

YOUR ROLE IN THE ONGOING UNFOLDMENTS Q & A

Tonight's call is designed specifically to assist you in looking at with what's happening with the radiation from Japan, the effects on the West Coast, the developments around what's happening in Syria, the cabal's shield is breaking down, world governments and what's happening with money, what's happening with all the channellings from all the different places...and, most importantly, how to stay centered in love no matter what else happens or is revealed. Because there is a lot more yet to come to light. So it is important to remember to stay centered in love and to not wait for "saviours" to come. This is really us doing it all together, so we've all got to do this together.

Franco

Yes. Thank you for arranging the call for tonight. It wasn't until someone mentioned it but we are doing this call not only actually on 9/11, but also from 9:00 to 11:00 (laughs). And it wasn't done on purpose, it just happened to work out that way. But, of course, there is a perfection in everything.

Actually, energetically it does carry a powerful energy because of certain activations that had occurred some time ago and because of the consciousness of people still reminiscing those times and all the different stories and different energies that are carried around what happened and didn't happen and all that stuff. So to have this conversation tonight and this energetic exchange...and expansion, actually...will help break down some of those older kinetic energies that were locked in. And when people are going back in and remembering what's happened, then, of course, by making a change in the energy itself, it is not going to have the same impact and it takes a different form. So, instead of seeing it as something that was horrible...because people look at it as horrible because there was no truth in what was said and what was done and what really unfolded, but then it was also horrible because there was also all this destruction of life and all of that.

But, again, regardless, anything that happens no matter how we interpret it as being “good,” “bad,” or whatever are all experiences and opportunities for us to advance. And everything is really assisting us in one way or another.

We are in a playground. And the playground is designed for us to really accentuate, expand and really become our True Essence through it...thorough all the polarities and everything. It is absolutely amazing. And that's what we're doing. We are shifting all of that so that we can take part in re-constructing...or basically re-expanding and re-constructing the human experience and transforming our world that we use as our playground.

And we are not only transforming it but we are also opening it up so that we all can play with the same level of accessibility and the same level of freedom to create what we choose to create in our reality.

Antonia

Yes. And we keep saying “we.” And it really is “WE.” We as the mass consciousness are really doing this together. As Franco said, it's our journey.

Because of past agreements, humanity was built up with hierarchies with some subordinates and some above. But you will find that more and more it will be not be like this. So when we say “we,” it really is all of us moving together. And it's about dissolving the hierarchies and everything else.

So for everybody listening...we didn't really plan to do a special call for 9/11, it's just that this date worked best for us and the energies were the best for it...and here we are.

But whenever you are looking at whatever's coming up and whenever we say, “WE are doing this together,” and then you look at stuff like lawyers and judges and police and governments and Presidents and Popes and so forth...it is WE. And that WE includes “them.” Because we are all part of humanity and we all have just been playing roles. We all agreed to sign up for these roles and we are playing these roles.

And a really useful thing to do is when you think of the police and the military and governments and Popes and whatever supposedly position of authority...and if you think of them as “we moving together,” first notice the thought or emotion that comes up when you think of “them” and including them as “we.”

Because we had it drilled into us to fear and to be obedient to those in authority, that's just the result of years of training and belief systems.

And often when people hear “we,” they think that it includes only those in the so-called “truth movement” or “we’ in the “spiritual movement.” But it's not. It's “we” as humanity. We are all doing this together. Whether we call somebody “good” or “bad” or whatever side you want to talk about...we are One. Period. We are all serving a purpose. We are all playing a role.

So a really useful thing is when we do talk about the “we,” and you include those that maybe you wouldn’t normally associate with that term, then notice your emotions and thoughts that come up within you. And set yourself to clear that.

Now Franco and I have created tools (i.e. Clearings, Activations, Q&A calls and so forth) which are all on the Masterpiece Life.com website and you may use whichever ones of those that you most align with. So when you have those things that you realize are most in your way of feeling unconditional love for those people, then you can use those tools to clear yourself of that.

And when you do that, you are clearing not only yourself but also all of humanity.

There’s a lot of energy coming in in October 2013 and February 2014 and it will shake things up more and there will be a lot more truth coming out. And sometimes you can get lost in all the negativity that’s going to be exposed (laughs). I guess that’s one way of saying it.

In the meantime, for our call tonight, why don’t we start with the issue of Japan and the radiation contamination of the West Coast of North America? And, really, we can broaden this out...we have actually been contaminating our planet in various ways for the last couple of hundred thousand years, really.

But what’s most in the media...and when I say “media” I must confess...I do not listen to the mainstream media. My media is a couple of sites that I plug into for information and that send me updates. But I’m sure you all know about when the tsunami hit Japan and caused the radiation leak at the nuclear power plant there. And, of course, the leaks never stopped because they have been continuously leaking radiation into the ocean ever since that happened. And most of the Pacific coastline has been contaminated. Including, unfortunately, not only the sea life in the Pacific but also it has contaminated the water supplies all along the western coast of the U.S. There is a high level of contamination showing up in, for example, cow’s milk...which means that it’s in the water, it’s in the grass...

So why don’t we look at that first, and how this plays into us moving forward.

Franco

Well, let’s set some foundations around that first so that we have a clearer understanding. What we’re going through with this major, major transformation is actually superseding much of our old ways of operating and belief systems.

For example, even when we’re talking about contaminations and things like that, each end every time the planet has been exposed to certain elements that would have caused a malfunction or imbalance in the human experience or the animal experience, nature and so forth...as these frequencies on the planet have changed...each time it was re-designed and re-located and whatever else has occurred with planet Earth and, of course, with other planets too...but whatever was a contaminant at one point in time does get neutralized and becomes part and parcel of the new creation of the planet itself. So what would have wiped out say, even dinosaurs or wiped out certain events or certain other life forms on the planet previously, have always gone through kind of a re-balance or restoration and re-unification of having everything go back into supporting the new life forms that come onto the planet.

And this is what's happening now too. Like you were saying, Antonia, we have been exposed to a huge amount of contamination from a lot of different fronts, and the radiation from the nuclear station in Japan is only a part of what has been released over the years from various sources such as weaponry and other facilities that have utilized that as an energy source. Plus, of course, we are all well aware of chemicals and other forms that have been used.

Now we can look at all of that and say, "Well, here we are. We have now created such a horrendous state of being on the planet that we don't have a chance to make it through this and things are just going to get worse." That is part of the old consciousness, the old energies that we were before...the old frequency that we were dealing with.

Now to bring it back specifically to the leak at the nuclear station in Japan, yes, it has been leaking there and it has been leaking at full force for the longest time. There is a tremendous amount of radiation that has been released into the water and has also been airborne and also has travelled quite a distance in all directions. So there has been a lot of that exposed.

Now if we look at it in the human form in our old consciousness, then we would have a heck of a mess to clean up and how do we even do it because we don't seem to have a solution. Now there's two parts to that.

The first part is that nothing happens just for the sake of it happening by accident. So the scenario that played out with the Fukushima plant has had an unfoldment that was created. Now as much as we could turn around and say, "Well, there was a darker force that was involved to some degree with that, there was also the oversight from the people who put it together, there was influence energetically from different modalities that we've used to create harm on the planet, and so forth. All of these forces were put in place to make it all happen plus the unfoldment that actually took place...all of it, if you really look at it, as horrible as it may look...in the grand scheme of things it was part and parcel of what needed to play out to bring things to another level of what you could call fear, darkness and so forth, to a level to actually induce transformation on the planet...transformation to humanity itself.

So as much as it played out...and even now as we're looking at it and seeing the amount of contamination and the amount of destruction that it's causing, it's actually creating a change energetically.

Now we can say that it's a horrible thing and if we had to look at it we could say, "It may...and will...in some way or another...create certain challenges for certain humans and certain parts of nature...as we've already seen occurring...and we're only seeing a very small amount of what is being released compared to what's really happening. But even in looking at all of that right now, for us to say, "OK. How do we clean up this mess and how do we survive through this?" is still looking at it in a very 3-D state. If we get into fear and are afraid of whatever we're going to be exposed to and how it's going to affect us, then, again, it's still a 3-D energy and frequency that we're playing with.

The way that all this changes in the way that it's played out in that scenario, is that, for now, what has played out up to this point is that certain corporations were put into place to clean up the mess and all they've done is, again, played out the hiding and not letting anybody know what was happening while they tried to figure out how to make it go away, sort of thing. But that's not possible anymore.

So it's not about blaming and figuring out who did what, and not about them not informing people in proper time and not taking proper steps or anything of that nature...as much as that may look like that at the surface, it was really to bring things to a head to see that we are no longer doing this individually. It's not about blaming and looking at the mess and saying, "Well, we have a mess now and somebody has to do something about it." So, really, it's to bring...as much as people don't see it that way most of the time...it's really to bring everyone together...in a very powerful way.

Because it is not a mess that belongs to just certain individuals or just certain people who has been put in power, it is an opportunity for us to come together and to pitch in together to find a solution.

But the solution is not so much a solution where we use the 3-D world. It is a matter of us coming together.

Because I can tell you right now, with the energies that are shifting on the planet, the effect of the radiation that is being released...the contamination that is being released is not taking as powerful a toll as it would have before.

