatever you want to call it...it's just a higher consciousness. And then it no longer needs to play in that lower state and so it won't stay on the planet to feed.

And not only feed but also, if you notice, a lot of times when entities do attach to people they have a tendency to sometimes show signs where they switch from being one type of person to another. And I don't mean a type of person. But it could be someone who is sort of depressed and then all of a sudden they can become very angry or step into someone who is so-so in their state, but then they can change their personality. And that's when that entity, that consciousness, with all the programs that it carried before, embodies and needs to stimulate the person or whatever physicality that it plays with...to stimulate them to be in a state of low vibration in order that they can actually feed.

And when I say "feed" it means that it's just to support their own energy...they get re-charged, in a sense. It's not like it has to eat, type of thing, but it has to feel that it can re-charge itself so that it can sustain itself.

Now a lot of times if they are in a lot of areas where the vibration is low, it will go around and stimulate various people. So all of a sudden people get in a fight or whatever to host the area. And they actually work in groups too...and that's why sometimes you'll have several. But what happens is that they work together to stimulate a low vibration in a certain area where there are already people who are vibrating low so that they actually host it there; they have enough juice to continue to participate and they have their own little fun with that.

In saying all of that...and this is kind of part of what's happening...a lot of them are being returned and they are going back, so that they no longer take that form and that consciousness is no longer isolated and doesn't have to play in a low vibration. They basically go from being polarized to a wholistic spectrum of vibration where they no longer play that.

At the same time, however, we don't have to get into the state of fear (laughs) because if go into a state of fear all we're doing is just creating the environment for them.

But, at this point in time, they've played a role. The only reason they've existed...because you might say, "Well, they are feeding off humanity and low vibration." If you had to look at the bigger picture of it with a higher understanding...while it's doing whatever it's doing...Remember, this is all perfect...this is why the Oneness thing really takes in the big picture...because it serves, in a sense.

Even an entity playing out any role in, say, a community or an area or on an individual basis or even in a group...bars and stuff...and they hang around bars...and, believe it or not, they hang around churches too (laughs) because people who walk in there can be of very low vibration... and I'm not taking a bite out of them, as you know, because I've walked in some churches before and you can see the entities all over the place...but, anyway, they go to where there are people in a lower state of vibration. And people could take it home too, in a sense, because it could follow them going into a home or whatever.

But when we're looking at it, that role that they're playing where they are coming in and they are, say, attaching to an individual or to an area...it only accentuates the polarity, it only accentuates dis-empowerment, it only accentuates the lower vibration for that particular person in order that that person can get as much out of that lower vibration as possible. So that eventually it is no longer required and it creates a change within themselves.

So it is helping. And this is the reason that it's still there. It's changing now...but, at the same time, it has maintained.

There's nothing that exists that in some way does not serve. Even with the stuff that's happening on the corruption side or whatever it is that they call that, it still serves. Everything serves because there is still polarity. But polarity is something we're done with, but the polarity is also something we're completing, so we still rely on that.

Now, you have to understand, there are souls that are done in the polarity world but are still part and parcel of the polarity world. They may not want to be playing with it any longer, however, because we are all in this together as One, they are still, at the soul level, very peaceful with the whole idea of, "Well, OK, we'll stay in the polarity world." They may not play it but they are surrounded by it and they may be affected to some degree by polarity, but the polarity will not shift their energy that much or not at all...so that they actually create an opening for the other souls anyways. Because that's how they resolve their polarity part.

So it doesn't matter if somebody says, "Well, I did all my stuff but I'm still surrounded by a world that still has these polarities." Well, yes, and you are participating only to the degree that it serves not only you but it serves many other aspects of you. So that's kind of what's happening in that regard.

And this is one of the interesting things...the fragmented souls are the less-evolved souls because a more evolved soul would never choose and would never get caught in that.

