

TRANSMUTING 3-D CONTROL THROUGH LOVE

Group Teaching
October 2012

Franco DeNicola and Antonia Hagens, Masterpiece Life

Franco

(First of all) thank you to all of those who choose to participate (in these clearings). Everything that we do we are utilizing each other to create this transformation within ourselves (the whole human experience altogether) and the planet itself. So we are all interconnected. We actually use everyone's energy...because all of us are transmitters/receivers, all of us are connected to the collective consciousness, everybody is connected to the matrix, everybody is connected to Source. So the more filaments, the more channels that we have, the more powerful it is. So that's why we get together (to have these clearings) because it becomes a lot more powerful.

And, at the same time, we support each other through the transformation. So when we are going through this process, we use each other to bring in certain strands of light and consciousness and also frequencies that help bridge some of the people that are not in that...because not everybody has the full spectrum yet, but each one carries a certain spectrum and it provides support. So it creates a really powerful dynamic.

And the beautiful part about it is that whenever you re-listen to (the clearing) and other people participate, it also creates new links. So it expands exponentially along the way.

Antonia

Absolutely.

When we were looking into what was necessary for the clearing for now, it's about transmuting the 3-D control. And by that what we mean is....as we all know, right now we're on the precipice, we're on this point where we're in the 3-D world and we're seeing into the 4-D world.

And in this 3-D world, as per our agreement...and all of us agreed with each other, whether we call ourselves human or any other life form that exists, we are all facets that mirror each other. And, as per our agreement, we experienced separation, a denseness. And we are now coming to a point where that's going to change. And as we are entering these last stages of 2012, the focus needs to be on transmuting the control system.

Control....and we all agreed...was a contract that we all agreed to. But as we are moving forward, there may be...there will be...new truth coming up in the new year that can easily strike a chord of anger, fear, resentment, in terms of what's been happening...almost behind our backs. But it really has not...we've all agreed to this. We're all facets of each other and we've all agreed to this.

So as we have more truths become more readily available, it's about being in a position of LOVE...standing in a position of POWER...where we now stand and say "No!" And we move forward and we move into a world where truths are more visible and a world where the control system starts to dismantle. And this is what's going to be happening coming into 2013. And what we're getting ready for in (this clearing) is to assist us to stay in a place of PEACE and a place of LOVE.

Franco, is there anything you want to say about that?

Franco

Certainly. As you were mentioning about the control structures and so forth (were things on which) we had agreed. Interestingly enough...because as we've agreed to come onto the planet and experience whatever we're going to experience...when we look at the big picture of why we're here on this planet and the original creation of planet Earth and the original creation of the human species that were on the planet....because our souls are "universal" (if you want to call it that because it doesn't really have any ties to any particular planet or anything of that nature)...but when this planet was tuned, it was, of course, designed slightly differently...or quite a bit different...and it was really to play at something totally different than what we're playing out now.

However, even when the modification was made, when the changes came in, when the control structures came in and altered all of this, and we went into this state of living life in the way that we are (limited, controls, and so forth), the original group that got together that took on Source consciousness and created this planet saw and observed that this would be modified and that we were going into a darker state. And even at that point in time, It just allowed it to be that way and said, "OK, let's see how these Supreme Beings, these physicalities, these beautiful emerging souls, can really play with the new state that it's in."

So the question is sometimes asked about why the originators that tuned the planet and created these physicalities didn't come back and turn around and say, "Well, let's fix this and change it." As much as they were aware that changes were happening, because of their design and figuring that we had the capability to move forward in such a fashion, (they felt) we had the capability to transcend it. And realizing that this transcension that we would do would be even grander than the original design, in a sense, because of its massive amount of polarity.

So now where we have the freedom is that the souls knew in advance where they were coming each and every time and took on the challenge. So the souls said, "Yeah!" So we've had the opportunity to go somewhere else...it didn't have to be here because there are other 3-D planets and other 3-D planets that don't have the same structures that we have here. But we came here because this is the most exciting and also the most...let's put it this way...the most challenging and the most intense duality and polarity than most other planets would even imagine creating.