And also the state of consciousness of people, the vibration of people, will not all be affected in the same form. Because, the thing is, whatever is being exposed right now, the effect will be personally applied by individuals who are wanting to use that experience and whatever unfolds with it, to either have a very intense experience to create a shift within themselves or to use it as a vehicle to leave the physical form.

But as we continue to move forward and the vibration of the planet changes further, and the consciousness of humanity changes and our vibration continues to rise, what happens is that we neutralize the contamination...the radiation and all the contamination that is being released will become inert...it will bring it back into a neutral state where it now becomes something that will become part of nature and support it. Because it will change.

As you have seen with many people who have done experiments where you are sending love or you are basically in a state of love in the environment, you actually change the molecular structure of things around you. Including Dr. Masaru Emoto who even did it with water where you could actually see how the water molecules transformed with the energy focused upon it. And they've actually gone to contaminated lakes and intentionally sent energy such as love to the water and reduced the contaminants and, actually, in some cases, made it drinkable. That's just a small scale of what we are capable of doing, and we are preparing ourselves to do that.

But we're not doing this because we "have to clean up a mess." We are just upgrading altogether. And along with that, we have the planet that is actually going to...with all that is there...is going to, in one way or another, become a host for us and will support us along the way.

Right now we are still playing with it. It's not that we are requiring it and using it as part of the duality, but all of these things that are playing out right now are still part of projecting a duality...to really wrap it up....to get it done.

So, in a sense, what we're looking at...even when we tie in what's happening with Syria and the potential Third World War and everything that's playing out, it's creating such a magnitude of polarity showing the dark aspect of humanity...which we can't judge because it is still part of our experience. It's still showing that part of us that has been projecting out so that we can get our fill...the amount we need from it so then we can learn from it and then make a shift and say, "We're not doing this anymore in this form."

And at that point we transform everything. And we're not only transforming the way we operate, we transform the energy we emit, we transform everything around us and the connection that we have. And we restore ourselves to our higher consciousness in a physicality. But we are also transforming the energies of everything that is within us that supports us completely. But as we are going through all of that transformation, we are also re-connecting with all levels of our own expansion...meaning all other Souls and everything on the planet.

And all of this is happening in such a powerful way where we are no longer seeing ourselves as isolated. We are bringing ourselves together as one unit.

It's like the body. It's made up of trillions and trillions of cells. And each cell is an individual cell which has a duty that it does. But each cell is working in harmony with the next cell. And all of the cells are working, in one way or another, for the whole which makes up the whole physicality, so that all of it becomes harmonized.

And this is what's giving us this opportunity right now. And I know that we have a huge history of different things that have happened either here or in the different Universes and Galaxies...and we can play with all of that and see how all of that has happened. But right now we are in a state where there is such a powerful empowerment where we actually dissolve all that we have taken on as polarity and have played with darker energies and so forth...which is basically just a lower consciousness state of being...and upgrading it completely. And even the timelines and everything else that we have...we are collapsing the timelines...all these false timelines that were put in...and we are transforming everything along the way.

We are in a position right now that has never been achieved before in creation...and we're talking hundreds and hundreds of millions of years...and it has never been achieved in the form that we have now.

Because you have to understand that Source Itself has expanded. And all the levels that we've played up to this point in time have really upgraded our way of playing and have really given us the opportunity to get to the point where this game that we've played up to now has served, but no longer needs to stay in that form because now we want to create something completely brand new.

And everything...right now even our timelines are not rigid anymore. Everything is changing...moment by moment...our individual timelines and our collective timelines. This is why it is so difficult to predict anything at this point, because we can see a multitude of probabilities and we can see the highest probability with anything, but everything is shifting moment by moment.

So with all the experiences we are having right now, we have the power to change it all.

But we don't do it in fear. We don't do it in a way that we feel compromised. When we are doing this, it is a re-empowerment...a re-empowerment of Who We Really Are in a physical form.

The physical form is just a vehicle. But it is a very powerful tool that we use. And the very reason that we are in this physicality right now is because we are using it as a tool. It is our vehicle. It is the way we express and experience our self as to how we create our realities within this realm of frequency on this planet.

And the planet is our vehicle too. It is our host that hosts us. It is our environment and it supports every part of us. And all of our realities are inter-laid with each one and allows each other to expand.

So we have been in a sort of a dream state where we thought that we were separated. But we've always been connected at all times. There's never been a dis-connect. But now we're bringing this consciousness together where we see ourselves as being connected, and where we make changes...and that's why I say "we" is because each individual Soul...like you were saying, Antonia...even the police, the military, the cabals and all these other role players are part and parcel of this. They are all part and parcel of it. It doesn't matter what role they are playing; if they are playing dark roles, light roles and so forth. Even if we're talking about beings from other planets, beings from other Universes, beings from different planets in our Galaxy...they are all the same, they are all playing roles, they are all interacting...and we are still connected to them.

Now, no matter what role they are playing, all are asking for upgrades. All of them want to be part and parcel of this transformation that's taking form. So even if they are playing a dark role, they are only playing it out to the last degree so that we can finally get our own power back and say, "OK, Great. We finally understand that we have the capability. We now want to re-activate this within ourselves and we now move forward. We are now choosing to no longer play the way we played before." And now all the role players, the ones who were playing the darker roles, the denser roles, the roles of authority or whatever else will finally be able to let go of that role in the same form and now they start to participate.

Because it's not about creating more separation. Because when we have separation we have judgment. We could turn around and say, "Well, look at all these despicable, horrible people and the horrible things they did. They should be punished, They should be wiped off the planet," and so forth. They are all Souls like us. All of them are at different levels of consciousness. All of them are choosing to move forward. It is through that embracing of all of it as players that we transform everything.

It's all about that part of it. It's transforming the Whole. It's not more isolation whatsoever.

And through that...and this is where Syria plays out...because right now the role players are trying to stimulate a war and the so-called authorities at the governmental levels are all flexing their muscles and so on...and, again, these are role players. But look at the people: they are not choosing to be part of this. More and more people are saying, "We want no part of this!" And as much as it may look like it could go into something, from the energies, the movement that's happening, the consciousness that's unfolding because of it...because people are being pushed to see the "insanity" ...and I'm using this word very loosely because it is just a word and I don't want to play the judgment game. It's actually not...it just looks "insane" to the mind...being the ego mind and saying, "Well, inasmuch as it's 'insane' that we're playing this game, this is how we are learning from it." And saying, "Look at what we are doing...again! Have we not grown up yet??? Are we still in that little playground, still being the bully and still choosing to fight with one another? Always feeling disconnected, always feeling unwhole, always feeling completely out of balance and out of peace?" Or do we turn around and say, "OK. We are choosing to come together to play together."

Because I can tell you right now: no one wants to have war. As much as the ego may be stimulated and the belief systems may be activated, this is just part of the process of what we're doing....and the Clearing aspect of things that we're experiencing with the last bit of darkness and polarities and so forth so that we can move forward. But every single Soul wants to experience peace. Every single Soul would like to go through the transformation, in a sense, where they could feel as One, where they could feel that connection, that unconditional Love that is their natural state...their neutrality and peace. They want to play with one another.

Every single Soul wants that.

No matter how you look at it.

Even the biggest bully always wants to play with love, always wants to experience that. It's whenever they feel isolated. But that was still part of an experience. There was no right or wrong, good or bad in anything that's playing out.

And as much as all the roles that have played out may have looked like evil, may have looked like separation and so forth...again, at the level of Creator Essence, at the level of a higher level of consciousness, you can see that it's just beauty expressed in a certain form which gives a certain experience. And that's all it is. So when you look at it that way, everything transforms along the way.

So all of these things that are playing out right now are part and parcel of the transformation that we're going through...the stuff that's coming up to the surface at the moment. There is all kinds of information now coming up to the surface about what's playing out about our systems, what's happening in different countries, what's happening with different organizations, institutions, how we are playing one role or another where we have all these concepts that we have "lack" and "disorder" and all these levels of deities or other control structures in place where we can't actually be ourselves. These are only playing out right now and being exposed right now...

And it's not about being exposed in a sense where we have to get angry. Because this is sometimes what happens with people...and a lot of people are looking at it that way. When they start seeing all the "corruption" that's happening...and we'll call it that for now because that's what people understand. Look at the corruption we have. We have corruption in the medical system, in the educational system, in the various religious affiliations, the monetary system, the governmental system...we have it in all these levels of structures into which we put our faith and trust and so forth as we've played with it in the past. And saying, "Well, here is the mechanism that supports us and now we're finding out that there's all this corruption!" We're basically seeing the game and how it was played to create separation, slavery, disconnect and so forth.

However, it's to look at it and see that, "Oh, OK. Wow! What a game of separation we played with what we've experienced up to this point in time! Great! Now I know how it feels to experience that. Now where do we go from here? Where do we go from this point?" And we start changing everything accordingly.

And it's also embracing the opportunity of the challenge that we had. Because in a sense it's a challenge and we learn from that challenge.

Everything that's there is always in absolute perfection.

We may not like the game. We may judge the game. We might look at it in one way or another and say, "This is a horrible thing!"

Look at anything that happened on a personal level. When people had incidents in their life when something deemed “horrible” happened to them. Because that’s the way they looked at it and that’s what they felt: that something horrible happened to them. But that experience always results in expansion, growth and change in the way they approach life.

And if it doesn’t change in a way where you say, “Well, it always becomes ‘positive.’” At the least, it allows you to experience the opposite of it to another level of degree, so that, at one point or another, you have the opportunity to shift.

