

12-20-12 4TH DIMENSION ALIGNMENT

Group Teaching
December 2012

We are here on this very special momentous night, 12-20-12, which is the gateway, the alignment to the 4th Dimension. Some call it the end of the Mayan calendar, the end of an era, but it is the beginning of new energies.

We are going to be answering some common questions that people have around this shift that is happening on December 21, 2012.

A lot of the questions have been around what exactly is the 4th Dimension. But we also had some questions, because of the Mayan calendars and depending on how things are interpreted, about when exactly does it move over into the 4th. Because some people are saying there is an exact time, an exact date. So let's clarify what the 4th dimension is and how it differs from the 3rd, then have a little explanation about the 5th, and then let's touch base on what the timing is for moving into the 4th.

Franco

Actually the cycle ends tomorrow (December 21, 2012) at 11:11 a.m. GMT (also sometimes called Universal Time Coordinated). But it's 11:11 a.m. in that time zone. So in the Eastern time zone it would be about 6:11 a.m. and that time would change depending on the time zone you are located in. So that is the point in time when the old cycle ends and we step into the new cycle.

So we are coming to an end time. The end time being that cycle that we've been in for...there's two cycles: one that's about 26,000 years (25,920 years) that coming to completion and there's also one that's 5,125 years that's also coming to completion. So it's really a change of cycle.

And with that, of course, we also have the alignments with the Center Sun and so forth and are going to get a stream of that light for a very short period of time. But that stream of light will actually create a huge activation on the planet, a huge activation on everyone and everything on the planet. So everybody will have, in one way or another, some form of experience occur within them. It's going to be an activation point for them. It is an activation of their own True Essence that's already all encoded within themselves which they've carried at the Soul level (being Source consciousness, based on where they're at). It's going to activate all of that into play.

And as it is being activated, it's bringing in...and what really it's about...it's a reactivation of our own Essence as Creator Essence, but of pure unconditional love, pure consciousness of knowing that this is of our own creation, that we are fluid beings of this creation and that we are now able to see everything that we've constructed and participated in with open eyes in a way that is non-judgmental, of seeing it in it's absolute perfection, and then knowing that whatever no longer serves (which all of this is no longer going to serve), we are able to adjust it .

And we will also come to the realization that we have chosen to be here in a more conscious state and also be able to stop the judgment aspect of it and really enter the driver's seat of our experience in a more conscious way. And when I say "conscious," I mean "aware" ...aware of being able to do whatever we came here to do.

The other part of that whole shifting that comes in is that whole unification where now we are no longer experiencing the fragmentation of self...meaning we are going to be operating on several levels. The first level is the Soul agenda. Then, of course, there's the body's programming and its own agenda of survival and trying to stay within the planetary operating system. And then the mind, creating its alternate stories using programs and so forth. That's the first part. That all becomes unified. So basically, mind, body and Soul will work all together and that's part of the process that's going to take form.

This has already started some time ago, but it becomes more solidified and more stepping into it. So these are part of the activations and that aspect of it.

But then the other component...which is the Unity Consciousness, the Oneness Consciousness, which is very instrumental and key at this point in time,, is where not only will we reconnect with our own Self, we are now also going to reconnect with every other aspect of Self...which are the other Souls on the planet, we are going to reconnect with the animal kingdom, the oceanic kingdom, the insect world, Gaia, and, of course, the planet itself and every little part of nature...all together. And knowing that we are all doing this together. This dance, the process of this journey, encompasses all of it.

So that's kind of what the 4th Dimensional consciousness is. It is a more "watered down" ...and I don't even want to say "watered down" ...it is a "first stage" of that part of it coming in.

The 5th Dimensional consciousness is more in-depth to what I've just mentioned, but it's an even much more powerful connection and it's even clearer. But we are going to be bringing in more Source consciousness of Creator Essence so that we actually have much more clarity and much more expedient form of experiencing in and out of experiences that we are choosing at the Soul level to experience, but, at the same time, we are not doing it any longer as fragmentations of ourselves, meaning not connected to other Souls on the planet, but we are much more connected because there's an even a much more powerful bond that establishes.