But why it appeals to the lower-vibrating soul is because they have enough veils and they have enough inference from past experiences...because the soul keeps a record of all experiences. So if it has had many, many experiences of very lower vibration and it hasn't been able to step out of it, then the soul will still vibrate at that frequency and will not be able to, in one way or another, so easily change from one state to the other. So that's when it would fragment itself...because it can't let go.

Because most people think that the soul is always advancing. Yes, in its pristine state and in its state of its creation or essence, it is Source Itself. However, it has purposely covered all its accessibility to start off with. But then, as you are going through the enlightenment process, or evolution if you want to call it that, then the veils come off and you are able to access more of that. But until then, again, at some point or another, you are affected by your experiences that you may have had.

For example, if you had multiple lives where you played the polarity role very intensely and left imprints that were not completed, then, of course, you have a tendency to operate in a less conscious state because the souls has not yet evolved enough...hasn't been able to remove enough veils and access that higher consciousness...yet.

They all do. Eventually every single soul...no matter what...will go back to its Source state, regardless.

And the intention is, at this point in time for the majority of them, within a thousand years, to achieve that full enlightened state...if all the plans work as designed.

It's hard to explain about these fragmented soul and entity energies, but hopefully I managed to give you some clarity.

Antonia

Yes. Because often that comes up in conversations so it's nice to have a bit better understanding about it. Especially when we talk about the energies today.

So just a reminder that for anybody experiencing...sometimes when entities are around you will go through drastic mood changes...like being happy one minute and then you're just miserable (laughs) and you don't know why. And that's usually an indication that there's an entity present in some form or other.

So just a reminder that on the Masterpiece Life website, under "Clearings and Activations" there's an Entity Clearing that we did about two years ago, but it is still extremely powerful. Whenever Franco and I go and check in and do it we always make sure that the frequencies...in actually all the Clearings that we've done throughout the years...that they are always updated automatically...meaning that the vibration of them changes automatically with the needs of humanity.

So if you do find yourself in a weird state, then please do use the Fear & Entity Clearing because it's very powerful.

Franco

Yes, the one thing I wanted to say about that...that Meditation/Clearing that we've done does remove entities but it won't guarantee that you won't have any others come along.

And I just want to clarify that, because, in a sense, the more work you do on yourself and the vibration increases...so that means that you do other forms of Clearings and you work on letting go of all the stuff that lowers your state of being, your vibration, then you're not appealing to...all of a sudden you don't have the frequency that other entities that may be floating around may want to attach to you or be able to participate with you...because you can no longer host them because you are no longer in that frequency.

So this is why doing different programs and also working on yourself basically, I mean through life, and letting go of anything that lowers your vibration, lowers your state of consciousness or, in a sense, triggers you...that's probably the easiest way to look at it, because that's kind of what we're doing is clearing out all those other programs. So if you don't go into that lower state of being and you work on anything and everything that clears you from that, then basically you are no longer a fuel source, you are no longer something from which they can feed. And there's going to be no interest whatsoever. And it doesn't matter if you do or don't...you're not going to be saying, "Yeah, I'm ready. If you want to feed off here, come over here," type of thing. They won't bother you at all.

And eventually this won't be the case any longer because as the vibration is increasing it is clearing it all up.

Basically, at this point in time, in most cases by the time we get to the end of this year and going into 2015 it would be very difficult to have any entities still on the planet...or even fragmented souls...because a lot of them will have been so exposed to energies and the collective consciousness and the vibration of the collective will have increased so much that it would not host them in their original state and then they will transform.

And the moment they transform they usually unify and go back into a state of readiness to participate in either the whole cluster of energy...as entities would because they are pockets of restricted consciousness that actually become One with everything and then of course its vibration rises and it's no longer a pocket because it gets absorbed into the Whole.

It's like you take a drop of water, and this drop of water wherever it goes it has a certain different frequency in it, but the moment that the drop of water is no longer hosted it has to go back to the ocean. And when it goes back to the ocean it becomes part of the ocean. And then it is the residing energy of the whole ocean that will become part of that drop of water. So the drop will not see itself as separate any longer. It will be One with that whole ocean...and it will vibrate the same frequency.