So, in this particular case, here we are at this point where we're going through this shift where we're no longer maintaining that original modification and we're changing it. But that's going to bring up some other things, which we'll talk about when we get into the "meat" of this topic here.

Antonia

Yes. (And when we do these clearings) you're acting like...actually, you are a beam of light that is assisting the matrix to reconnect. And what we mean by "reconnect" is... Franco, I'm not sure if we've shared this before, but I think it is time to do so now...

*Think of it as there's been a matrix and there's been a separation of the original matrix with a superimposed matrix. What I mean by this is that when the original matrix was separated, it was so that the 3-D world could stay in place and the control system could enact, which allows you to experience more separation, more distance, and this was what took place. And what also happened is that the lighter matrix, which is the true matrix, was separated for this density to continue on Earth. What's being (done) now is that the original matrix, the light matrix, is now being joined to the 3-D dense matrix. And when this joining takes place, then there is a union of the matrices and 3-D dissolves and we pass from the 3rd into the 4th and 5th dimensions.

This is all being done with assistance as it is happening not only the planet Earth but on all other dimensions as people fully experience the coming together of Oneness.

And all of those people who participate in this clearing (either now or later), what you are doing is you are aligning yourself, you are creating a column of light, that facilitates the now joining of the original matrix (the light matrix) to, in a sense, illuminate and change the old 3-D matrix. And we thank you for doing that (both now and whenever you choose to do this clearing). You have chosen this time to be here and you have chosen to be on this journey. And we are all here assisting each other, both those that are in the human realm and those that are in all (other) realms.

As a reminder, I would encourage you to use (Franco's) short 10-minute Quieten the Mind meditation. I would encourage you to download that meditation onto your phones or .mp3 players so that when you need to access it quickly, you have it handy and can take a little break and sit down and play it and it will assist you greatly to quickly get back into a state of neutrality and peace.

Franco

Especially if you're having stressed moments or the mind is running wild with a lot of things. Sometimes we have a lot playing out in our lives and our mind goes into getting caught up and stressed about all the things it needs to do, all the little worries and stuff. And it kind of brings you back to that center point where you are in the moment and in that natural state. So it's a very powerful little tool to have handy. And even if you're at work...because it's short...it just gives you that moment that you need to just refocus again.

Antonia

Absolutely. So not only are they (the Quieten the Mind meditations) a part of the full clearing process, but if you need to step out to the washroom for 5 or 10 minutes, you can allow yourself to clear and come back to a neutral state...whether you are at home, or wherever. I do, however, recommend that you do not use it when you are driving. If you are going for a walk, that's OK, but don't be operating any kind of vehicle or machinery because these clearings are getting stronger and stronger.

So now...why don't we look at transmuting/transcending 3-D control systems in a state of love, in a state of recognizing that everything is as is, that we've all agreed to this, and that now we have come to a time where we are ready to move forward into the 4th and then quickly into the 5th dimension. And this clearing will lay down the foundation for you to do that.

As you know, there's a lot of information coming from many different sources and a lot of it seems contradictory (and we will have further Q & A calls to deal with that because they are each on their own a topic that requires more time to go into). But (this clearing) is to assist you to transcend and transmute all of that.

So, Franco, how would you like to add to that?

Franco

Well, exactly what you said there. Especially now, because there's a lot of stuff coming to light right now. Because of the energies are increasing, people's consciousness is raising.

You know, once upon a time, what we were doing was that even though there was stuff going and people who were involved were seeing it, they never really connected the dots about it. People didn't question things.

For example, the medical field would say, "We all have to go out and get vaccinated," and nobody questioned anything. "Oh, yeah. There's the authority figure and we have to go there, and we need to go do this, this and this."

And the same thing with all the structures going on with all the different layers and controls and so forth that we have played. Even to the point of stimulating war. And nobody questioned anything. Nobody was even saying, "Why are we doing this?" It was like, "OK, great. They are the evil ones and we need to protect ourselves." And it was funny because just yesterday as we were driving, we noticed the sign on the highway about the "heroes." Talking about the heroes, "Lest we forget," having to do with the veterans. And it was interesting how you can look at that and here we are in a state that, "We had to go out to war," and we were heroes if we are able to kill other people for "freedom" or whatever the illusion was. And at that point in time, we didn't question anything. We didn't question and we didn't see any of that stuff coming through.