And even if the shift doesn’t happen in this lifetime, you’ve already prepped yourself for the next lifetime.

And with the things that are playing out right now, they are really just creating a lot of wrapping up of all these old modalities that we chose to play with before. And it’s all coming to the surface now.

So in everything that’s becoming transparent, everything that’s being exposed in our world right now, it is to observe the way that we had agreed upon...because we did that...we’ve agreed upon to play...and I accentuate the world “play,” because it is a play. We came to play with it. No Soul has been dragged down here and told, “This is where you have to go.” This is not a prison. It may look accentuated. But the Souls willingly came here.

Of course we have had patterns where Souls were locked in and they kept reincarnating only here on this planet. But that was a pattern that was locked in because of the way the game was being played. So we became “addicts” to wanting to come back to play on planet Earth because it was quite challenging and because of the set-up and the way it was set up and the way the physicalities operated, it made it very, very appealing to keep coming back here. Even though each and every time they went through a series of one lifetime, nobody seemed to be too thrilled or in a hurry to come back. But once that mind concept was stepped out because we left the physicality and didn’t have an ego mind at that time (in the same form) then it was viewed completely differently. But even that has changed now.

So as all of this is coming up right now, as all these things are coming up to the surface, it’s allowing us to completely clear up everything that we have held in place...so that we can move forward.

And I know that people talk about love and having love change things...You know, it becomes very difficult for people to see that when they are in the mode of judging things. (laughs) But, in actual fact, when the judgment dissolves, you can see love in all of it. The love of our own creation...the love of the Essence That We Are that has created this experience and has walked through it and enjoyed the adventure...even though it may have looked like it was a difficult challenge.

Because any creation that you make, any experience that you have is always an adventure...regardless. We look at people on the Earth plane who take off on adventures going through jungles, going through treacherous territories and so forth, and they find it thrilling. You know, climbing up mountains and doing all of those kinds of things. Those are challenges. On a physical level and on a personal level, those are their challenges. And this planet Earth has been one of them: where you can come here and really experience that to a degree...with the attention that you will become ever much grander by the time it's over and done with. It may not look that way at the Soul level...especially when you've been reincarnating over and over again and making very little progress. But the opportunity for progress is at such a magnitude now.

What we can accomplish now within one lifetime...or even within days, weeks, months or years...used to take decades, used to take multitudes of decades, and even centuries and even millennia at one point in time. So it's a tremendous difference in what we're experiencing now from what we experienced before.

Antonia

Yes. And I think the important point to highlight here is that...and we'll talk more about this as things are unfolding...fear is not natural to human nature. It's an agreement we had to experience it...and it's ending. So as fear comes up with whatever announcements and revelations are made, it's to look at where from where is the fear coming. And as things are unfolding, it may bring up fear for some people in the sense that we're not going to make it or whatever else. But remember that fear is not really native to being human and that fear was an agreed-upon contract. And that contract has ended. And fear and the power of fear is leaving. As everyone knows, one great way to control people is through fear.

There will be many things that we'll be looking forward to...especially in the next two years. There will be a lot of stuff happening soon and that will play out.

And I know I'm looking forward to it!

And, Franco, we mentioned a bit about Syria and how it's serving and providing the contrast. How many people worldwide no longer want war...which is showing how, collectively, humanity is rising.

And when I say "rising," let's look at that. It's not about humanity "raising their vibration." Human beings, by their very nature and by design, are very high-vibrating beings as it is. We just agreed to forget about that and have layers come down. So what we are in the process of doing is removing those layers, removing those shields. But you are naturally a very high vibrating being. And you are just in the process of remembering and removing all of those veils that keep you from knowing that.

It's kind of like you are in a hot-air balloon and you have all these heavy weights hanging around. And what you're doing is just cutting off all these weights so that you can float. And that's what's happening.

And Syria, of course, right now has done a beautiful job of showing how humanity is arising...how we are arising as One...how we are choosing as One.

And it's a beautiful tool.

Anything else you want to add to that, Franco?

Franco

Yes, exactly. You made a perfect point. It is exactly that.

And, at the same time, some people look at it and say, "Well, what's happening to the Souls that are involved there?" There are people arising and people who are awakening from it and coming to the realization, "We're no longer wanting war. We are no longer wanting to play that game." And they are coming to the realization that, as we played that, it doesn't feel or resonate the same anymore. It's just like, "We're done with this! We've been playing with this for such a long time and we're now done with it."

Now, the Souls that are involved, the Souls that are departing or that are going through a very intense experience because of what's playing out there...and even though there's a certain level of it accentuated more than what really is occurring and, in some ways, it's not covered well enough...but the Souls that are involved, the Souls that actually do depart from whatever plays out there are the Souls that have chosen to do so...for their own purpose and for the greater good. The Souls are not turning around and saying, "OK, I'm just a victim here and I've just been kicked out of my physicality because it was damaged through chemical warfare," or whatever was utilized. The Souls are there saying, "I feel that I want to play this role. My job here, my purpose here of what I wanted to get done in this lifetime is done...or cannot be done fully in the way that I wanted to do it because of my journey, my choices and how things unfolded. So, for the greatest service, it would be best for me to play out this last role and wrap up part of my experience by checking out and leaving the physicality, and allowing a wave of change...not only in the family dynamics but also for the world."

So no one...and I know that we've talked about this before, but I just want to remind you...no one is going to be going through something where they take on the energy of "victim." When we're looking at somebody going through something, we can see that it's still part of love...because they are doing it for the love of us all awakening. Because as we awaken and make that transformation and shift, it also advances them...it advances the Souls that have left. And it advances the playground again to make it clearer for a higher "purpose" ...if you want to call it that...for when they choose to return. And, at the same time, it also frees them to go to another planet to play.

So there is no "suffering" of the Soul itself. It is more the physicality that expresses that. And I'm not saying that to be cold and callous and turn around and say, "Well, they chose to do that," blah, blah, blah...and there are people who look at it that way. But it's not about that. It's just to see the greater servitude...because we are all assisting each other. And there is servitude even in that.

And inasmuch as, yes, they are going through some difficulty on the physical level, or what we could call compromise to the point where they are no longer existing in a physical form...the Soul is liberated to go back to wherever it needs to go to prepare itself for another adventure. And, of course, it creates a wave.

And as that's happening, the dense energies that they were carrying with them are also being taken off the planet too.

The bigger purpose is to create a huge awakening for all the other Souls. And that's what's happening right now.

People are not buying into, "Yes, we need to go to war." People are questioning themselves and looking at themselves and saying, "Why are we playing this game? We don't want to be participating in this any longer." And it really accentuates that part.

Because now the consciousness is different. It's now viewed in a different way through their eyes and it's not the same way as before. So it's very, very different the way things are playing out in regards to that. So it does serve.

Now if somebody is looking around and says, "Well, how nasty does it have to get before we get to the point where it doesn't go any further?!" That will be determined along the way. From what we can see energetically, how it feels at this point in time, there is nothing huge that will unfold from it. We're not talking World War III. As much as they are trying to do that, and that's part and parcel of accentuating the separation, the energies of going into battle or something of that nature, it's only bringing people even further to the point of saying, "No! We're not going to participate!" And then a whole different energy evolves from that. So it's of great servitude.

Everything that's playing out is of great servitude at this point.

And if we are looking at it with fear, again, we are playing with the same energy that has supported it up to this point in time. There is nothing to fear. Everything will unfold exactly how it needs to unfold. We need to grow from these experiences and also empower ourselves and say, "Well, we're not choosing to participate." And share that with others: "Do you want to participate?"

And it's not so much about rallying an so forth...no. We have chosen to come together. We are choosing, at this point in time, to no longer support that polarity, that energy of what we call "war"...that energy of using force to take down creations...even though there is something greater growing from it...but to elevate and create something that is more in alignment with our true nature.

Our true nature is Unconditional Love. Our true nature is Creator Essence. Our true nature is Neutrality...and Peace. And we don't do anything for any of it because that is built right into us. It is the foundation.

The old programs, the things that we adopted while we were experiencing a level of polarity were just things that we activated to experience something different. But that is dissolving.

So that true nature part of us will come into play more and more. And you'll notice that more and more people, as they are shifting, they are feeling more peaceful, they are feeling much more neutral. There is no judgment, there is no comparison, there is no competition. It is about seeing everything as One unit, as Whole. And to complement one another, to cooperate. That's our True Nature.

And with all of that, it will transform everything that's playing out right now.

So Syria is playing a very powerful role.

And you'll probably hear things like wars were stimulated in other parts of the world and, yes, we have had wars in Iran with all this stuff going on and all these "atrocities"...or whatever you want to call it. But again, you have to understand, the consciousness was very different then and there was still stuff going on that we still needed to play out. But, right now, things are accelerating very quickly...

Let's put it this way...the energy that would support another war is not there. It's just being played out right now with some old consciousness, with some old energies.

You could also see the leaders and people who try to stimulate it...if you actually watch the game and just observe, you see how it looks. It almost looks totally surreal. You look at it and see that they are playing like children...children that are so unconscious, children that are taking tantrums, children that have no consciousness whatsoever...and I'm not saying that children don't have a consciousness, I'm just using that as an analogy...because many children have a great amount of consciousness. But they seem like children that are acting out in a form like that and you wonder, "Wow! We can really go in a certain direction with our experience!" And you can realize that we have given the opportunity for these individuals to be in power. And then we turn around and say, "No! We're not participating with the power. We're stopping this whole game. Because now it's all about coming together as One." And all of that changes.