So that's why the 4th Dimensional consciousness we are stepping into is a preliminary step at this point in time. Usually when a planet goes from 3rd to 4th, 4th usually lasts quite a long time. We've stayed quite a long time in 3rd...which is close to 15,000 years' worth...and now we are only going to do a two-year stint of 4th before going into 5th. So we are using the 4th as a stepping stone, as a prep area and it's also giving Souls time to decide if they are going to participate or not and also give time for the Souls who are choosing to participate to step into it. So that's kind of what's happening with that.

Now there is the first step that we're going in to is that tomorrow (December 21, 2012), when we are stepping into the activation point when we actually step into the cycle, we actually get a taste...every single Soul will get a taste of Source consciousness. Now the person could be conscious of it or they could be unconscious of it, depending on their state of consciousness. So if we are in a meditative state and we have already done a lot of our work, we will basically experience our own Soul's Essence of Source. Meaning we will be able to experience the Creator Essence fully at the full conscious Source consciousness for a period of time. And people claim it will be about eight minutes....and it's about that.

Now that is that taste of it. And what it does at that point in time is that it actually gives the Soul the opportunity to get a glimpse and also experience the codes....because, again, this is the first time It's doing this in this form...in the frequency that it operates in.

Because, you have to understand, the time that we are going to experience this, it is the Source consciousness of the present. It is not the Source consciousness of when we initiated our journey, because Source consciousness has expanded greatly since then...due to all our fragmentation and all our experiences on all the different planets, including this one. So It's going to get a taste of that so that it actually will be able to create a path to move forward from there.

Now for many Souls who will not be consciousness of it but will have a taste of it at the Soul level, it may trigger something within them...some euphoric or some, like "Ahhh, well this feels great!," or whatever it is. But everyone is going to have an opportunity for that. But that's an activation, in a sense, and it's like having a dream of something that you can experience. Because it gives you a directory of the direction to go, in a sense, because we still have to do work and experience what we have to experience...but, at the same time, it gives us a direction to go and knowing what is the potential.

Now even that potentially is only the potentially that exist now. Because by the time we get to manifest that potentiality we will have expanded even more.

So that's that part of it which is occurring. We are now stepping into the 4th and within two years we will be stepping into the 5th. So we have about a year from now to really accentuate the choice point.

So it's basically Oneness Consciousness activating unconditional love more fully, be able to see the Essence of Who We Really Are, be able to navigate and also be able to see the planet and how it's actually designed in the sense of what our programs are, what resonates and doesn't resonate, and be able to navigate. But the other part of it is that we actually have an intimate connection to the Essence of Who We Truly Are.

Because, really, when we are looking for Source, basically Source is within us. So it's not that we're going outside of us.

Any time we are tuning into outside of us, all we are doing is tuning into another facet of Self. Now, depending on our state of consciousness, we can bring in higher states or facets of ourself, but it's just another facet of ourself, really. But for us to have our experience the way it best serves us, we can get a taste, we can get some information, we can get some guidance.

But ultimately, it is our Soul's journey that is the most important at this point in time and that's why we're in this isolated fragmentation of the Soul...in what we call a separate projection of our human physical form...is so that we can have an independent experience, even though we are all connected and learning from each other, but we have one specific independent journey.

So by tuning into and having that stronger connection which will be part of this (shift), we will be able to navigate more clearly with our own purpose of the direction that we are going in our life. Meaning that our agenda of what we came here to do, very specifically can be utilized.

Because we have a specific agenda (when we come into this world), but we get lost in "the game"...and we have been lost in the game...meaning that we are all over the place even though we have the intention to, say, achieve a certain level of consciousness, to have a series of experiences, to wrap up certain past experiences that we haven't completed. But then, what happens, is that we come and play here and we get lost in the game and we become identified with the game. And that identification also takes us all over the place. And a lot of times we get off the mark with respect to the direction that our Soul wanted to take.