But now with all the changes and awakening that's going on, what's happening is so much is coming to the surface because people are starting to say, "Hey, wait a minute. What's going on here?" Even people who are in the system themselves. As much as they may have been in the system they never questioned the system. Nobody ever asked why we're doing it, how we're doing it, or anything of that nature. But now people are looking into it and stepping out. They're no longer staying quiet and they're sharing.

And this is all in absolute perfection. Because, at the same time, with this comes awareness that, "Hey, we have been in this illusory world and we thought that this is the way life was."

So as this is all coming up, as all these structures and corporations and governmental and the different industries and institutions and so forth...we start to see all this coming up to the surface. And then we also start to understand where there was a modification, how there was a matrix created, and it was a reverse matrix where everything that you had started talking about, Antonia.

But as we start to realize all of this, what happens is, yes, this is great that we're realizing what's going on, but then part of the 3-D world aspect of it still has a response mechanism that, all of a sudden, we see ourselves as a victim, that we've been taken advantage of, and we've been lied to.

It's like, "They're the 'evil' ones. And here we are, we've been manipulated! We went through all this suffering and pain and all these intense situations in our lives...and here we are, we have been subjected to poisons in our foods (eg. GMO's), to the medical system, to what we have in our water, what has been put into the air with chemtrails," and so forth. And also, "We have been conned into believing that 'they' are our enemies, and creating 'false flags' in the sense of bringing stuff up to the whole idea that we needed to go out there and fight for our liberties, fight for our own survival...and by that we want peace...so we have to go kill people and need to fight wars to bring peace!"

So we start to realize that this is not real. This is not true. And we were just convinced to play that game. And as that comes up to the surface and as more and more things come up to the surface, as long as we are in the 3-D world, still playing out the program, what is the first thing that comes up? The first thing that comes up is anger...resentment...and now we see them as the villain. And why them? We played the game, played the role and created the illusion and we've supported the illusion. And what happens is we're still playing with the same energy that's been promoted.

Because really, when we look at...(if we're going to play with this we might as well put the cards on the table here)...As much as we've been in the illusion of it's about money, it's about power, it's about control, or this or that...these again are false. It was just the illusion. In actual fact, with all this chasing of power, of greed, wanting stuff and going into who does what and whatever else, we're playing with low vibrating energies. We're playing with darker, denser energies! Anger. Survival. Fear. Struggle. Sacrifice. Hatred was another other big one. And we have judgment. And we have competition.

All of that (emotional reaction) has been utilized as a tool to keep the vibration low.

And not only that...but also to emanate it...because we are all transmitters and receivers!

So here we are emanating these energies and frequencies! Which is great, in a sense; we played that part. But at the same time, we're feeding the system. We're feeding the beings that actually brought it on! Which was OK. It was all part and parcel of the beautiful perfection and divinity of what we decided to play with as a collective, as the grander beings that we are. OK, so we allowed that.

But the fact that now we're discovering all of this and it's coming to the surface...and then to put a little bit more icing on the cake, now we have all these channelings that now the end of the world is coming, and we have this anti-Christ and we have all these (possibly) “saviours” coming along. And there’s all these other things about if we make it or don’t make it, and if we don’t make it then we’re not going to shift from this 3-D world and we’ll be shipped off to someplace else, or become extinct, or that we get caught up here and say, “OK, all the ones that transcend can leave the planet and then all the rest will be left to live in that stew and rot in it,” ...or whatever else.

There’s so many different stories and perceptions and so forth, what happens is that we start to see that we start to create more fear, more anger...and when you look at the cycle, it’s the same thing. It’s the same thing!

As much as we were perpetuating that same darkness and densities before, now we are becoming aware we’re just turning the tables around and now, “They are the bad ones! Look at the corruption! Look at all the wrongness that has been done to us! And it’s created us to go through this suffering and so forth and all this struggle!”

And, of course, we’re making them the “evil” ones. And then, what are we doing? We’re just perpetuating the same energy!

Really, if we want to be part of transmuting this, we want to dissolve this pattern and no longer feed it. Because as long as you feed it...