Antonia

Yes. And also we should differentiate between these and guides. Because often guides can have had a human experience on Earth...but a guide is not an entity or a fragmented soul; they are a consciousness that has made a complete transition but can communicate to assist. But they do not attached themselves to humans as either an entity or a fragmented soul would. They can be there of assistance.

Sometimes people, think, "Oh, it's my guides that are always around me." Well, guides and entities are very different pockets of energy, of consciousness.

Franco

Yes, and guides are there for that purpose...they will guide but they will never remove you from any particular experience.

If there's a particular experience that your soul needs to have play out so that you can have a transformation, it will no longer...and this has happened for some time now...they will no longer step in and alter the experience. They will continue to share certain levels of wisdom or whatever it is to facilitate you to come to your own realizations, to create your own shift.

Sometimes we have reliance on our guides and that has become a very dis-empowering state. And this is why this change occurred several years back because they found that they were slowing down the progress.

And they will still do it today...and in a lot of cases, if you're coming in...and we'll put the cards on the table here...what's happens is that if you are going in in desperation expecting your guides to be there for you all the time to give you the solution and you are coming in from a dis-empowered state, you are now open for entities, you are now open to other non-form states of lower consciousness that are still floating around that will give you sort of skewed information or guide you in a certain way that may not be as conducive for you.

Now when I say that, that's not completely accurate...because it is always conducive no matter what (laughs) because if you need to have a negative or intense experience of one direction versus the other, then it serves regardless. A lot of times people dis-empower themselves and they like to channel, ask or bring in their guides...

When you are going to your guides, you say, "OK, I don't have the clarity at this point in time. Can you share something that will stimulate my own clarity, that will assist me in one way or another?" Rather than, "Give me the answer! Guide me in all directions." Because usually it's the soul that needs to guide you because it takes you down the path.

Of course, when you ask for guidance and you are given some guidance and you go down this blind alley of some sort that gives you an intense experience that you might deem negative...and in most cases, it can look like it...and then you think, "Well, either my guide didn't guide me or I've been misguided," or something of that nature. But that's the path you needed to take so that you could not only empower yourself but also notice any old programs that may have still been active. And so you needed to have that experience.

So a guide is not there to make your life smooth; it is to facilitate your advancement and growth...and that could be in any direction.

But if you're going in in desperation, then you may have something less than what you would like. But, again, that is still perfect in that experience because you will always have only whatever you need anyways.

So that's a subject we could almost do by itself! There are a lot of variations.

And this is where you have to tune in and really understand that we're here...we're working together...but, really, each of us is doing our own individual work even though we are sharing and connecting with other aspects of ourselves.

You have to understand...the same way you work with anybody on the planet, the guides are the same way. It's like anything.

Even in my own journey when I had lack of access to 80% of my consciousness...I have two guides...and one in particular...many times when I was trying to get a certain level of clarity in something that I had only part of the clarity and I couldn't access the rest of it...it still didn't give me the answers because it wanted me to use my own way of maneuvering through it...because that was where the growth was.

And it wasn't so much "growth" in the sense of growing and expanding the soul, that growth was to have a better understanding of the human experience and how to navigate through the human experience in that regard.

But my guide was still there...although sometimes you feel that they are not there, but they are and they may just not be ready to jump in because...

It's like a parent. If a child is learning to walk, you're going to be there to say, "OK, take another step," and so forth. But you're not going to pick them up and carry them because the moment you do that or try to move their legs for them, they are never going to feel that they can do it themselves and then a dependency is created. And that's the last thing you want to do.

And that has happened! That has happened for many, many years where there was a sense of dependency. It was when the energies were a certain way and there wasn't as much urgency as there is now...but this shifted quite a few years ago...close to a decade ago...where now it's, "Hands off! Little tidbits, yes, but we're not here to carry anybody."