So this (specific agenda) becomes clearer for us as we are going through it because, at this point in time, we are going to be more consciously connected with the journey that we're on and we'll stay on track so that we'll now do things more efficiently than we have in the past.

So these are the things that are taking form.

Now one of the key components that comes into play here is that there's concerns about....and you probably already know this too, Antonia, better than anyone else...there's been a lot of talk about what it's going to look like and there's been a lot of expectations. Because, what's happened is that there's been a lot of expectations that have built up...and I've seen this because I've connected with so many people on this level in the Collective Soul, the collective consciousness and the Soul that rides and sees all of that...and the fact that we're drudging through and drudging through and having this huge expectation that there's going to be some huge massive change that will "fix" everything. And I'm saying "fix" in a very loose way because really there's nothing to fix. But "fix" in the sense that that's what they believe. And there are pockets of consciousness that are waiting for a savior to come along. There are other pockets of consciousness that think the world is going to end. And there are other pockets of consciousness that are tuning into the fact that, "Once this comes in my life is going to be better and everything is going to change," and so forth.

So we have created a lot of different energies and expectations at this point in time. And it can lead to disappointment, in a sense. Because, regardless of how everything unfolds, if we have a certain way that it should look like for us to feel that something good happened or didn't happen or whatever that may be, it's not going to take on that form. And then, of course, we are going to feel that nothing happened and there's a big disappointment.

So there is a tendency for something of this nature to also create an adverse energy field temporarily, because of the fact that, "Oh, nothing happened! I still have to get up tomorrow morning and have to go to work," blah, blah, blah, and all that stuff.

But, in actual fact, this expectation component needs to be let go of too. The thing is, what's going to unfold is going to be very specific for each one of us, but it's also specific to the collective and it's also specific to the planet and Gaia's energy form and so forth. Because, basically, the shift is being done all together at the same time, but everybody's going to be experiencing it in slightly different forms.

So, to go on from here, this is where it becomes, in a way, where tomorrow comes and we have these activations, we have this stepping into a new cycle, we have a spontaneous awakening in many cases...but there will be many cases that won't but there will still be a shift within themselves, there's a feeling of "coming home," there's a feeling of feeling "out of place" more. Depending on where you're at, there's going to be many different experiences.

But the beautiful thing is that it's going to feel...because of the connection that's going to be established within yourself...you're going to feel a little bit more self-empowered (and, in some cases, a lot more self-empowered) in knowing that I'm here and I can now change what's around me.

But the clarity that comes about is that we no longer see everything as a huge monstrous thing to shift. It is a matter of seeing it, in a sense, "Oh, this is all we need to do to shift it!"

And then, because of the Oneness consciousness coming in, there's going to be more and more people coming together to realize that we are doing this together, and there's going to be much more cooperation. Because that's another component...there's going to be cooperation instead of competition and without judgment or comparison any longer. It's about cooperation. It's like an embracing of one another and seeing that we are all the same. It doesn't matter what package we come in...meaning the color of our skin, the nationality, the way we look or don't look or anything of that nature. That's not going to be a component any longer.

The same thing about materialism...the importance of that is going to shift within ourselves. Now this is the entry point...and then we'll accentuate even further. But the importance of and identification with material stuff and the pursuit of material stuff...the pursuit of what we could call identification within ourselves. Meaning that achievements, success, or the fact that we need to have certain a sense of security or need to have certain things around me in order for me to feel good about myself...or that I need to have all this new stuff around me so that I can actually feel this thing called happiness or whatever else...that will greatly shift...and finally dissolve when we get into the 5th Dimensional consciousness. So the transitional point will allow us to shift into that.