It’s like anything. Just to get back to another example here. Somebody can get angry, but they really can’t maintain the anger unless there’s some instigator there or somebody getting angry with them and they can fight amongst each other. Because if somebody is angry and there’s somebody else who’s light or peace or whatever it is, they can’t maintain it. They burn off completely. Because even if they become furious about the fact that they are not getting any response from the other person, they can’t maintain it. They get frustrated and walk away because of the fact that they are not “fed.” Right? So dark need to be fed with dark. And that’s basically what’s occurred

So the scenarios, the situations that we’ve created, again, was for growth anyway. But it was created to feed a darkness, to maintain it.

And you can see also the media and everything else in the past has been perpetuating and instilling it. Today, to some degree, the media (being the news, the different modalities like movies and shows and so forth) have all perpetuated the same thing.

And now, of course, the new rage that has started a while ago is being afraid of being a victim on the planet, of the aliens of whatever you want to call it (laughs) because there are all types of invasions.

But in that respect, again, it's just to create more fear so that we respond to that.

So for us, as we look at things and as we discover all these things coming out and all the so-called (and let's just use this as a label) "scams," and stuff that we were lured into playing...again, when you see the perfection in it, they were just playing a role and we agreed to be part of that role...and really experience polarity and really experience duality and experience all the extremes that come with it.

But, when you really look at it, the only way that you can put an end to all of that is not to get angry at the system. Instead, see the Love. Use our ability of Love...Who We Truly Are.

Because as Source, as Who We Truly Are, our soul does not judge the experience.

Even as much as it may have had restricted abilities to experience itself, it is in a state of peace. It basically, in a sense (and I don't want to use the word "peace" because it isn't always totally in that state), but in that it sees the neutrality in it. But then when we see it as Source itself, as being of the Light that we are (because that's what we are), we see that we love our creation. We love everything that's there. So when we utilize love...

So if somebody is acting a certain way and we discover all these things are coming to the surface, instead of engaging in fear, engaging in resentment, anger, judgment, and so forth because of, "what 'they' did to us," we now start seeing the beauty of it with Love and see how it served us. How it brought us to where we are today and how we are much more experientially enriched by it. "Yes, of course, we've been playing with the darkness! Yes, we've been separated from light for a long period of time and for many incarnations while we've been coming onto this planet." But, the thing is, each and every time, as much as we have chosen to reincarnate here...even at the point where the soul...because the soul has gone through the thing where it got caught up in recycling itself, or basically reincarnating on this planet because it couldn't see anything outside of itself because of the intensities of the polarities and the fact that it was so limited that it basically had...It's like this, it felt like it didn't have another choice to reincarnate anywhere else because it felt like, "Well, I can't even get out of this thing, how am I going to go anywhere else?" ...in a sense, but not even with that level of consciousness.

So even when we figure that out, it's like, "Well, I even had my soul trapped!"
(laughs)

But, at that point, again, it's still just an experience. And, again, it's still just an opportunity that we've utilized to transcend.

So now, for us to move forward, for us to step forward with everything that's coming up to the surface...and there's going to be more and more coming to the surface...we're going to discover all the beautiful so-called (and let's label it with just a temporary name) "deceptions" and also looking at our reverse world that we've been living in. And when we start to discover all the things that have been utilized... for example, instead of utilizing technology to advance humanity to make humanity freer to give humanity an opportunity to live a life of freedom and ease, it has been used against us to create more struggle and survival, it's "Oh my God, look at what happened!"

So, as much as any of that stuff comes up, we need to look at everything with Love. We need to see the beauty of all that is there.

Because, remember, as Source, as Who We Truly Are, there is no good or bad, right or wrong, everything is an experience.

And every experience always expands us one way or another. It doesn't matter how dark and deep it may have been.

And even the fact that we've experienced pain...again, pain is still an experience, but the fact that we've experienced it has shown us something that we, in these physicalities, with this mind construct, with emotions, we can have experiences that other beings can't have...or haven't been able to have because of their limitation in their own physicality. They might be more advanced in other ways, but here we are.

So that's why the souls come here. But they don't come here because they want to come and suffer. They come here to play. They come here to experience intensity.