So you see how all of this is accentuating, at this point in time, for us to really take a close look at ourselves to look at how we've been playing the game. And it has just been a game. And it's just been a role. But now we're upgrading the whole thing.

And the same thing when we talked about what happened in Japan with the radiation and so forth. As we're changing, all of that will transform too. Not only will the solutions be there, but whatever "damage" (if you want to call it that) it causes will also transform.

Antonia

Yes. And that leads us into other questions we had about the cabal shield breaking down. And also about re-posting and spreading messages.

And it all comes back to how you are presenting the information. If you are presenting the information to drive more fear...and a lot of it can cause fear...then that's one thing. But if you're presenting the information with love to share and to educate, then it is not feeding that side. And by "that side"...we are all one and the same. We had questions about if we post information about things becoming more transparent, are we harming our energy, is it even recommended that we do so, and so on.

Most of you know that I really did not post much about the control system until just very recently. And that's because there was a shift in how information was being passed around and there was a further lightening of humanity. If you are sharing information to educate...because some people do need that for their awakening...they hear it from one person then from someone else and then from another source...and they start to put it together.

For example, someone wrote an article in "The Rolling Stone" magazine back in April or May and I re-posted it today on the Masterpiece Life Facebook page and they were saying, "You know about all those conspiracy theorists? They were right! It IS all totally controlled and manipulated! They ARE all in cahoots!"

The point being is that it all comes back to where are you when you are sharing it. If you are sharing it with love, then you are helping a Soul wake up. If you're sharing it playing the "I told you so" game, then that's not helping someone progress and is only supporting your ego..

Anything you want to add to that, Franco?

Franco

Yes. Some of the concerns are, "Will I get in trouble with the cabal? Will I have things happen to me because I'm sharing information about what's happening behind the scenes?"

And you're correct, Antonia. First of all, if you are going in with a state of fear something is going to play out to accentuate the fear. And also there is the thing about judgment too...because I know there are posting that judge the systems and so forth. But, like you were saying, if you are coming in with love, saying, "We are now extending information as to how things have been played out...how the game has been played out up to this point in time," so that we understand how the game has been played out...and now we can take a look at how we can choose to change the game and share it. And, of course, as you said, as you share it and others share it and there is more and more information...

Because this is what I've been finding...even within my own family dynamics...as much as I've talked about a lot of different things over the years, it may not have been accepted very well and I was thought of as the crackpot. But, in a sense, now that they are hearing it from a multitude of other sources, they are now noticing, "Hmmm. I guess there was something behind this. Maybe I should look into this now because I can't ignore it any longer. So I'm going to take a look at it and I'm going to start making different choices. I'm not going to take everything as is, so I'm now going to empower myself to decide what I want to participate in and not participate with."

The thing is, if we are looking at fear it's the same thing. "If I post all this stuff will I get myself in trouble? The webpage is being monitored!" Yes, they are being monitored to a certain degree. But, at the same time, there is so much coming out right now that there is no possible way to control anything at the human level. The second level is if you are doing it with love and with no judgment about it and just bringing up to the surface...even if we're talking about vaccines or what's happening within the financial institutions...or whatever it is...and showing this is how the game has been played, this is what has been transpiring up to this point in time...and that we have the choice to do it differently...and just exposing it and saying, "We have the opportunity to change this in one way or another," then it's very different. At that point in time it's supportive.

And, you have to understand, when you are doing it with love, you are using a very powerful energetic force because it is part and parcel of the unfoldments that are going on right now for the advancement of humanity. So "the force is with you," I guess you could say....and not against you in this case.

And you have to understand that the people who are playing the dark roles that would seem to want to keep things as the status quo, they really don't. They are actually getting tired of the game. Especially now that they see that what they are doing is not playing out how they wanted it to play out.

In addition to all of that, as they are playing it out, they are not feeling good within themselves. And they are starting to awaken to see what's going on around them at the same time. So they want this to come to an end also so they can participate. So you're not going to get the same level of resistance.

Look at the whistleblowers out there now...the number of them. They are coming in from all levels...even from governmental and so forth that have been probably in pristine states of roles when they were playing with the different organizations that are operated by the cabal or whatever. They are coming up and are not even concerned anymore. No one is afraid as they used to be about exposing the information.

Because, the thing is right now, that's what's required to be exposed only to the fact that we can see the game for what it is so we can transform the game. You need to actually see how it works before you can change it.

And it's not about judgement. And I know that some of the whistleblowers are very judgmental and there are many people like that, and they say, "Well, look, we've been corrupted," blah, blah, blah and they were doing whatever they were doing, but that's just the ego coming in.

So you have to look at the basics. "OK. This is what the game is. How can we change it now?"

So I wouldn't be concerned. Share with love. And the more people that share the quicker that things change.

Because people are right at the edge of seeing that the world doesn't make sense anymore, things don't seem to be coming together anymore, "I don't feel that good about what's happening here. I don't quite understand it." But then as you share that information, they can look at it and say, "Ahhh! OK. Now I can start seeing some of the pieces coming together. And this is why I haven't been feeling so holistic about what's happening...my job, my way of living life, what's playing out with all the different structures and so forth." So by sharing it you are gifting another aspect of yourself with information.

You have to understand...every single Soul on this planet is another aspect of yourself. We are all beautiful Essences of each other, having a multitude of different experiences, in different physicalities with slightly different signatures and programs...to experience...together. So we are all facets of each other.

So each time that you share and each time that someone shifts forward in that sharing, it is also upgrading you...it is upgrading everyone....because we are all connected.

So share.

Antonia

So with respect to the cabal, the Illuminati, the "powers that were," the Reptilians...or whatever you want to call "them," and about who has been controlling whom...is there anything else you want to add about that aspect, Franco?

Franco

Well, all of that is being exposed right now to a huge degree so that it can be brought to a close so that the transformation can take form.

One of the things that we have to understand is that, as we are going through this there's all this stuff about the cabal, the authority and who has power over whom, and so forth. There are still a lot of structures in place that are dictating certain events, certain things that are happening in our lives. We have to understand...because this is very, very powerful and we know this deep inside of us...we just know it....and we are going to bring it into our consciousness at this time...we need to understand that no one has power over anyone else. No one.

We are all individual beings...all part of One...but each of us is in charge of our journey.

We are also collectively creating our reality and our journey.

So when you start looking at people and saying, "Well, there's all these authorities that's telling us what to do, how to do it and controlling all these structures," but then start realizing, "Hey, wait a minute! We, as a collective, desire, design and co-create the reality that we are choosing. And we are choosing to create something very different."

But if you start looking at the control structures and saying, "Well, there's that such and such authority and this such and such authority and they have authority over people," ...there is no authority. That is an illusion.

Even when we are looking at "higher" aspects of ourselves when we are talking about different Creator Essences...the sub-Creators and prime Creators and so forth... there is no hierarchy...there is no commander. We are all One and are all at the same "level." We may be at different levels of consciousness and are taking on different roles to project different experiences...

So when we come and say, "Well, we are fully in charge of our own experience. But we are also choosing, together, to create," it doesn't matter what the cabal, the government or any other institution or control structure turns around and says, "This is the way it is. We are in charge. We tell you what to do," ...they have no power. That is an illusion.

It's for us, collectively, to choose what we play with from now on.

And that's on a spiritual and human level. At the spiritual level we already know that...especially now that there's a shifting in energy within ourselves and our consciousness is expanding.

So whatever's being said and done...when you really look at it...say, even the government. What's the purpose of the government? The government is there as a representative of the people. And the government's role is to provide a balance, harmony, unification and equal accessibility for every single Soul that they are representing. They are part of the representation too...they are part of that group.

So if you take a leader from some country, they are there to represent the people and to create that harmony, that balance within it. So whatever's being put into place is always looking for the highest good for everyone concerned. That is their job.

Now, when I say "job," that is a role that they have taken on. And usually the ones who take on these roles are the ones who are in a state of consciousness that can see, clearly, what is best while at the same time utilizing the input from everyone.

For example, if a law has to be put into place, it can't be put into place just because your representative says, "I want to make this law," or "I want to make this rule," or "I want to go ahead and subjugate our country or the planet to something." They can look at it and, as a representative they can see what's there and the potentials that are there, and then they have to present that to...not a cabinet...because that can go to the next level and they can say, "OK, as a cabinet let's look at it before we present it to the people...that we represent, by the way...let's take a look at how we can structure this so that it will be understandable, manageable, and has all the components...which are harmony, balance, equal distribution and accessibility and that it is for the greater good for our people. So let's take a look at how we can present this the best way so that we can get a fair understanding by the people if they want to participate or not." Because for anything to be in place, it has to be mutually agreed upon. And if it's not agreed upon, then it can't be applied.

So when we understand that, as a whole, we can dissolve a lot of whatever is already in place when it does not match those. Because the "power of authority" is not there. They can be representative, but they are representative of who? The collective. The collective of their country. And each country has their so-called leaders and representatives and so forth. But it's not about them controlling anyone.

So that dis-empowers a tremendous number of things.

And what is the purpose of a corporation? It is a collective group of people that come together to use their skills and abilities to create something that is of servitude for the highest good for humanity, for nature, for the animal kingdom and everything and anything that is part of this experience on the planet.