So materialism and the importance and power we've given to certain things in our lives...being relationships, being connections, being with careers, being monetary, materialistic, and so forth...the importance and identification we've had with it will shift greatly.

And, at that point in time, you will start to see what you really need and don't need. And then you will need less and less. And when I say less and less, you'll need less and less stuff to carry along and attach to. And that's the other thing is about attachment. And you will start to live life more easily and fluid. And so there's not going to be lack. We're just not going to require all this superficial stuff...or at least what we've attached ourselves to...to actually experience things more to the fullest.

So these are all of the components that are coming in to the 4th and 5th Dimension consciousness of it.

And we're here (December 20, 2012)!!! We're finally here at that point where we are stepping into this new world.

And when we talk about the “end of the world,” what we’re really talking about is the end of the way we know our world. It is the end of the way we have identified our human experience and our worldly way of referring ourselves within that. So that’s coming to an end.

When we talk about that end, does it all collapse immediately? No. But it will come to a consciousness where you see that it no longer serves, that we don’t need it any longer in that form and we can now take an active process or active steps to change it.

And what you’re changing is to align with a more unified, wholistic, expansive state of being. It is bringing into alignment our true human nature...which we haven’t been living. Because as much as we say we are in a human body, we haven’t been living it in its true natural state.

The other part of it is that there’s a reactivation and reconnection that is also taking form...and especially a little bit more in the 5th but it’s also going to be participating in the 4th ...is that the Oneness consciousness is now also bringing back our brother/sister Souls on other planets. So we are unifying with our brother/sister Souls on other planets.

So we are actually becoming a galactic family again. Not only in a conscious state but also a connection point. As much as we are all connected as One and we are from the galactic family, we have been independently operating away from that. So not only have we been independent within our own physical space, but we’ve also been independent on our planet and have also independent from our galactic family. So we are bringing the galactic family in.

And by doing so, we also open up the opportunity to have more of our galactic brothers and sister Souls to come in and participate in our journey and to assist us. But the assistance is not to come in and “do” anything for us. It’s actually a sharing. To share more of their consciousness and they can learn from our consciousness and then we can actually make larger steps forward. So part of this “stepping in to” will also open us up to having more interactions with our brother/sister galactic family that have been waiting for us to step into this.

And there’s also a change which occurred because there had been an agreement that they were not supposed to interfere with our journey...and when we talk about “interfering” ...because, you have to understand, when we are in a state of fear, when we are in a state where we are not open to anything outside of ourselves...because we have been experiencing isolation not only within ourselves, we haven’t trusted...we don’t even trust our own family members...we haven’t trusted ourselves, first of all, we haven’t trusted family members, we haven’t trusted friends, we haven’t trusted other humans on the planet and, of course, we are not going to be trusting other beings from other planets.

So, with this part of the process that's coming into place right now stepping into that world, we are not only starting to trust ourselves...and we are going to go beyond trust by knowing that everything's perfect within ourselves...but also be able to connect with all our family members...and, again, it's never about attachment. It's just being in an equal, open, expressive, playful state with one another, but also bringing all the other components in and then allowing our brother/sister Souls from our galactic family to come in.

And it won't be the fact that we have to resist them or be afraid of them, we will welcome them in the way we would welcome anybody else coming in to our life. Because not only are we going to be stepping into the state...because this is part of the other stuff...we are getting out of survival and we are getting out of fear...we are not going to be in a state of fear where we're afraid we're going to be hurt or anything of that nature. We step out of that component also and embrace everything as an opportunity to experience growth and play with and really not to have that energy of fear any longer as part of our navigation system that we've used thus far.

So these are all the things that...and there's more, of course...but these are a taste of what we're stepping into.

So the new world we're stepping into is a world that's very fluid. It's a world where we are breaking out of our limits. And when I talk about the limits, it's about all the energies.