It's like going through any particular amusement park. Some people will choose to go to where they have the wildest rides. How many people have gone to amusement parks because they have the biggest, strongest and most powerful rollercoasters...the most intense? Every time that Canada's Wonderland comes out with a new ride that has an even more experienced thrill...even though when you actually get off it you will be barfing your lungs out, or whatever it is...even that intensity is like, "Yeah, yeah, yeah, I wanna go!" Well, here we are. (laughs) We are on the planet that gives us that particular experience.

So we signed up to come here. We are here. But the thing is, at the same time, now there's an upgrade. And the upgrade that's going on is to take out the densities and the darkness and the huge separation that we've had.

And it's not because it's been "wrong" and not because of the fact that this "evil" thing happened and so forth. We've gotten to the point where it's time to step up and create a different experience.

And our planet and also our brother/sister soul planets and the galaxy itself has played with polarity, has played with density and darkness and so forth. And a lot of planets have had darkness to the extreme that we've had. The only thing is, their way of life, their physicalities, the way their mind was programmed didn't experience it as intensely as we have. Because our bodies are much more sensorially-active and have greater capability to experience. And we also have the capability to actually get caught up in it more. And to get to the point of saying, "Well, I'm done with this!" takes a lot longer in our physical form because of the way it's designed. But a lot of other planets have already transcended the need for darkness. And our planet is still there, but we're transcending it too.

So the shift that is happening, as much as some people say, "Well now there is a consciousness coming in where things are brought back to righteousness and all that stuff that's going on," and they are talking about that in one way or another, "now we bringing law and order and we're bringing everything back, and we have to punish the souls who played whatever it was, and exile them," and all this other stuff...

As much as that is playing out, again, that is not coming from light. That is not coming from love. Because with love, you see the perfection in it and, like you were saying, Antonia, is that you can say, "No, we're not playing with this game anymore. We're done with it. We're done because we've had the experience, we've had the beautiful intense ups and downs, we've experienced how separation can create certain outcomes, certain experiences (not only physically but also the planet, energetically and otherwise), and now we're done with that. We're done!"

And the thing is, it's like anything...when we're done, we're done. We're not going to look back and turn around....because when you're looking at it with love, your know...you're not going to look back and say, "Well that was a horrible experience and I hate it," and so forth. Look at it this way, if you want to take it on a micro-scale, look at somebody's life...somebody's life walking down the street having a life and turning around and saying, "Oh my life has been miserable! I've been poorly treated as a child, I've been traumatized, I've been this, I've been that," or whatever else.

And then, the thing is, because we've gotten locked into the idea that there was something "wrong" and we hold on to it, and here we are 30 years later (just as an example) and we're still reflecting on something that happened to us 30 years ago as a child, maybe 10 years old, 5 years old, or something in that range, and here we are still living that and creating it.

So this is kind of a micro part of it, but on a larger scale we can do the same thing. But that's not how it serves. Because even on a small scale you can look at it and say, "Oh great. It was an experience. I had an opportunity. It was all agreed upon.

Great. I signed up for it. I was never a victim (because no one is a victim) and here I am. Now it's time to move forward. I'm in a different state of life now and I see it a different way." This is what we're doing as a collective. We're done with that part of it.

So when we see these things coming up to the surface, and if we have any anger coming up, switch it automatically to love. And when we do, we get the judgment out of the way and we see everything, "Ahh, great! Yes, these were the beautiful souls, these were the beautiful orchestrations that took place that gave us a beautiful polarity, gave us a beautiful darkness, dense, separation aspect of it. But look at where I am now! I am now able to not only transcend it, but I'm also able to see a grander aspect of me as the Creator Essence that I am, as the Light that I am, that I am actually illuminating brighter and brighter as I come from that dense darkness."

And then from separation to the Oneness is even more glorious!

Because when you are born in Oneness (which we were as these physicalities were put into place), the Oneness was amazing. But what made it more amazing? Separation! The fact that we've been separated. Where we have lost all connection to one another, all connection to the planet, the animal kingdom, to nature itself, vegetation, oceanic, insect world...everything...and we disconnected from that, disconnected with our own solar system and all our brothers and sisters...And now that we're coming back and reconnecting again, it's going to be even more magnificent because of the separation! We're now not only going to appreciate it, we're going to go way beyond that. We're basically going to be in complete "Ahh-ness" in all of this. "Fantastic!!! Look at how it feels!!!"