Of course if it's something that's conducive to assist you and it's not going to impede or interfere with your growth, then, yes, of course they are going to participate in something of that nature. Because they are learning from the obligation too.

Guides may have been on the planet at some point (or not) or may have been on other planets, and so forth. And they can see the bigger picture because they are like the people in the audience watching the game and they can see all the players...while when you are on the field you don't always have a good grasp of what any of the other players are planning. So guides have a bigger view.

But, at the same time, they are not going to tell you every step to take. They are going to say, "OK. you have certain things coming up and what would you want to do with this?"

Which actually kind of ties in to this feeling of confusion that people are feeling right now. Because humanity does feel like it's confused...almost like a little bit stuck...trying to move forward but not moving forward a lot. And all these entities being stirred up right now. So that's all kind of playing into kind of like this frozen state, which the energies are coming in to assist in shaking up.

So now why don't we set the groundwork for why confusion is coming up for humanity right now.

Franco

Part of the confusion is that it's part of the stalled state. There's many, many people that are seeing a lot of progress that's going on in the sense of discovery and unveiling a lot of the things that are playing out...not only in our systems, institutions, governments, you name it, but also in a lot of levels in your life. So there's much coming up to the surface.

Then there's the aspect that people taking steps in some cases and going down a certain path and then they realize that they are not only having resistance, but it almost seems like it's futile...like they are banging their heads against a brick wall.

And there's also a lot of confusion occurring in the sense where there's change...and there's change within themselves. And a lot of times with change it creates confusion because the mind is used to a certain pattern, a certain program. And even though the mind likes change and exploration and so forth, it wants it in a controlled environment...in an environment that it can grasp.

Plus the energies and the frequencies because they are changing, our environment and the energies around us are becoming very, very unfamiliar. Many of you at this point in time may be feeling that you are doing your regular thing, you're getting up every day and playing whatever role you are playing, but you look around at the world and everywhere that you are at this point in time is starting to feel very, very uncomfortable. So it's creating confusion because, in a sense, you start to feel this heavy, thick energy and it's almost like, "What's happening?" Especially because things have kind of been stalled to a certain degree. So it's creating that level of confusion. It's like you know that things are moving, or need to be moving, and there are signs that things are moving...

And the other part of confusion that comes in is that we are working on various things on ourselves, but as much as we are doing, there is still more coming up or there are things coming up within ourselves that are coming up where it doesn't even make any sense because it doesn't relate to anything that you've experienced in this lifetime. And in many cases, it's because we are streaming stuff from past lives because the soul is streaming livestream to the mind and creating realities within yourself, and you didn't experience that in this lifetime.

But the mind doesn't have a very good way of understanding that because the mind was not involved in a past life. It's really the soul that has had the multitudes of lives. And the mind, even the sub-conscious mind basically has a record of this experience only. It may also include experiences that you have had in the etheric realm...meaning that you've gone into your dream state or something of that nature and you may have had experiences there and you might have some access to that and it has some memory of that.

But when you're streaming old emotions or bringing up old programs...especially if it's something that you've experienced in a past life...the mind doesn't know what to do with it. So in a sense it creates more confusion. Which is still a very positive thing because confusion equates to change and stimulates change. But that confusion is occurring.

So the confusion is, "OK, we are in 2014 too," ...and that's the other part of it..."and we were expecting bigger changes, we were expecting more movement and so forth. Why is it not happening and why does it feel this way?"

So there are multitudes of levels of confusion.

Now, you have to understand, even if the mind is getting confused, the soul is basically not confused; it is trying to do the best it can do in allowing us to change. So a tug-of-war is kind of occurring, for lack of a better word...not that there's actually a tug-of-war, but it may feel that way. There's actually a push, push, push from the soul, "Let's move forward and do whatever we need to do." And the mind is trying to grasp everything and use its own programs that it's used to...specifically the ego mind which has a very specific program in itself...and that's how confusion is being created.