Of course, that's not the way it works right now. But understand that that is the purpose.

It's not about serving certain individuals. It's not about creating separation where we take care of certain people but not take care of others. That was the old modality. That was part of our experience that we agreed upon, but that no longer functions.

So when we have that knowing inside of us and we carry that, we can see how we can change.

Now, a lot of people might turn around and say, "Well, how do we change all of this with all these structures in place?" and so forth. Well, first and foremost, we can change anything and everything as we choose to do so as a collective. Secondly, with all the changes that are happening energetically and otherwise and with the consciousness of humanity changing, the "power" that the cabal had, the "power" that the governments and industries and so forth had is greatly diminishing along the way. It doesn't have the same "control" that it had before.

But the key here is, when you are looking at it, not to judge it. But rather just to see how we can bring it back into balance so that it now matches our new state of being, our new state of experiencing this journey on the planet.

So the roles that the world's governments have played is opposite to what was supposed be the original design of it...which has served. But now it's a matter of restoring it to where it actually is to serve the people.

For example, even the thing with the Syrian war that they were trying to stimulate...you turn around and get a President like Obama who says, "Well, we need to go to war," and all the other people in the cabinet...or whoever decides...would agree and they would go in there and do whatever they want...who does it involve? First of all...if we have to bring in the monetary...who is supporting it financially? Secondly, who are the people going out into the war? And if you're representing us, don't you think that maybe we have the right to decide whether or not we want to participate in this? Even though it's not on our land...which can involve that part of it...do you think that we have any say in this matter? Absolutely! So for them to decide...whether it's Obama or anybody else...to say, "We're going to go to war," ...this has to be presented to the people. And the people have to come to the point where they say whether or not they want to participate.

But, at the same time, why are we doing it in the first place?! What did they do to us and why are we looking at them as "enemies"? Because if you bring higher consciousness into this, there is no "enemy," and whatever's playing out is just a game.

And I can tell you that if we are not going in with the same mentality that we are right now and we get together with the other leaders, guess what? If we get together and have a discussion and say, "Listen. Let's see what's going on here. If there's some rebels, we can easily re-adjust these rebels and put them back in place wherever they need to go."

Because our motive is to make harmony. Our motive is to not participate in the way we are doing it. And we're not going to play the game where we want to stimulate a war so we provide weaponry and so forth to what we call the "opposition" or whatever it is while we're playing the game.

So it's a very different way of looking at it.

And the restoration part of that is coming together at this time.

So when we're looking at it, we re-empower ourselves saying, "We are really together in managing how we want to create our environment, our playground, our schoolyard. And no one can dictate, no one can change that for us. We are doing it together."

And that changes everything.

And when we bring up the money aspect of it...money has played a very powerful role. It has played the role of separation, it has created an artificial power, artificial greed, slavery, a great amount of limitation for various places, and has been a major stimulation for battles, inequality and all that. And it has been a powerful polarizing tool. And, for the longest period of time, choosing that we wanted to experience all of that...it has served. Brilliantly! It hasn't been something that has been poorly created; it has been created amazingly.

And now, of course, we are looking at it and seeing how it was all created, we're seeing that the money is fake, we're noticing that it's being created out of thin air and that we are loaning out money with no "value" behind it, and we give something and take something else away, and we change interest, and all of these other games that we are playing out. And we can look at it and tear it apart a hundred million ways and still find out that it has all types of forms.

And then, of course, we get caught up in the spiritual world and say, "Well, money is energy," or that, "It's necessary for exchange because this is part of our nature and we need to keep things balanced," and so forth. If you really look at it with open eyes and with an open aspect of the Essence That You Are, there is no such thing as that.

The thing is, money was created for a purpose...but the purpose is dissolving. As long as we are not in polarity, as long as we do not need to create all these other experiences, it doesn't serve. It actually restricts...and that's what it's been doing...it's been restricting.

And even if we turn around and say, "Well, we're going to change the money system and we're going to turn it into a fair system where we have value attached to it," and so forth, we are still playing with the same tools. Maybe not to the same degree that we've been playing up to now, but it's still a limitation. The fact that we have to exchange is still a lower consciousness. The fact that we need to earn it, is still a lower consciousness. The fact that we don't do something in a way where we can have it, that we don't have access to the very basics of existence in our connection to the planet, then it doesn't serve. None of that serves any longer if we are playing with it in that way.

So if we're looking at it, the true nature of money is dissolving of what it served before...it is dissolving completely.

Because our natural state not only doesn't need money, but it doesn't need the whole idea and concept of exchange. If you look at it in the most basic way, we are all One. No matter what you or, how you do it, it affects every single Soul on the planet. We are all here to play together.

So the fact that you enter planet Earth in a physicality, automatically you have full accessibility to anything and everything on the planet to utilize it for the amount that you require, for the experience that you are choosing, for only the duration that you are on the planet...equally. It's not about hoarding, or owning, or I do this and you do that. Because, no matter what, each and every Soul is a contributor to the experience...regardless.

You have a huge puzzle and each piece of that puzzle makes up the whole puzzle. Every Soul on the planet takes on a specific piece of the puzzle. And each piece of the puzzle plays a very unique and powerful role that affects the rest of it.

So each one of us are coming in...gifted. It's our own choice...and I'm not going to go into the details...to play something as a very vital role in the expansion of the whole. But, at the same time, to support whatever is being played out on the planet. So each one will have a gift of something that they will do because they choose to do it.

But to also do it without saying, "Well, I now have to be doing so much so that I can't do something else." Everyone will do things the way they choose to do them. People are not designed to hang around and do nothing. And the ones that do will still be of service one way or another.

So the money situation, as we go along...of course, the power given to it will dissolve, the imbalances will get balanced out for a period of time. But eventually, as we're going along, it will dissolve. Because it does not serve. It continues to restrict.

We have the capability to use our technology, our capability that we have in our own Creator Essence, to create environmental systems, to create all that we require while we're here...to play completely free. So that we will not have lack anywhere.

To come here on this planet and experience lack is quite a creation to do so...because we have an abundance of everything here. We just created separation, categorization, and we use money and we use ownership and we use control and so forth to create that separation...the haves and have-nots and so forth. So it's not about creating more money.

It's about facilitating in a way where we can all enjoy all aspects of it. So each and every one of us can be free to be ourselves fully and completely.

And enjoy what we want to do without the need to survive, to struggle, to earn.

Because even if you had to look at the very basic, fundamental aspects of it, what is the whole idea of "earning" mean? What do we need to "earn"? Do we need to go create some illusionary product or service or something of that nature that, most of the time, we have to stimulate for someone to utilize...because of the fact that, in some way or other, it really is not necessary...or is in multitudes of duplications of the same thing? If you look at it in that way and say, "Well, I need to go earn it," ...when you are on a planet that is here to host you...and we are here to complement and support each other...those modalities don't function...the idea that we "need to earn."

So the whole money system, as we are going along, will dissolve.

And the only thing that's going to hold it back for any period of time is us holding onto it and feeling that it needs to be in place. Because eventually we will come to the realization that, "This is a burden. And we don't need to carry this burden because it continues to limit."

And this is not even taking into consideration the potentialities of corruption that has been played out all this time or the hoarding that's been carried on by different individuals...cabal or otherwise...that have played at having the money in a way where everybody is enslaved all the time. We are not even taking all that into consideration. Just the fact that we need to exchange or the fact that we need to have a certain amount of it for us to play on this playground freely is already a restriction in itself...even before we take any of the other aspects into consideration.

So that's what we are looking at on the money aspect of things.

Antonia

Yes. And, as we said before, you really have to know that you are the value...we are the value. Money is made up. Whether we talk about money...whether it's represented as gold or silver or gems...we are the value. You are the value. It's your actions and your creativity and your creations that creates. And that's what we're going to come back to.

Franco

Yes. Because each and every one of us is what lights up the planet. So you are the source of it because without you there is no purpose for it. It's just a playground with no playmates.

And, like I said, each part of it is one major component that makes the whole. So no one dropped in here by mistake. Even when we've had the dark forces and entities and all that other stuff...all of them have played a role. And all of them have been able to fit in there to create the environment.

But then, of course, obsolescence comes along where there's an upgrade and certain parts are not required anymore.

And the things is, too, when you look at it...ownership of seeds, ownership of land, ownership of resources or anything of that nature...it makes no sense to most people. It's only when you are convinced, programmed, and when we were in that old aspect of it. You look at anyone who is coming in...a child or something of that nature...or even the ones who have been connected to the land...it makes no sense to say, "We own what???" We can't own things...everything belongs to everyone.

You know, even in the simplest things where somebody says, "Well, I have a Deed here that says that I own this piece of land." Well, who gave you the Deed...some governmental level? Well, how did they come to own it? Where, at some point, did the Prime Creator...if you want to call it that, and you don't even have to go that far...say, "OK, you are the administrator for dividing up all the planet."

Do you know how many billions of years the planet has been here and how many species have inhabited it over that time and so forth? And then we show up here and someone says, "Well I own the oil," or, "I own resources here," ...that took millions of years to get there..."and now they're mine." That makes absolutely no sense whatsoever.