You can even look back sometimes and say, "Wow! Look at the separation that we had before, when we didn't see anything. But look at how it feels now that I can not only feel my own body, I can really connect with my body, I can connect with every blade of grass on the ground, I can connect with every leaf on the tree, I can connect with every animal that's on the planet, I can connect with even the ocean itself, all the fish in there, and I can connect with all life forms of all sorts! And I can feel and breathe the planet itself!" And then it becomes a beautiful exchange back and forth.

But this is done through love. This is bringing us back to that natural state. That's what we've experienced that's created us.

So what we're doing now is we're stepping into light again. We were in light, then we stepped into darkness. But we're stepping back into light. And as we step into light, of course we're going to see the darkness. We're going to see that we had considered "filth" because the light is coming on, and this is what's happening.

You know, when we say that we are “awakening,” what we really mean is we’re being “turned on.” And how we’re being “turned on” is we’re becoming more conscious. As we become more conscious we can see things.

And what we can see, until we can get rid of all the rest of the stuff that’s going on, we’re going to still have parts of judgment, so all of a sudden the light comes on, and then more of our light comes on, and then we can see more of the injustices and so forth...what we can call the filth, the dirt, whatever you want to call it...if you turned on a light in a room and you got to see something that you couldn’t see before and you say, “Oh, my God!” But eventually you say, “Oh, look, great, there’s lots of stuff here. Let’s work on cleaning it up. Let’s make this a different form. Now that I can see it, I can transform it! Because before, we couldn’t clean it up, we couldn’t make adjustments to it because we couldn’t see it!

You know, when we talk about people living a life, “How can they not see it? How can they not see that we’re being controlled?” “How can we not see that whatever we’re following, whatever we’re doing is not really natural? And not only is it not natural, it not even supporting us! It’s keeping us in a locked-up state! How can we not see it? How can we not see that everything’s in reverse? Instead of experiencing something of grandness, we’re experiencing limitation! How can we not see it?”

Of course, now that the light is coming on, we can see it. So now we see it and what do we do? We make a judgment. Instead, we could look at it and say, “Oh, great. Now I can see it, I can clean up. I can move everything out of the way. And now I can have a grand appreciation for it when the light comes back on. And it actually looks brighter!”

When you’ve been in the dark for a long time and even if there’s a small light, it looks a lot brighter because of the fact you were in darkness. So now, of course it’s going to look brighter. It’s going to look clearer.

But from there, that’s just a transition. That transition will bring you even further. And you’re now going to be much more experienced Creator and you’re going to create with even more light. You’re going to want to create with light! You won’t want to create with dark anymore. You’ve had enough of the dark experience so now you’re going to create with more light. “I want more light! Not only do I want more light, I’m going to create light!”

And that means you’re going to create a life opposite to what we’ve experienced up to this time! You’re going to create abundance. And when I’m talking abundance, I’m talking about abundance of life as Creator Essence itself, creating experience, activating all parts of us so that we can experience everything...much more than we ever had before! We will really get back alive and engaged in all of this.

And we're now not going to create a new limitations...not at all! We're not going to judge one another. We're not even going to want to compete with one another. We're going to play with one another! And we're going to play in a dimension where we've never played before. Because now you're more aware because you've had both sides. You've had imitations and now you have freedom again. Freedom to play!

You see, when you were playing in freedom, you didn't notice that you were free because it was natural and all that you knew. When you had limitations on freedom, when you couldn't see anything more than this confine. Now when you experience freedom, it's like really freedom, you're really experiencing it fully! Now you're just bouncing all over the place because you're having such an awesome time of being totally free!

And not only that, but also using the energy, the life force within you, the Love that you have within yourself will expand even more...because we've lived with the lack of love for the longest time. And when we uncage it, oh, my God! You're talking about something that is beyond mind comprehension at this point! And people have experienced that as they are coming to awaken.