So right now, the reason that we got into this confusion is because, in a sense, we are getting into a deeper state of confusion. You can feel the energy around it.

I have noticed that whenever I am connecting to people and talking to them, working with them or whatever we are doing...even in a non-form state...that confusion comes up. It's almost like this topic that keeps coming up and it's like, "Well, I'm doing what I'm doing, but I'm confused about where we're going, what's happening..."

And this is the other part of the confusion. Because we're stepping into this unknown. And we're getting more and more into the unknown. And the mind doesn't really do very well with the unknown. Like I said, the mind likes to have things in a controlled environment where it's always one step ahead and it can monitor itself through it and be able to navigate it.

But we are stepping into the unknown because everything that is being created is completely new and is being streamed by your soul. But it's also being streamed right now.

You have to understand...and I might as well throw this in here...we will expand upon it in future talks...but at this point in time the Oneness consciousness has activated another part of it. It's not only the soul that's navigating us, we are also now being stimulated very closely...which wasn't so much the case before...it always played a role but it's now playing much more...is the collective souls. So basically we are looking at our over-souls. We are looking at our over-souls, our family souls...

Because the family souls right now are relying on each other. So there's a lot of communication going on. So at the soul level you are not isolated, in a sense of saying, "OK, I'm on my path." The soul is actually being stimulated and assisted in a way by its family soul with which it has had multitudes of lives which you could call soul-mates in one sense but it is also soul families. But it's also the over-soul which is a cluster of the first or second cluster of souls...so it's like the nucleus of that soul...it's a compilation of all of them.

So there's communication going back and forth there. So it's streaming a lot of that.

So when it's streaming it, even the soul itself may not have streamed a certain pattern of frequency, consciousness or even a path that would allow it to shift. And now that it's picking up something from the other resources, it is now going into an area where it has never gone to before.

So there's another level of push. So the mind actually feels much more confused.

So at this point in time confusion is a good marker that there's progress going on and that the barriers are being broken down.

So, in a sense, it is a matter of letting go (laughs) of having things a certain way.

The mind will tend to want it this way, the ego tends to want it this way.

Because the ego likes to use the past. It likes to use a reference point from the past to monitor and understand the future. And when I say "future" it's only a moment...but in the moment you are in a particular state, so you're always referring back to its history books, or what we could call past experiences to see, "How does this relate? Have we had this before?" And if we haven't, then of course it's going to create uncomfortableness because it goes into a state of, "I am not familiar with this. I don't know how to cope with it." And then it starts to react. And then confusion starts to come into play.

So these are some of the things going on, so the confusion level has increased. It's increased because of the push and also because of rigidity, the fact that we are now getting many more sources of input from the collective energy, and confusion is also created...and I haven't covered that part...because there's so much input and energy coming onto the planet, much more consciousness coming onto the planet...and the mind is still going through the process of deciphering it and being able to use it. So while it's doing that it's creating confusion.

It's like someone getting a lot of new information that they are not used to and then they start getting confused. For example, somebody asks for an explanation on a particular subject and while it's being explained, until they can actually grasp it and reflect on it and be able to put it together in their minds, they may feel confused and it may make no sense. And this is kind of what we're feeling. Part of the confusion is that it doesn't make any sense. In actual fact, it is only expanding your mind and it is only going through that process aspect of it.

Now the other thing is that, it's going through the process but then somebody says, "Well, how long will it take to process?" (laughs) The key to understand here is that it's not a process that is like one step.

For example, you have one input that comes through, the mind is pushed to the max trying to sort this all out, trying to get a good grasp of what's going on...so it's sorting things out per se. So while you're starting to get a grasp of it, guess what happens? Another impulse of consciousness comes in and creates more scrambling and then stretches the mind even more.