Because we have been experiencing a polarized world, we have been experiencing darkness and lightness on both ends of the scale, we have had systems put in place...institutions in place...that have projected, promoted and initiated restrictions, limitations and so forth. And also kept feeding on fear, survival, hatred, judgment and all that stuff. These parts will also change with that because we will be able to see it and choose either to play with it or not. Now, of course, we are going to most likely choose not to play with it. There are still Souls on the planet that will need to play with it for the time being, but more of us will be in a state where we will be able to see beyond that and will no longer need to participate with any of that. So the structures around us will change, dissolve, and be designed to be much more fluid.

So this is all we're stepping into. And we've been waiting for this and we've taken on this physical form...we are here still on this planet for the very reason that we've chosen to be here to have this experience.

Now there's going to be Souls that are going to choose to leave and that is fine for them to do so. And they will leave at different times. A lot of them have been leaving for a while now but it will escalate. There will be certain situations that may occur along the way...so far, there are things that are going to occur...that may seem dramatic, may seem very intense, may seem very destructive, but it's not destructive in a negative way. It's part of the purge and clear, it's part of the shifting, it's part of creating openings for Souls to step out and also to redesign our operating system and also our planet.

But, the thing is, part of the shift that is occurring, this awakening, this process of opening our consciousness to a higher state of consciousness, we will see the perfection in it and we are not going to get engaged in the fear and panic.

Now that does not mean that's going to be across the board because for a period of time we are going to be living for the next two-year period with Souls that are still in the 3rd Dimensional consciousness. So, that being the case, they are going to play some of the old roles for a little while.

However, on the planetary level and for all the Souls that have chosen (and more will join along the way) that will no longer be the main operating system for them. So they are not going to get involved in that aspect of it. It will be a proactive stepping forward, making changes to align to create the world that we have chosen.

Now, when you are talking about the world that we're "choosing" ...because this is another key point here that we should put a little bit of time into...is that we are going to connect with our own Soul.

And each of our Souls have a very specific reason that its here. Of course it is here to play, it came here to learn, it came here to become experientially rich depending on what it chooses to play with. But it's also here for enlightenment. However, it's very specific for each Soul for what it wants to do. Because there's completions for this lifetime and completions from past lives that it wants to do.

So, that being the case, we are going to connect...as part of the process too... we are going to connect with our Soul which is being accentuated and activated to a point where it's given the green light to really take charge even further. But when I say "take charge", it will be done in alignment with mind, body and Soul as well as with our galactic families and our planetary families and everything on it.

But when we have this part coming in, this connection, we are going to focus on the world that we want to experience for ourself. And when we do that, we're going to focus on the world that we desire.

But we're not talking about the desire of the mind. We're going to connect with the desire of the Soul. Because there's a huge difference! Particularly if we are not awake enough to have the two working together.

Because the mind operates on software programs...the ego itself is all software programming designed and operated...but those programs are coming from pre-conditioning, coming from exposures from the environment and so forth.

So somebody is saying, "I want to create my ideal world. I want to create the way I want to see the world." If they allow the mind to be active in it and the mind is still operating on the egotistic and software program base, they may create part of the old world. Because that's what it knows. It knows the old world. It knows that, "My world, to look good, has good relationships, money, home, cars, stuff, " this, that, whatever it is. And their ideal world is seeing that. And I'm not saying that's the case for everybody but there is that component.

However, when we're going into the Soul, we're going to see the ideal world that the Soul desires. And that ideal world, in most cases, is related with freedom, it's related with peace, it's related to the capability to navigate and experience each moment to itself having a creative ability to experience itself to the fullest, moment by moment. Meaning that it no longer needs to go through a sacrifice mode or a struggle mode or have to do things that it doesn't like or doesn't resonate with before it can actually have something. Because that's part of the old world too. How many of us are doing things because we need money or because we need to do all this stuff we don't like until we can get something we may like? But that's, again like or no like, and even at that level is all still mind generated.