And that Love...that Love is so perfect that there is nothing that you can see as "wrong". There is nothing that you can see as "stressful," "painful," "heavy." No! Everything is just beautiful! And then you see no separation. You see everything as you! And everything and everyone is supporting...as you support them...with no attachments...and it's all free and flowing.

And then you really flow. You flow through things. And that means that you now create experiences, you experience it, and then you just let it go. You're not bound by it, you're not confined by it, you're not defined by it, you're not attaching anything. Because then you go back into that flow state.

And that's what we're doing...we're going back into the flow state. But the only thing that's going to restrict us and keep us a little longer in that position...which...I'm not going to say it's going to be good or bad at this point in time...

However, if you really want to fly then we need to use the most powerful tool that we have...which is Love. Even though Oneness is very powerful, Love is what brings Oneness together.

That's why Love was the first thing that was introduced. And now Oneness is coming into play. But love is very powerful.

And this is how we transmute the 3-D World.

This means that every time we see things unfolding, when we see situations...because we're going to have certain circumstances play out on the planet. We're going to see people that are going to play out certain roles, we're going to see differences, we're also going to see (possibly, at this point in time) different events that are still going to unfold, and some of the truths that are coming out, and also the fact that we may have some environmental issues and so forth that may come up, and also any propaganda that may come up that may tend to create (or attempt to create) a new form of fear...by looking at everything and being in that state of Love, and seeing everything with Love itself, you're not going to get caught up in it. You're not going to get caught up in anything that's playing out around you. And you're going to see the perfection and beauty.

Even if it's a loved one going through some intense moments or some intense experiences or the fact that they decided to check out or the fact that they may have something that will limit them...with great Love you will see it.

And even with all this stuff that's coming up, instead of getting caught up in rebelling and getting angry or anything of that nature, we see the perfection in it and say, "OK, here we are. We're experiencing Love again." And we're using this Love to transmute everything.

We're here to transform our world. Because that's how we transform it. When we use the Love energy, there's no judgment, there's nothing to hold it because it's very fluid and it's very bright, it's very powerful, and it is the Creator itself. Because the Creator is Pure Love, Pure Potentiality, Pure Creator Essence. And we are bringing all those components in, we're bringing all those aspects.

And we are it! We have it all in us because we are it! It's not that we have to go out and search for it. It's not that we have to go in and do some modalities and so forth to activate it...nor do we need to "earn" it. It's us! We just have to unveil it!

So that's what we're going to do. We're going to unveil it. And we're going to bring that natural state of ours through. And that's how we transform.

So with Love, we create the opportunities for us to shift our consciousness to transmute all the old programs and belief systems that we've taken in.

Because, look at it this way...if we have judgment about ourselves, about anything that's playing out, we can go in, yes, we can clear it and absolutely we address it and so forth and take whatever lesson we need. But the most powerful tool to wrap it up afterwards...is with Love. Love the experience, love that you created it, you provided the perfect opportunity for you to learn from it, and actually become a grander aspect because of it.

But you see it with Love. Very, very powerful...once you put that component into play!

And then it doesn't matter if somebody is acting out a certain way towards you...if it's pushing buttons or whatever it is. You're going to address the button but, at the same time, you're not going to blame them, you're not going to condemn them, you're not going to turn around and say, "They are my problem!" No you're going to see it with the eyes of Love that there they are, these beautiful souls are pushing your buttons with great Love and they are only playing the role to serve you...with great Love...because that is our natural state...even though it may have taken on a form that may look like anger...but at the core essence there's Love in it. Because, the thing is, without even being conscious of it, they are with great Love serving you to step forward.

Because as you step forward, as you take that leap, as you transform, you now are able to do the same in return for them...in the sense where your Love, your energy will emanate and help them to dissolve the darkness.

What is the most powerful tool when you are with people? If you walk into a room of angry people and you walk with love, unconditional Love, and see everything with your Love eyes, you will transform that room. It doesn't matter if there's a thousand angry people in there, when you walk in with love those thousand people will start to shift. And that's what happens with that. That's how powerful it is.

Because what you emanate is so much Light, so much of Creator Essence that all the darkness in the world can not dim it! And it doesn't have any power towards it. And that's what we're emanating. That's what we are lighting within us.

The greatest transformation of the greatest magnitude will occur through that.