Antonia

OK. Why don't we now look at channellings. We did a previous call on this subject which is posted on the Masterpiece Life.com website called, "What's Up with the Channellings?" As everyone knows right now, there are more and more and more and more channellings coming through right now. And a lot of them are contradictory and some of them are presenting the same message. But there seems to be a lot of channellings happening right now.

First and foremost, whether you are channelling or whether you are listening to the channel, the first thing you need to ask is, 'Is this coming from Pure Love? Does this message channel Pure Love? Does it channel unity? Is it going to assist the whole?' And if you can't answer those simple questions in the affirmative, then you need to know that it's not coming from the most current information. So for anybody channelling...I know that for me personally, that has always been my guide whenever I have channelled. It doesn't happen to me all the time but it does once in a while. And I always check to see if I feel complete and absolute love. When I am in the process of channelling, I check to see if the message I'm being given is coming from complete love...will it assist...and is it unifying. Those have been my guidelines for either allowing a channelling through or for listening to someone else channel.

Would you like to add to that, Franco?

Franco

Yes. Channelling is huge. Like you were saying, there's a lot streaming through.

And you have to understand that there are various things taking place. When we're channelling, we're picking up energies from...

It's like tuning into the channels on the TV, for example. You could be tuning into different sources. And like anything else that you might watch on TV, it might be streaming through from a parallel world, it might be streaming from older information on different timelines, it might be streaming from Souls that are not in physical form but are playing that role of connecting and streaming some information and they might utilize certain components of what they can see...but that doesn't mean that it's of the highest order because it depends on the state of consciousness they are in. Each Soul, depending on their state of consciousness, has a certain level of accessibility.

Then, of course, you might be tuning into entities or different energies or beings from other planets that may share certain things and they might have access to certain information. Or you might be tuning into older information...like I said, from other timelines or from other Universes...but they are not relating to ours.

And something else that I've seen quite a bit in the last little while is that you have various channellers that are channelling various deities or various things like Archangel Michael, Jesus, Buddha or other Souls who have been on the planet before and may have reincarnated over and over again...but then the information might be different, the information might be coming through differently...and a lot of times it seems like, "Wow! How come it's so far off?!"

Like you said, Antonia...you have to use your own discretion.

Even if it matches the question of unity, love and all that stuff, that can be the sugar coating on top of it. But then that could also lure you into passivity where you say, "OK, everything's OK," ...it's not that everything's not going to be OK...and I'm not saying that we don't need to do anything and that everything's going to be done for us.

Remember...we're here to play, we're here to learn, we're here to experience. We are going through a transformation and the transformation is something we are doing ourselves. We are getting assistance energetically and we are being streamed higher consciousness, but the work is done individually here. Every single Soul here is on their own particular journey of transformation and we are all assisting each other in transforming.

But there are times when we need part of that message...whatever it may be...but not to make that your whole driving force. Because there's a certain sense of dependency that we may connect to it.

There's a lot of information that's coming in. Some of it is useless...and when I say that, I mean that it's not as correct and it doesn't match what we're doing now...even though there's still purposefulness, in a sense, where we become driven to go down a certain path so then we can then realize, "I need to check in with myself." So if we don't need to learn that part of it to step forward, then we don't need to have those experiences.

But the thing is with the channelling too is that you really have to tune into to it and say, "Well, how does this serve and is it, in one way or another, current? How does it feel?" Because it's really about how it feels.

Sometimes people send me links to channellings and when I listen to them I can tell right away that, first of all it's not from a current timeline and is not one of the higher probabilities...or it may be information...or even the energy behind it...is not conducive.

So especially now that there's so much of it, you really, really have to pay attention as to how it fits.

And even if it's a message that's not 100%, you can still say, "OK, is there something that I can get out of this?" Not to necessarily feel that, "that's the answer for me," but more like, "Is there something here that can tweak my own knowing...and tweak it in a way that actually allows me to take a look at something and then possibly make a shift? Is there something being triggered here that is beneficial for me in one way or another?" So utilize it in that way and don't take it as the final answer.

Because the other component is if somebody is going in where they feel themselves incapable of accessing higher knowledge of their own and feeling that, "I need to have something come to me." Because I've heard people say, "I want to receive channels. I want to receive messages!" And my question to them is, "Well, why do you want to receive messages?" "Well, because I don't know what I'm doing and I need to have some clarity."

But, the thing is, it's not about that. It's to discover through your experience your own direction, your own clarity. If any information come to you it's just there for you to see...it's not there to give you the answers, it's there to direct you or give you a little something so you can make your own choices on which direction to go.

But if we're coming in from the position of we need to depend on that...depending on psychics, depending on channelling, depending on whatever...we're disempowering ourselves. And the more we do that, the more we isolate...in a way, unconsciously...our own higher consciousness within ourselves...that really wants to speak to us.

Our Soul is here for a very specific purpose, and it is utilizing the physicality and the mind as part of the experience. So the more you tune into it, the more you can see what you're here to do.

And when I say, "what we're here to do," it's not so much on the outside aspect of it, but rather it's what we're here to learn, what we're here to experience, what are we here to accomplish and create completion from...not only from this lifetime but from the multitude of lifetimes that we had before. And some of the completions are from lifetimes that have played very dark, dense roles. So it's great to tune into that and utilize it in that form, rather than utilize it as, "my answer, my path."

And, of course, there are energies that come and present themselves as Light..."we are the Lightworkers, we are the Ascended Masters," and so forth. (Sighs) There is no "Masters." There are different aspects of Souls, there are different states of consciousness. A Master, basically, is completion. But there is no completion.

Even Source is not completion...it just continues to expand, expand and expand.

So you can choose to connect with something that is at a higher state of consciousness to access something so that you can raise your own consciousness. But each of us is going to expand differently anyway...because we are all designed to do that...every one of us...at the Soul level. And, of course, that's represented in the physical aspect of it.

So the channelling has to be taken in a way right now as, "How can I get something out of it without creating a reliance and believing that it's the end all answer and direction I need to go." So if a certain level of clarity comes in, that's fine. Utilize only that part of it and then move on. Don't make that your guidance system fully and completely because then you are restricting yourself.

Most of the channellings...and I say that very loosely...but most of the channellings are not accurate. They have some truth in them but a lot of them have their own filtration and skewing.

Plus, on top of that...you have to understand...especially if someone else is channelling it...the information is streamed through the mind. If that person still has a lot of veils...which most people do...and a lot of filters, belief systems, perceptions, certain ways of seeing things, it's going to be interpreted differently depending on who is channeling the information. Because many people may hear one thing but each one will interpret it differently. And it's the same thing with a channeller.

If the channeller has all these ideas that there's God and this God has certain requirements and expectations and there's Heaven and Earth, and there's all this stuff that is projected in that realm and then it's streamed through them, then, of course, they are going to filter it and their mind will understand it based on those filters...and the information will then be presented in that way. But that doesn't mean that it is 100% in the form that it was streamed. So that has to be taken into consideration.

So it really all boils down to seeing how it actually feels and seeing if there's something that you can utilize out of it.

And when you start feeling that it doesn't resonate...it doesn't just feel quite right for you...let it go. Let it go.

Many people will choose to listen to channels, choose to listen to information and they will utilize certain things for a period of time but then you will still continue to move forward and gain your own expansion. And when you get to a certain level it may not serve you any longer. Then guess what? It's time to let it go.

It's like the training wheels on the bike. You may utilize them for a period of time but at some point they are no longer necessary. But if you continue to hang onto them, then guess what? They are going to slow you down.

So for us to hold onto something that is being streamed when it no longer resonates with us...we need to recognize when it's time to let it go before it starts to restrict us. It may serve to a certain point but then you move on.

Antonia

It's interesting...what I've been feeling lately is that I've been feeling channelling energy much less. And I think it's been quiet because now it's more about looking within and connecting with Source.

And, as we said before, it's not about creating a dependency. And it's the same thing with respect to what we (i.e. Franco and I) are bringing here to assist. If we can assist, then how can we assist. You connect with the information that's presented and you feel how you are and how you can use this to move forward.

We are all One. There is no saviour, there is no superior being and there is no "Master." We all come from the same Source.

Now to move onto the next topic which is how to stay centered in Love no matter what else is happening. I think that is the most important part of this whole call tonight (laughs). Even with all our questions about money and everything else, it really is about centering yourself in Love. It really is seeing how it is all a game...it's all a game. It doesn't matter which side is being played out. And the more you can see that, the more veils you will remove from yourself.

I know that people are having a lot of money situations. But we are all going through this together. And, really, the answer is the more we focus on Love, the more we focus on releasing our own veils and belief systems, then the more moving forward there is.

In terms of how you stay centered in Love...each person has their own way of accessing that. We talk about how we are all experiencing Source.

On the Masterpiece Life.com website, we have many Clearings and Activations posted. Please feel free to utilize them and pass them on if they prove of use to you, or find your own way of accessing and centering yourself around Love.

And, once again, for a lot of us it's about remembering. Sometimes we start the day with a great meditation and we're in Love, but as the day progresses something happens and then we're not in Love (laughs) But then, OK, what will it take to bring you back to Love. And just keep practising that and practising that. And that really is the most powerful way to enact any change in the world.

What would you like to add to that, Franco?

Franco

Like you said, being centered in Love no matter what else is playing out around us...the thing is to remind ourselves constantly whenever we are feeling...that whatever's unfolding, in one way or another is serving us, that it is only going to be there as long as it's necessary.