But what we're talking about now is at the Soul level to create the ideal world that we are choosing from the inside. Choosing from our true Essence, as the Creator Essence, and the reason that we are here. So the ideal world of that.

And that ideal world will have peace, of course, will have unconditional love, will have unification, it will have the ability to be creative, to be itself, fully, 100% all the time. It is no longer a world where it is restricted, where it has to sacrifice, has to fear, has to judge, has to struggle, and all that stuff. It won't have any of those components.

That world already exists within yourself, but we are going to be able to bring it up to the surface. Because energetically, what you're doing is you're shaping the energetic fields and the environment around you.

Everybody has their own reality. And their reality is, again...you know, we have a collective reality on how we project but we also have our individual realities. But our individual realities will be more harmonized in the sense of with the collective. So that means that, even though it's slightly different, it is still part of the One, part of the Whole. It's still harmonized in that way.

So that was my quick, little answer to that question that you asked Antonia! So what was the other question?

Antonia

Well we have one which is asking for clarification about the 8 minutes of feeling Source and peace. And the question is will that be happening at different times for people tomorrow (December 21st) or will it be happening at the same time of day for everyone?

Franco

OK. So if I had to ask you that. How does that feel to you?

Antonia

Well, for me, I know that it's at different times of the day for people.

Franco

Exactly. It's going to be activated at 11:11 a.m. GMT, so the time at your location will depend on where you are. But you will have that opportunity at different points in time of the day, meaning that, depending on where you are located and so forth, the moment that you have that quiet time, you are going to experience it. Because it actually is a 24-hour window that is prepared for that. But you are going to have that 8-minute taste of it. And, again, it will vary depending on your state of consciousness, as to how much of it will be conscious and how much of it will be subconscious. Because, regardless, even if it is all subconscious, you will still feel something inside of you activated.

It's like...I don't know how to explain it...but you know how all of a sudden you have this excited feeling or this elated feeling...like even the heart beats a little different or there's a skip in the beat of your heart...something of that nature will be felt to some degree by people even when they're not aware. It's like all of a sudden something got triggered in them that actually brought some form of powerful joy, some powerful excitement within themselves without actually expressing it, but they will feel it inside. And they really don't know what it is, but that, basically, is what has happened is that it has been triggered within their own personal Soul and they were given kind of a jump start into it. So that's how it will be felt. But the point of starting is, of course, from the 11:11 a.m. GMT time, but the taste will be given for everyone.

Antonia

We should also clarify though, that, although we are using the 11:11 time, that time is just based on how the Sun will line up because Greenwich time is based on sun alignments and that is why we are using the 11:11 time.

Franco

Exactly. Exactly. Now it will vary depending on what time it is where each person is located, so there could be a huge variance...14 hours in some cases, right?

Antonia

So we have one more question and it is for the beings that are assisting us right now (on this call) because what's happening tomorrow is not an alignment just on the planet Earth. It is an alignment to all other beings of assistance. So as brother/sister planets that are all united here, what else is transpiring in our galactic universe?

Franco

Well, the whole galactic universe is going through this shifting process. The degree of it will vary. However, this is a complete alignment.

There's a new form of connection that's being established. It's like a web that's been woven...it's like electricians who are wiring everything and when they turn on the switch, it actually energizes and creates this whole web of lighting connection to all our brother/sister Soul planets. So the shift thing is affecting in a very universal way.

This is not just our planet. It has never been only for our planet. Our planet has the most accentuated aspect of it because of its huge stuff that it's taking and the fact that we've been quite behind in the shifting part of it. So we are taking a huge leap but this is not just for us.

When the Souls from other planets have been facilitating us, they have been doing it for themselves too. Because, the fact is, we're all connected. So if we have one part of the circuitry that's left stuck and will not enlighten, it will affect them. I don't know if you remember the Christmas lights that if one bulb goes out, the whole set goes out? I know they've corrected that to some degree now. But it's the same thing. It's not that it will be exactly to that severity, however, it will affect the galactic aspects of us being in a state.