And that's why we're transmuting all of our 3-D world that we've internalized. Because a lot of our 3-D programs and so forth is just 3-D programming...our belief systems...you know, this is right, this is wrong, this is good, this is bad, the fact that we are in survival mode, fear...these are all 3-D programs...and our world reflects it. But that's the part that's changing.

The world changes as we change. And there are many more souls right now changing. And right now we are at the process...all of us...coming together and assisting one another as much as possible, so that we are all contributing to make this change more powerful than ever before. To allow this transmutation, this transformation, this unfoldment, this expansion, this complete "step" into a higher dimensional consciousness...should come about much more freely much more powerfully by doing what we're doing (coming together).

But we're doing it all with Love.

And when we Love our experience...no matter how we've judged it in the past...when we see it with Love you'll see how quickly it transforms Even something that we've hated...the moment we bring Love into it, when we Love the experience, we Love whatever role is being played...it transforms it. Because it cannot hold its form when you bring that part in.

And this is the reason that we need to look at that as the most powerful tool that we have.

You know, even the saying, "Love one another as you love yourself," when you love one another all the other stuff in the 3-D world fades...really...it fades...because it can't stay. Because the only reason that the 3-D aspect has been holding on (the dark and dense stuff) is because we have convinced ourselves over and over again...and we've bought into it, and that's OK...we didn't screw up or anything like that...we don't want to get into that because that's not the case...we played with it, we took it in as, "OK, this is our experience. We're going to fly with this. We're going to fly with this until we're done with it and then we're going to really radiate from that."

So as much as all of this has come into play...and we've gone through all these experiences and so forth...when we can see it exactly for what it is, with all that's unfolded up to now, with the beauty that we can see with everything that has taken form, that everything stems from that...from our creation of this point. And all that no longer in any way serves, we dust it off. And this is all done with utilizing Love.

Love brings everything together. Love is the purest form of creation.

When we are in the Source consciousness state... even when it is inside the game that we are playing in the dark 3-D (or whatever we want to call it)...we do not see anything "wrong" in it. As much as religion may have conned us or brought in this belief system that there's right and wrong, good and bad and the stories that we've played with, as Source there's no condemnation, there's no judgment. As Source we're playing. OK, we played that aspect of it. But that's pure unconditional Love...which is our natural state.

Right now we're going through "purge and clear." And especially with the energies where it has gone now and the fact that we're so close to the "tipping point" to step into the new cycle, as it's getting closer, it's digging deeper. And it's going to the point where it's digging up anything possible. And it can feel very powerfully challenging.

But if we bring the tool of Love into it...no matter what we're going through...even with pain of a loved one...you'll see how it transmutes. It's so much easier to purge it and clear it. So much easier to release it. Because any judgment we may have had about anything that we hold onto, once we hold the Love towards it, the judgment dissolves. So it's just a breeze to let it go!

And when you can see everything that's played out and interacted with one another with the gift of Love for our own personal growth and expansion, whatever we've deemed and defined as being something horrible, painful or otherwise...it dissolves. So easily! And you get the lesson out of it very quickly. It's so much easier that way. It's not that difficult.

And now people are ready for it. And that's why we are bringing this component in.

And is not Love...you know, we've got to Love and "deny." We've got to see the program, we emanate Love towards the program and say, "OK, great. That was a great experience for what it was. OK, with great Love I release it. Now I'm done with this."

Have you ever noticed trying to clear something that you still have judgment for? How about letting go of a pattern that you "hate"? Now that's a good one to play with! I'm sure many of you have experienced it. "I want to let it go because I hate it...I can't stand it any more!" It's not that easy when you use hatred because that's the same energy that fuels it.

But you bring Love into it...Love that experience, have no judgment about the experience, see the beauty of the experience...and then, "OK, I'm done with that experience because I don't need it any longer. I've played with it and it's so much easier to let go. It practically dissolves on its own"!

I've seen so many people when we are doing clearings and stuff like that, once we can see the consciousness behind it, how it served, and how we just bring Love to it...POOF...it's gone! And it's like, "Whoa...this is great! It's that easy?"

Yes, it's that easy. Because you brought something very powerful to it.