And how we can expedite movement from one experience to another is how quickly we can free ourselves from reactive states, programs, perceptions and so forth, but also, at the same time, learn whatever we need to learn from that experience.

And when we're talking about "learning" it's noticing something that we have adopted or utilized in one way or another and realize how to better see what We Truly Are...and then move on.

Because we are not going to have any experience that is not, in one way or another, serving us. Even if a scenario repeats over and over again with different individuals, circumstances, situations and so forth they are going to continue to play out only until you get what you need to get out of it. It's not about punishment like, "You didn't finish your food today so you're going to have it for breakfast tomorrow," and whatever else. It's not anything of that nature.

The Soul has the greatest love for its movement forward and it wants to be part of this beautiful journey. Because this is it. The Souls are here at this time have made the choice. The choice has been made and either it wants to be participating in all of it for the full duration of all the transformations and all the unfoldments that come out, or it will utilize only part of it, or it may choose at some point in time to say, "Yeah, I'll do what I can and then I'm out of here," type of thing.

We have a lot of things that are going to unfold. Always realize that nothing will happen that is not of absolute servitude for yourself. And whatever's happening...even if it's bringing "detrimental" (at the mind level) situations to any person or groups of people...it is still part and parcel of the perfection behind that. And, at the same time, it is only what the Souls agreed to have play out.

So if you hold onto that (thought) and play with whatever's playing out with you and keep making adjustments, everything will unfold and will change around you. Including the money situation.

At this point in time, money is still just temporary until these adjustments come along. And eventually the money situation will not become as prevalent an issue as it is now, and eventually it will not even be something that you will consider any longer.

I know that we are going through challenging times, but remember that challenging times are opportunities to discover ourselves grander as we let go of what no longer serves us, and bring us together as One.

Because the whole shifting right now is a Oneness consciousness. It is a huge, massive upgrade that we're going through. It's about bringing us together. Because together is how we make ourselves work together as a transformation unit.

When you have to do something on your own, it may seem difficult. If you're putting a house together, for example, and with one man doing it it's going to take quite a bit of work and a lot of time and effort. And, at times, it's going to be very difficult...particularly when there are the bigger parts of the project that need to be done. But if you bring a group of people together as a unit, you could put something up very quickly and very efficiently because each one will take on a particular task knowing what the outcome is...a finished product...a house, or whatever...and everything gets done.

The same thing with all these changes that are happening. It's not about one person saying "OK. We've got to do this, this and this." Rather, we can come together and say, "OK, I see it this way so let's take a look at how we can all participate in it and if we need to tweak it we will do so," or whatever it is.

When we all work together we can change anything.

We can change every single thing on the planet very quickly to be harmonious and balanced in the way that we choose to be...in the blink of an eye. It's just a matter of us coming together and saying, "OK. We're changing it! Let's change it." There's not going to be any fear about letting go of one thing to create something completely new.

But whatever we create from this moment on, it's not going to be rigid anymore. Everything will be fluid. "Fluid" meaning that it will continue to evolve and adapt according to all the changes.

We are changing at such a rate...our Universe, our Galaxy, all our brother/sister planets in our Solar System...everything is changing so quickly right now that anything that we created as structures before that took a position for decades and decades and even centuries are not going to be able to be retained at this point in time. Everything is going to be very fluid because each moment is transforming. We are making a huge upgrade and everything is changing along the way, so it's not going to be conducive to create rigid structures.

And a lot of things will tend to be very temporary. We will create them and use them for a short period of time only to create a bridge...that's all it is...is just a bridge. Once you cross that bridge, it's done and no longer of any use.

Antonia

And right now there are no dates specified as to when things will be done. There really isn't. We're moving forward and there is no dates set for things to happen. Everything is moving forward energetically.

And this also ties into the part about not waiting for any saviour to do something. In your daily life and the people that you're with...in communities and so forth...just start doing what you feel inspired to do.

For myself, I've often talked about the fact that it's through contributions that our work is supported. I've been following and talked a lot about the OPPT because it was a bridge...I always knew that it had to be made simple. I have three children, I have rent to pay, I have a car that has to be maintained...so, as much as possible, what I've been doing is approaching people and saying, "I really believe that money will dissolve and I'd like to create some kind of different exchange with you. Is there something of value that I have that I can offer to you in exchange for something of value that you have that I can use for myself or my family?" I've been doing that for a very long time anyway, but now we are doing it more and more. And I think that when people start doing that more and more...with love...it opens the door for people to say, "Oh, yeah. It'd doesn't have to be money that we use for exchange."

So, yes, money will fall. But in the meantime, it is up to us to create the alternatives. It's up to every single person listening to create it. Don't wait for something big to happen out there. You do it every day, and do it your way. You don't have to follow anyone else's way of doing things.

Franco

Yes, like you were saying about the "saviours" too...I want to make that clear...there are channellings and information being given that there are beings that are coming to the planet and so forth that will save us or change our scenario/situation. These were probabilities and possibilities at one point in time and were things that were discussed with collective groups that were very close to our planet and so forth. And also certain religions have projected that certain saviours will come.

The thing is...for growth right now...what was decided as a collective was that we should participate in this transformation of the planet, together, while we're here. We're not going to be hiding, going into the Inner Earth, going onto another planet, or anything of that nature like going into ships until the planet is rebuilt. We experienced messing up the planet and that was part of our learning process and it was perfect. But now we are coming together to clean it up.

And when we say “clean up” we mean that it will be completely re-designed so that, in essence, it hosts us in a very different way than it did before.

So as much as we are getting Souls that are coming onto the planet that are much more consciousness, that are sharing information, that are bringing in certain know-how to facilitate, we are also having Souls come in that are more advanced so they are part and parcel ready to step into that new world way of seeing and thinking where everything is united as One and shared and treated in a sustainable way.

As much as there are other resources coming through that will be shared as technology or otherwise and also capabilities that are being activated within ourselves...DNA and so forth...we are still doing it together. It's all part and parcel of the learning process as we go through all of this.

So there is no saviour coming along and dividing everything up, saying, “You're bad, so you go this way. You're good, so you go that way. We'll use you to rebuild but these others have to go to some other place,” and so forth. There is no “good,” “bad,” “right,” “wrong,” or anything of that nature.

It is more of us all coming together and saying, “How can we let go of our roles...the old roles...so we can take on new roles that now support one another so we can play with one another. And as much as, at the mind level, that might sound like something huge and unfeasible, it is very simple to put together in that way.

Antonia

OK. Let's move on to some other questions. We had one about what was currently happening with chemtrails and what must go through the minds of the pilots who are flying those planes.

Well most pilots don't really know they are spraying chemtrails because some of it is actually done by commercial aircraft which spray them automatically without the pilot even being aware that it's happening.

We also had a question about international borders and immigration laws and how all that stuff will change.

So would you like to address those topics, Franco?

Franco

OK. With respect to the chemtrails, most of them are not actually aware of what they're doing. They are told that they need to do this to either control the weather or to help the environment. Most of them are being told something different than what it's actually for. Others don't really want to know...they get paid, it's a job, and in survival mode, of course, it is something they end up doing.

With respect to the chemtrails, there is a purpose behind it...it is to reduce the capability of humanity to move forward in consciousness, to compromise the physicalities and to compromise the computer which is our mind. It is also compromising the food supply, water and everything else that's being affected by it.

It's the same thing as what we were talking about before...the contamination that is coming through radiation from Japan and so forth. As much as that all this stuff is coming through, as we go along it will have less and less effect and it becomes neutralized before it even hits the ground or it becomes part of the composition of what will support us.

However, as the consciousness is shifting and the awareness is coming forth more and more, that all will stop...completely. We will not continue to do that. It's just kind of a last ditch effort to intensify...and that's why there has been so much more than ever before in the last couple of years...it seems like every time you go outside now they are blanketing the skies completely. As much as the pilots are sold on the fact that the chemtrails will reflect the Sun's rays so that we won't have global warming...that is just another story that was made up along the way because that's not actually a fact. So that realization that's coming through will change everything anyway.

A lot of people think, "Well, it's going to have a lot of negative effects!" There's going to be some to some degree for the Souls that need to have that particular experience. You will notice that with many of the Souls out there their vibration is starting to increase because of their letting go of attachments, the old ways, fears, belief systems and so forth...and as their vibration rises they are not as affected...they are not affected so much by chemtrails, they are not affected so much by medication and drugs, additives and so forth. I'm not saying to expose yourself to them but you are less affected. And this includes things like WiFi, cell phone radiation, satellites and all the different transmissions, repeaters and so on that are going on. You become immune to them because you are operating in a very different band of frequency and those things have access only at the lower frequencies.

So if you are in a lower state of consciousness and your vibration is lower, then, yes, you will be more affected by them. And that will give you an opportunity to make a shift within yourself or utilize it as an intense experience for checking out or something of that nature. It still serves in one way or another.

Regarding the borders and so forth, as we go along, the whole thing about having countries and being separated with all the control structures in place and so on, that will all come down...along the way they will come down. It's not going to happen overnight, for sure, because there are still a lot of things that have to be played out. But as the Oneness becomes more ingrained, the borders will come down. So that we will actually be free. There won't be specific documents that you will need to go to one place or another.

There's not even going to be accountability where you're talking about, "When you come to this country, you have to produce and you have to bring certain wealth," or "You need to show that you are such-and-such in order for you to be here and you need to be checked to ensure that you are not affecting our country in one way or another." None of that will exist because none of it will be part and parcel of that experience.