It's like this. It's like you're going to the gym and you're lifting weights. At first it's very difficult and you feel like you can't do it, but eventually your muscles get stronger and you start moving the weight and it's like, "Ahhh. I'm getting it! I'm starting to make progress here." And then somebody just puts on more weights. And now are you back to the same state where you are struggling. You are stronger, of course, and you are much more expanded. But, again, it's another challenge because you've just added on more weights.

Except in this case, you've added on more consciousness, you've added more expansion...and the mind has to adapt to it. And this is why a lot of confusion is happening.

And, of course, the other part of the confusion is that there's a lot of information coming through from a lot of different sources. And if you're listening to a lot of the stuff that's going out there, you're going to get a lot of different predictions about this or that and whatever else is coming through...which creates more confusion. Because, in a sense, if we go buy everything and we can't grasp how it all fits in and use our mind with it, then, of course, it creates more confusion.

Which is not a negative, because it tends to break that path that we need to have outside sources always clarifying things for us or telling us exactly how it is. And then we are able to tune into ourselves a little more.

And it also strengthens the muscle of discernment where you basically now feel what part of it is beneficial for you and what part isn't. Or what part you need and don't need. Rather than going into, "OK, whatever it is, I'm going to buy the package that's being promoted here," or something that is being shared, instead you go inside and it's more like, "OK, this resonates for me."

And, you have to understand, too, that resonance changes. As weird as that may sound, what resonates with you today may not resonate with you tomorrow.

And so you say, "What happened? If it's not accurate, then why did I resonate with it and was gung-ho with it before, and now I'm not anymore and now something else resonates with me?" It's because that particular resonance came into place because you needed that particular bit of knowledge or guidance or information...or whatever you want to call it...to be part of your experience to project along the way. But then, at some point in time, that no longer served and even though that maybe was not as accurate or brought a certain experience for you, it was still perfect for you to have that experience. But now you're going to another level where that no longer serves, something else resonates with you and, then of course, you say, "OK, now this resonates." And then you adopt that part of it, you go down that path, you expand and grow within there and guess what? At some point that may not resonate either.

Now, true, true, full and complete information will resonate all the time...and not only will resonate but will continue to grow on that.

I'm not saying that everything that resonates or doesn't resonate...I'm just saying that certain things may resonate and then they may not...just so you understand that part of it. But for certain things when you are getting the full information coming from a higher source then, at that point in time, it will resonate.

But the resonation and what resonates with you is really to stimulate your own. Because that's what it's really about. It's basically a note of familiarity of your own knowing. It's not that the information is being shared so that you're learning something; in a way you are stimulating that part of you of knowing. We are all connected as One, but each of us has a restriction as to our capability as to what we can access. So you can have different experiences to create variety, but then eventually those varieties will start to shift along the way. And that's what we're doing.

So that's where all the confusion is coming from.

So it became very, very important for us to break through the confusion and to go into flow...to go into fluidity...and Oneness.

Because everything that's playing out is working for the Whole. All of it is One beautiful Unit, one beautiful dance that's playing out at this time.

And the confusion aspect of it is for us to transition or shift from a state of confusion to a connecting to the Whole, connecting to the Oneness...and also, at this point in time, going into fluidity.

Because we are in a state of change right now. And change is rampant. And the changes are to such degrees...and I'm not saying that everything is exactly the same...but the changes are happening so quickly, and the advancements that are being made are so incredible that the mind is being stretched and pushed to the max. Our collective consciousness is being stretched. And, you have to understand, that you are also interconnected with all the beautiful clusters of souls that could be your family, could be your friends and so forth. So, in a sense, things are going to change in that regard.

You may be changing and others may not be changing at the same pace, so people will come and go in your life. There may be situations where there will be strained relations between certain people you are connecting with because at that point in time you are changing at different rates, have different levels of consciousness, expressions and experiences. So all of a sudden it may feel uncomfortable and you're not understanding why. But, in a sense, you need to flow with things. People come and go, you allow your consciousness to continue to expand and play with whatever presents for you, use your own internal guidance, and just flow with it.