And this is why they have played a really powerful role in making sure that we do not use nuclear weaponry any longer, that we do not take huge steps back, that we do not get inundated with the negative, darker energies which have been playing on the planet as part of the polarity aspect of it. So they have been really gracious in helping us in that way. Because, not only does it affect us, but it also affects them.

And they want us back. They want us to be part of it. Because we play a very powerful component here because we're at the center of it. We're kind of the hub. And they really want to welcome us all back in. So there's a huge celebration of this unification coming in and it's universal. So it's not just our own aspect of it.

And there's an upgrade. Because basically Source is upgrading itself and upgrading all facets of Itself all over the place. And since we're all part of that facet... So that's really what's occurring at this point in time.

But the beautiful thing is now we're cooperating together. So our brother/sister galactic Souls have chosen and have agreed to participate and play a role. And they are doing it with unconditional love and seeing us not as "less than," but seeing us as equal...because we are equal. It doesn't matter what state of consciousness we've been on, we're all equal.

And there's no judgment whatsoever. Judgment is at an ego level.

And, the thing is, our beautiful brother/sister Souls also have an appreciation, have an understanding of our journey because they've all had the opportunity to go through that. Every planet has gone through a shift within themselves. So it's not just us...we're just having our shift in a very specific way at this time. But most of them have shifted into different dimensions, different states of consciousness some time ago.

But this shift that's occurring now, with all the alignments, is shifting everybody at the same time wherever they're at. So it's quite huge in magnitude.

The way it's happening right now has never been done before. I guess you could call it an experiment but it's also very unique in that sense. So this is a very, very powerful time.

And, again, I just have to remind you that this is the entry point. We step into the new world and now we need to get acquainted with the new world and we need to get into the creation aspect of it. Because, as much as we have always been a Creator, we have been a limited, recycled Creator. Meaning we just keep creating the same thing over and over and over again and have not been stepping beyond that. But now we are doing that. We are breaking that cycle.

We are also breaking the cycle of reincarnation on this planet alone, we're breaking the cycle of, again, creating the same of what we've got comfortable with, and we create everything new each moment. So what we do now, from this moment...and this is what all our brother/sister galactic Souls have been doing...is that the creation expands with the consciousness. Whereas before the consciousness was limited and even though the consciousness would shift, it would be very difficult to create something outside of the collective consciousness. But the stepping into this is the collective consciousness and our own personal consciousness. And as those shift, it also shifts our own creative ability and our levels of creativity, and initiation and initiatives, and whatever else that you want to call it.

And that's what brings in the variety and that's how we can actually expand. Because we are not in any way going to maintain the fact that we are going to continue creating the same form with the same energy, with the same consciousness that we have for thousands and thousands of years before.

Absolutely. And this also is....tomorrow (December 21, 2012) I call a celebration. And it indeed is that. Because it's a celebration not only here on this level that we call planet Earth but also on all levels of existence and all our galactic brothers and sisters where we are all looking through a portal in time. And we are getting united in unison together. So tomorrow will mark the beginning of a new time for many dimensions and many assistants. And, as we spoke about earlier, it will be a uniting, there will be a new availability to feel. And those of you who have more ability to feel into the energies of things will feel a new dimension, will feel a new frequency there that before was not as easy to feel into. It was there but it was very limited. That broadband has now been opened up and that's part of the connection that we feel in the Oneness with all our galactic brothers and sisters.

So that is why there is such a huge celebration. And as Franco says, this is the first time that we are experiencing this as One. And it is an incredible moment to be living. Absolutely!

Franco

We're stepping into the opportunity to access a new channel of consciousness, which really accentuates our ability to create in ways that we've never done before. So it's...as you were saying...it's a whole new band of frequencies for the whole universe. All our brother/sister Souls in the galactic family is all having these new access points made available.

Antonia

Absolutely.