So, in essence, the borders will come down. We will have the opportunity to freely move from one country to another.

You will notice the rigidity of customs...and when I'm talking about personal customs or customs of groups in different cultures and so forth, you will notice that the different customs and belief systems and so forth will also transform so that it all becomes very fluid. We're not going to be so isolated and separated from one another saying, "We're from an Indian background," and "We're from an Asian background," and "We're from a European background," and "We're from a North American background" ...and all the different rigid structures of how to function within all of that will come down along the way.

We're not going to be so attached to keeping the old traditions, keeping the old mentality, keeping the old ways.

Because even with tribes and so forth, everything is upgrading. So, in essence, even what was more holistic at one point in time in different cultures where they were even connecting with the land...the connection was totally different. It's not a connection in the same way as before. It will be a connection which will be very fluid, very light and it will be a connection where you feel free and experience the connection with everything that exists...in a very simple way. Because you're basically part of it. You just become part of all of that.

The freedom will be on so many, many levels.

As we move forward, we are going to start removing everything that restricts us. Including a lot of the different structures that we've put into place like all the governmental levels. And it will all be limited to the absolute prime purpose of creating balance.

And eventually we will be self-governing because there won't be any governmental stuff necessary. But that's further down the road as consciousness continues to expand within humanity.

At the same time, completely accessibility to everything will be made available to everyone.

So if someone invents something, it will be shared with each and every single Soul to bring up the experience even better. Like I was saying earlier about ownership, there's not going to be ownership of stuff that's created in the sense of inventions or anything of that nature.

As we go along we will be using technology which is very efficient and very clean. So we're not going to have all this stuff where we're generating electricity and then have to transmit it through wires and anything of that nature. We will be using zero-point technologies which are very clean for the environment. Our transportation will be completely transformed and will not be in the same form in any way, shape or form. It will be very holistic with the planet, will be very clean, very fast, and will give us the freedom to move around without the requirement to have to pay for it.

Of course, as we go along, the food will be cleaner...and we will end up using very, very little food because our bodies will return to their original design. Indeed, there are people who are already there who don't eat at all but rather get their energy just from the air, just from the Sun, and just being on the planet...the way it was originally designed.

As we go along, the technology will become less and less rigid in the way where we use components like we use now. Because what will happen is that we will be creating our realities in a very fluid way without having to use technology,

For example, if you wanted to experience the sensation of an apple, you would create it just by focusing your attention on the memory of having an apple in your hand, and you will have the apple right there.

Because everything is created from energy. And that energy is all around us. And that is Pure Light, Pure Potentiality and all forms are available to be created in any way, shape or form.

And I know someone had asked about how astrology and all that stuff will play a role. They will play a role depending on where you are at. It is all being accentuated to create completion within your experience. Eventually, what happens is that you get to a different level and it doesn't play any role at all. It's the same thing as the pollutants. It won't be in your range and you don't need it so there's no barriers to it and it won't be of any influence whatsoever.

And also, whatever you've taken on as characteristics of your personality will dissolve. So that your characteristics will become very fluid and malleable to the point where you create your characteristics to serve at that moment. To serve for whatever duration that you choose, rather than living with a certain characteristic.

Of course, there's no need for karma and so there will be nothing to restrict you in that way.

Also, there's no polarity so there's no need to play with all the different intensities that we may have played with before.

So these are all things that are coming into play as we go along the way.

We have magnificent capabilities to create magnificent experiences. We have not really had the opportunity up to this point in time to fully utilize the capabilities that our physicalities are capable of...the capabilities of experiencing ourselves on the planet...the connection to have with everything so that we are not learning from just our own physicality, but rather we are learning from each other and from all the physicalities and nature at the same time.

In a very conscious state we are so powerfully connected that someone else's experience of a blade of grass will be part of our own experience.

And everything is created from that. And everything will support us in that way.

Everything will transform even in the ways that we communicate. At first we probably will create a more balanced language where we don't have a multitude of separate languages. And then, from there, language will be used very minimally because telepathy will become more used. And there won't be any interpretation issues in place that are carried through language and tonality because it will be a very genuine communication where it is shared.

Antonia

Thank you for that.

Another question we had was as follows:

“Physical energy lags seem to be still present. Is this a connection that is happening globally? And, interestingly, so many areas of my life seems to need encouragement. How does all figure into the overall scheme of things? While I can see that I have changed in so many ways, there are still so many moments of wondering.”

That's a great question because I've had a lot of comments from people about how they are experiencing low energy and energy lags, headaches and so on.

So why don't we look at these physical energy changes that are happening right now.

Franco

There is a lot going on right now.

There is a complete transformation that's taking place within our physicalities. Our consciousness is changing, our mind is changing. There are still conflicts that are playing out within ourselves. As we are making changes, there is also a new time period to adopt. As many of our frequencies are changing and some of our structures are changing, we are now streaming more Light, more energy and consciousness. However, all this is still not supported by the energies around us.

So sometimes it may feel heavier, you may feel depleted of energy because there are still adjustments going on. And there will be certain sensorial experiences that will occur...like headaches or whatever you want to call it...on a physical level that may also take place because of the changes in frequencies that are occurring.

But also, as you are changing, there is sometimes a sensitivity to our environment...a sensitivity to, say, the encodements in chemicals and the different electromagnetic waves and so forth that are all over the place. So we may walk through a period of sensitivity, but we need to understand that as we go along it will get better and better.

If it does trigger the memory of certain old patterns then we need to look at clearing out those old patterns. So we get whatever we need to get from the pattern and then move on from the pattern.

At different times people may feel sadness or depression that sometimes comes through, but we have to remember that they are just part and parcel of old programs that may be coming up through the energies.

The thing is, as we are going through this transformation, we are going through a very powerful purging and clearing. So a lot of things are being brought up because of these high vibrations. And they are coming up so we can wrap them up, get it done, learn what we need to learn, clear it and then move on.

So when this is occurring I hear from people that, "My life is falling apart! All these things are happening to me, even old ailments in the physical form are coming up to the surface." But that's all part and parcel of all that's unfolding right now to facilitate us. So not to see it as something bad but rather as an opportunity for, "OK, great. Things are playing out, things are helping me out. So let's just stay observant to what is coming up and take a look at what needs to be adjusted along the way."

And part of the transformation may bring us to where we may need to have more sleep at times. Some people will have less sleep. Other people may need to move through life a little easier or a little slower to allow themselves to integrate everything that's changing within themselves.

There's also the other aspect. We need to look at what we're doing and how it really, really feels for us. And that's not saying that if you're feeling uncomfortable with something that you just abandon it. Instead you look at it and say, "OK, is this still serving in one way or another? Is this bringing up something?" If it's not. Then you should look at starting to shift it because it's not serving you any longer. So you may need to look at it differently.

Antonia

Yes. And we've talked about this quite a few times in the past...close to 90% of what we do could be called "make work" projects. So just notice where is your energy lagging around something. Is it lagging because it's just not resonating with you anymore and should you even do that function.

I know myself, sometimes I think, "Why am I even eating?" It's not that I feel that I'm eating too much, but sometimes it just feels that just the act of eating just seems to take so much effort ...and that the food is not needed. (laughs)

So with respect to things in your life, just notice when your energy is lagging and things are becoming effortful, then take a closer look at those things. See if there's a re-occurring theme for you.

Franco

And the other thing that comes up right now is simplicity. Like you were saying, there are a lot of things that could be described as "make work" projects...things we think need to be done, or things that because we've done them for so long we think we need to keep doing them. It may come to a point where you ask, "Do I really need to do this? How can I simplify it? This is not necessary any longer. My running around and doing things...are they really benefiting or do I just feel I need to do it? Or do I need to do this or that for these other people," because by doing so you are keeping them in a locked-up state because you are doing everything for them and they are not empowering themselves.

So you are going to look at things with the view to, "What do I need to simplify?"

We did have a tendency to hold onto or take on a lot of things because we felt we needed to at that point in time. But we are changing and we are becoming more simplified...and we want to be freer.

That's the thing: we want to be freer.

And sometimes that lack of energy is not feeling totally free because of the tendency of taking on old responsibilities or holding onto old responsibilities.

Antonia

Yes. In conclusion, don't get caught up in what's going to happen or what isn't going to happen. And don't get caught up in details. It is all unfolding as it should.

If you look at everything from a Oneness perspective...how everything is One...then you will find your own answers. And I think that is the best guide to moving forward right now.

Franco

Yes. And we (i.e. Antonia and I) are only here to stimulate what you already know within yourself. A lot of times what we are sharing is a re-confirmation of what you already know but just have not been trusting your own self as to what you've been having come through. So we are just facilitating. We are all in it together.

My greatest desire is to be part of all of this with you and to walk you through all of this...together.

Because what we are transforming is for all of us...we're not isolated any longer.

We say that we want to have a better life...well, what is that? We want to really do what we came here to do...in a much more accentuated, expanded way.

So thank you (to the listeners) for co-creating all of this. We will continue to play and move forward. We are in amazing times.

And as we move forward and we connect and share with others, we create such a powerful ripple effect that the transformation will be more efficient, more expedited, in a way...not that there's a time issue here. But it will allow it to unfold in a time that will be more suited for what we are desiring at the Soul level at this time.

So thank you for being part of it.