We're all One and we are all shifting together. We are all doing our part...all doing our part...and all of our parts are slightly different from one another. And this is the way it's been designed so that we have multitudes and multitudes of different experiences coming from all different angles and all different states of consciousness...and, again, it's one beautiful dance that we are creating one Whole Unit of movement at this point in time.

In the meditation tonight, we are going to connect so that, in a sense, we are creating a shift from a confusion to a Oneness of fluidity.

"Oneness" meaning you are connecting to the Whole so that we do not feel isolated, first and foremost. We feel that we are part of that ocean. We're not that isolated droplet...even though we have a uniqueness within that droplet. And that's purposely designed because each of us is a unique drop within the ocean. So we are connecting to the ocean so that we are much more open to the changes at the ocean level while still having a certain level of uniqueness...because that's what we here about...to have that uniqueness experience...but also flow with things...just to be in that flow and take down the rest of the rigidity that we've held. And rigidity, again, is an old program where we have to have things a certain way or have to have security or something of that nature where we're not open.

Fluidity scares a lot of people (laughs)...the old program, the mind, the ego doesn't like fluidity because it really doesn't like change. But our natural state is fluidity, our natural state is change. The mind has not been exposed to that to any degree for such a long period of time because you have to take it...

A child coming onto the planet is very fluid...right from the very beginning...is very fluid. It doesn't adhere to anything. It does become rigid as a result of the programs to which it is exposed. A child wants to play, wants to experience, wants to have no limits or barriers or anything of that nature. But then they go through the parental guidance and then they go through schooling and then they go through media molding and so forth and they are all programmed to think the same, act the same and all stay within the confines of what is acceptable and not acceptable, right/wrong, good/bad or anything of that nature, what you can or cannot do. And, of course, fluidity starts to become non-existent in their experience. So, at this point in time, we are breaking down those molds, those barriers that were put in and that we have taken on. There was a servitude to it, it was perfect so it's not to judge it or anything of that nature.

But, at the same time, change is change and the time has now come...and we're ready for it.

We're signed up for it...we're here for it...so let's go for it!

Antonia

Absolutely!

And I think also that with tonight's Clearing...and we've talked about this briefly before...as you're getting this insight when you're doing the Clearing, participate not as the person in a body, but rather participate more as the soul that is sharing with humanity. So that then the Clearing is not just on the individual level but rather is really much more on the human level and more. Because as we have talked about in previous calls the shift that humanity is experiencing is that not just humanity is going through it, but rather we are all going into Oneness...including all our brother/sister planets. So just that little point.

Franco

Yes. And with the Meditation/Clearing, it is not specifically designed for individuals. It is for the individual because, of course, they are participating and so forth, but, at the same time...It has become much more One, so we are bringing in...

When we are connecting in the meditation, we are connecting with many, many souls at the same time. And the work is being done to shift the collective consciousness and all the energy patterns.

Because when we're doing this, we're harnessing the new frequencies coming through and we're harnessing the new consciousness. So it is through us that we are doing this, and we are now creating this alteration on an individual basis, on a global basis, on a galactic basis and on a universal basis.

That's why this Oneness is so key right now...because that's what it is. So anything that you do for yourself or as a group or whatever it is, it's affecting the whole.

So when we're doing this Meditation/Activation, you really open yourself up and just let it be.

Because the beauty of this is that when we're doing it, there's a sharing that's goes on, a sharing of consciousness, a sharing of vibration/frequency, a sharing of expandedness that occurs at the same time. Because everybody has had difference experiences so it's no longer "my experience and it's limited to my experience and I'm just going to take in what's being streamed." Now you are connecting to the pool and you're taking in everything. So your resources have expanded. But as you are doing your work, you are actually feeding back into the resources so that other aspects of yourself are affected by it in a positive way.

Yes. And more and more as you are Clearing yourself and you become aware of something, then that's exactly what you're doing. This is no longer an individual experience. It is geared to all experiences and much more on the collective.
